Fugitives want to turn themselves in

Deep split among Weather Underground leaders

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Leaders of the radical Weather Underground, including some facing federal charges, have begun to implement a plan to give themselves up, according to statements attributed to dissident members of the clandestine group.

The fugitive activists are sought in connection with numerous acts of political sabotage, including the 1971 bombing of the U.S. Capitol. They have successfully eluded the FBI for seven years.

Dissident members of the Weather Underground, including Bernardine Dohrn, probably the best known of the fugitives, complain that the group's leadership plans to abandon violence and to concentrate on above-ground political work.

The dissidents' criticisms reveal a deep division within the organization, according to Takeover, an alternative newspaper here which will publish the statements this week. The statements, which are quietly circulating among leftists, are unusual because bickering within the supersecret group has rarely been allowed to leak out.

Texts of one of the statements and a transcript of a tape-recorded message by Miss Dohrn were obtained by The Associated Press from Takeover.

Miss Dohrn's message makes it clear that she has split from the leadership committee. She refers to the Weather Underground at one point as "the old organization," indicating the group may have broken up over the plan to "surface."

Law enforcement officials in Washington and in California, where police believe leaders of the Underground may be living, said Saturday they are aware of the split within the organization, but know nothing of plans by the leaders to give themselves up.

It was impossible to authenticate the dissidents' statements through law enforcement officials.

However, Takeover said its sources close to the Underground have confirmed the authenticity of the statements, including Miss Dohrn's message that, "I cannot say this plan (for the leaders to turn themselves in) has been stopped."

The Weather Underground is thought to number several hundred white political activists, who emerged from the antiwar movement in 1970 to create a secret group to wage "armed struggle" against government policies.

The FBI credits the group with a

Pomona crash: 1 dead 8 hurt

Victims pried from wreck

A Pomona woman was killed and eight other persons injured in a two-car collision at Ninth Street and Towne Avenue Saturday night.

Police said Cleo Milligan, a woman in her 60's, was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital after the 9:20 p.m. accident.

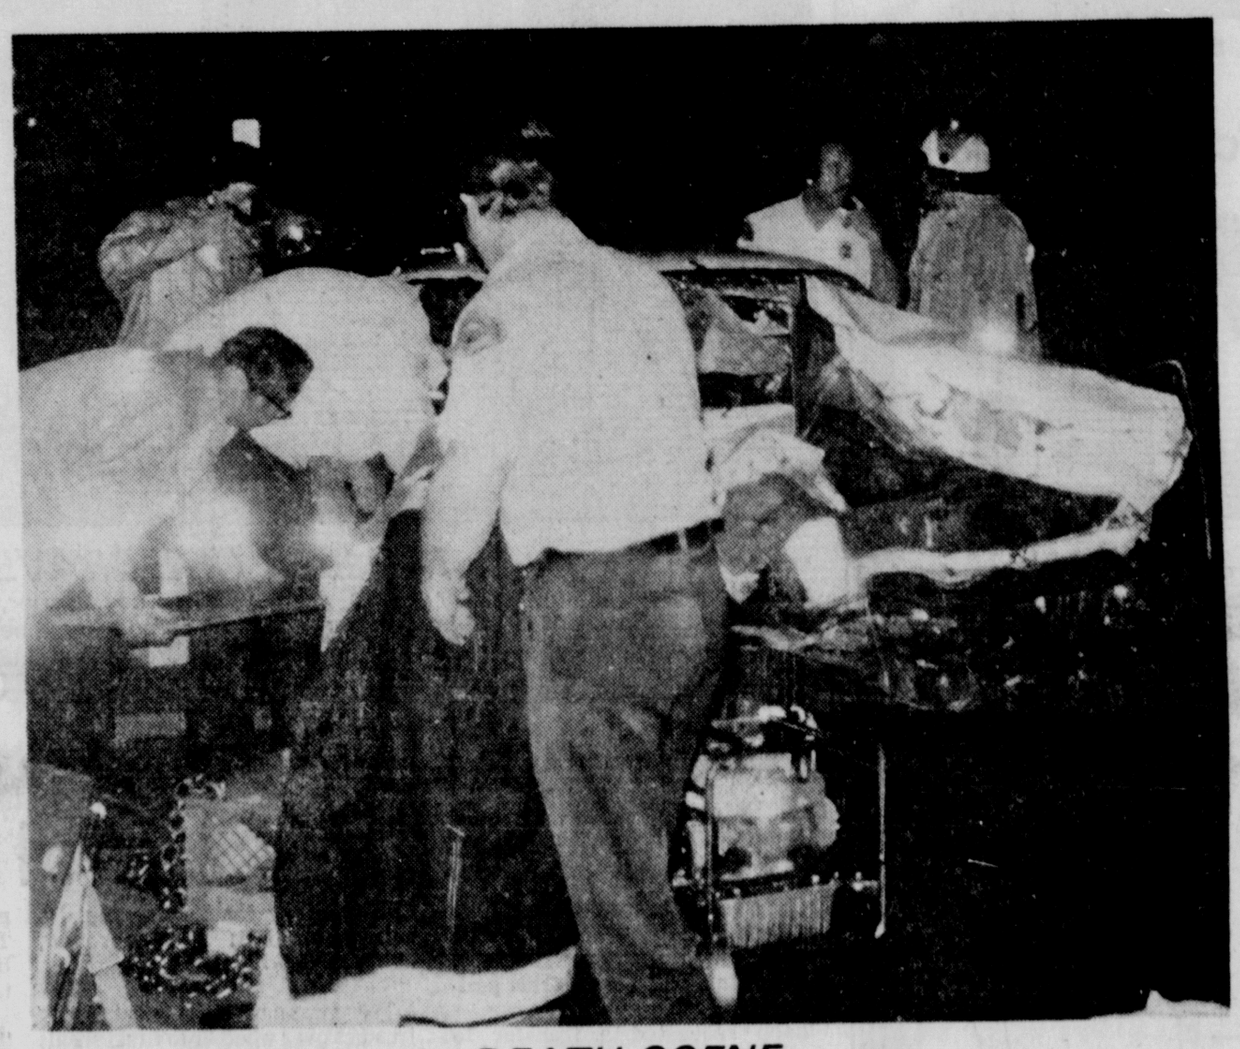
Officers indicated one car was traveling at a high rate of speed, westbound on Ninth Street in Pomona. The auto ran a stop sign, police added, and slammed into a second car which was northbound on Towne.

The dead woman was a passenger in the northbound auto.

Three persons were injured in the westbound car, but names of the victims were not immediately available. Five more were hurt in the northbound car.

Of those injured in the westbound car, one lost his eyesight and another was unconscious, but police had no other details available late Saturday evening.

Pomona firemen responded in force to the accident scene and had to pry several victims loose from the twisted wreckage of both cars.



DEATH SCENE

Twisted wreckage of one of two cars involved in a collision Saturday night at Towne Avenue and Ninth Street in Pomona is shown in this picture. Police and firemen worked to pull the injured from the wreckage. One woman died and eight other persons were hurt.

2 more arrests in bomb killing of Arizona reporter

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A man accused of killing newsman Don Bolles pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of second-degree murder on Saturday, three hours after two other men were arrested and charged with murder and conspiracy in the case.

In Tucson, John Harvey Adamson admitted to Pima County Superior Court Judge Ben Birdsall that he placed a bomb under Bolles' car in a midtown Phoenix hotel parking lot last June 2.

The bomb exploded as Bolles drove from the hotel, and the newsman died in a Phoenix hospital 11 days later.

Adamson was tried in Phoenix, but a mistrial was declared because of massive publicity surrounding the case.

A new trial was begun in Tucson, and jury selection was under way when Adamson pleaded guilty to the reduced charge, apparently in exchange for information which led to the arrest of contractor and land developer Max Dunlap and plumber James Robison.

Police Detective Jon Sellers said in an affidavit filed in Superior Court that Phoenix area liquor dealer Kemper Marley asked Dunlap to pay Adamson and Robison to kill Bolles and two other persons — Arizona Atty. Gen. Bruce Babbitt and Al Lisanetz, who circulated statements and letters to Arizona legislators during the past five years about alleged wrongdoings by Marley.

Adamson said he would be paid $50,000 for the three killings, according to Sellers' affidavit.

No charges were lodged against Marley, who was not available for comment on the affidavit. Authorities refused to comment on Marley's alleged involvement in the case or to say whether any charges were planned.

In Tucson, Adamson told the court: "On the day of June 2, 1976, in the parking lot of the Clarendon Hotel, I placed a bomb containing dynamite under the vehicle of Don Bolles to be detonated at a later time with the express purpose of killing him."

Asked if he had anything to do with Bolles' arrival at the hotel, Adamson replied: "I did, sir."

Adamson reportedly called Bolles, who was working on articles exposing fraudulent land deals, and set up a meeting at the hotel on the pretext of providing information for the newsman's stories. Bolles was driving away in his bombrigged car after Adamson failed to show up at the hotel.

Adamson's three court-appointed attorneys declined comment on Saturday, except to say that they were pleased with the plea bargaining agreement.

Under the agreement, Adamson agreed to testify against all other persons arrested in connection with Bolles' death.

Although the agreement calls for Adamson to be sentenced to 48 to 49 years in prison — a minimum of 20 years, two months to be served if Adamson is given off for good behavior and other conditions — the judge refused to accept that portion of the agreement. He said he wanted to review the matter at a sentencing hearing on Wednesday.

Byrd sees difficulty for Sorenson nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Saturday there could be "considerable difficulty" gaining Senate approval for President-elect Carter's selection of Theodore Sorensen to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

Byrd told reporters he expected the Senate to vote on confirmation of Carter cabinet choices either within hours of the time he becomes president next Thursday or on Friday.

Hearings on Sorensen a former top White House aide to John F. Kennedy and now a New York lawyer, are scheduled to begin on Monday before the Senate Intelligence Committee.

Asked if he was willing to say that "as of now" he would vote to confirm Sorensen, Byrd replied, "No, I wouldn't be willing to say that."

Townfolks won't forgive Claudine easily

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Singer Claudine Longet, who faces up to two years in prison for shooting her lover, plans to remain in this ski village where she stood trial, her attorney said Saturday.

"This is her home, and she plans to remain here," said Charles Weedman.

One of her 12 jurors, who knew slain ski star Vladimir "Spider" Sabich, said the former showgirl would have to work hard to win acceptance in the community where Sabich was a hero.

"She has three kids," said Thomas Wickes. "She has a tough four or five years ahead of her, re-proving herself to this community should she decide to stay.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Wickes, "she's welcome."

Townfolks were less forgiving. "They ought to lock her up," said restaurant manager Kathi Szabo. "I don't think anyone has the right to take anyone's life."

Weedman said Miss Longet, who was convicted of negligent homicide on Friday, was spending the weekend with her ex-husband, singer Andy Williams, who has consoled her throughout the ordeal of her trial.

"He's been so supportive," said Weedman. "He doesn't expect anything for it. He's just there to help."

He said Williams plans to return to California soon, but will come to Aspen for Miss Longet's sentencing. Weedman said he would seek to delay the Jan. 31 sentencing date to allow more time for preparation.

The 35-year-old Miss Longet faces interviews with probation officers who will advise District Judge George Lohr on the sentence. She could receive a maximum of two years in prison and $5,000 fine.

Weedman said Miss Longet, who was blank-faced at the verdict Friday, never broke down.

"It's such a relief to have it over with," he said. "As unhappy as one could be over the decision in a criminal trial, it's always a relief to know it's over."

He said he hoped Miss Longet, a first offender, would not be sent to prison. At least one of her jurors expressed the same hope.

Wickes, 29, the owner of a village service station, said he doesn't envy the judge the task of sentencing Miss Longet.

"He's got a very difficult chore," said Wickes, "because the eyes of the world are on him. He's got to rule on what she did and not who she is."

Wickes, who did business with both Miss Longet and Sabich, said his personal associations had no effect on his verdict.

"At the beginning, we were split into three groups," he said, "guilty, not guilty and unsure. I was one of those who felt she was innocent when we went into deliberations."

Most jurors indicated that had they not had the option of the lesser charge, they might have acquitted Miss Longet.

They said the prosecution did not prove her guilty of reckless manslaughter, but the judge's definition of "criminally negligent homicide" seemed to fit the situation.

Of her plans to stay in this tiny resort town, one person said, "I imagine if she wants to stay, that would be fine."

But other residents were less pleased at the prospect.

"Aren't they burning people at the stake anymore?" snapped one bar patron.

At a local pharmacy, clerks made fun of Miss Longet, imitating her French accent and said they hoped she would spend time behind bars.

Will Aspen ever forgive her?

"You have to understand," said a motel owner, "that this is ski country, and Spider Sabich was a ski champion, a hero.

"People are just reacting in a very primitive way to his death."

Officer cleared in shooting of youth

A Pomona police officer has been found innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the Christmas Eve shooting of a youth on the San Bernardino Freeway.

Officer Dave Ockey was cleared in the incident by a Pomona police board of inquiry.

Ockey wounded John A. Richardson, Jr., after officers had pulled over a car they said was stolen. The auto containing four youths had been pursued onto the freeway after a chase through west Pomona, near Ganesha High School.

Richardson was shot in the left leg after officers stopped the car on the freeway, one-half mile west of Ganesha Boulevard, about 10:30 p.m. He was later treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and transferred to County-USC Medical Center.

Richardson and three other youths in the car were arrested for assault with a deadly weapon on a police officer and grand theft auto.

The suspects' car earlier had rammed a police unit during the chase through city streets.

Police officials have said Ockey's gun accidently discharged after being struck by Robert Valentine, driver of the suspects' car. There had been a scuffle after officers stopped the car.

The discharged bullet struck Richardson, who was sitting in the front seat of the car.

Some witnesses have been quoted, however, as saying a police officer stopped the car and began breaking windows of the auto. They said an officer stuck a revolver through a rear window and fired a shot, hitting one of the youths.

Ockey, however, was cleared of any wrongdoing and police consider the case closed.

Gum to give Russians taste of Western decadence

MOSCOW (AP) — Chewing gum, that old symbol of Western decadence, has at last gone into production in the Soviet Union.

The first Soviet-made gum appeared in stores in Armenia and Estonia at the start of the year, and another gum factory will open in Moscow in 1978, the newspaper Moskovsky Komsomolets said Saturday.

This year's production will be just two tons, but the newspaper said technicians are hard at work building more gummaking machines.

The small initial production of Soviet gum, sold in brightly colored packets, has had no effect yet on the clusters of Russian boys who follow Westerners about, as they have for decades, asking for chewing gum.

The boys still gather near hotels and tourist sites begging for gum or offering to trade traditional Russian lapel pins for it.

The chewing of "zhevatelnaya ryezinka" — literally chewing-rubber — has long been considered an "uncultured" American vice. Customs inspectors have been known to confiscate it, and newspapers have lectured their readers about the bad habit.

Daoud willing to testify before West German court

PARIS (AP) — Palestinian leader Abu Daoud said Saturday he is willing to testify before a West German court on his innocence in the Munich Olympics massacre. But he said his safety must be guaranteed and arrangements must be made through the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"I would go immediately. I would take the first plane," Daoud told The Associated Press by telephone from Al Fatah headquarters in Algiers.

There was no immediate reaction from West Germany or Israel, both of which had asked France to hold Daoud for possible extradition after he was arrested in Paris more than a week ago. A French court, after deliberating for 20 minutes, rejected those countries' requests and freed Daoud last Tuesday. He was flown immediately to Algiers.

German police say they have proof Daoud was at the hotel used by Palestinian raiders just before they launched the 1972 attack in which 11 Israeli Olympics athletes were killed. They said the warrant that led to Daoud's arrest in Paris was based on this evidence.

"I am innocent and I think the charges against me are a fabrication invented by the Israelis and the Zionists," Daoud said.

"I want to go to Germany to show the world I am innocent," he said. "But first the German government must promise me that I will receive protection." Daoud said Friday he considered himself marked for assassination.

He also said Saturday that West Germany must make the arrangements for his return and trial through the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO). But the PLO has no official representative in Bonn, and it appeared unlikely the West German government would make arrangements through the group, an act that might be construed as tacit recognition of the PLO.

Jews urging travel ban, boycott of French goods in Daoud protest

NEW YORK (AP) - A conference of major Jewish groups said on Saturday that "thousands of members" of its constituent agencies are calling for a ban on travel to France and a boycott of French products to protest the release of suspected Arab plotter Abu Daoud.

Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, made the comment in a statement released here after a meeting with the French ambassador to the United States, Jacques Kosciusko-Morizet, in Washington.

"We told the ambassador that in our judgment his government's capitulation represents a shameful chapter in French history," Schindler said in a statement calling the release of Daoud an "ignoble act."

"The great Republic of France, which gave the world the traditions of liberty, equality and fraternity, has surrendered these noble ideas out of cowardice, cynicism and expediency."

Daoud, suspected of planning the Munich Olympics massacre of 11 Israeli athletes, was released last Tuesday by a French court on procedural grounds.

Schindler said his organization rejected the "legalisms" advanced by French authorities and called France's action a "breach of the extradition treaty with Israel and of its commitment to act with vigor against the terrorist movements."

Chino board goes nationwide in search for school chief

Chino school board members have decided to launch a nationwide search for a successor to Supt. Royce Lapp, who resigned his position on Nov. 23.

Lapp requested a transfer to another certificated position when his contract expires June 30.

Trustees voted this week to advertise nationwide for a new superintendent, and to hire a consultant, Hilton Bell, to assist in the efforts. Bell is a former superintendent of the Garden Grove and Visalia school districts, and served on the faculty at Chapman College.

Board President Al McCombs, who suggested Bell as a consultant, indicated the cost would be around $150 to $200 a day for his services. No salary for Bell was approved, however.

There was a brief argument among trustees over whether to first consult the California School Board Association (CSBA) on the selection process. But trustee Augustine Tapia, who made that suggestion, finally gave in to hiring the consultant.

Trustees indicated they wanted to "get moving" on the selection, so a new superintendent can be on the job before Lapp leaves in June.

Job hunting is topic of course

The Re-Employment Action Committee (REAC) for Greater San Gabriel and Pomona Velleys will offer a class called "How to Get a Job" starting Monday at 3:30 p.m. at Garey High School in Pomona.

The course will meet two hours for two consecutive weeks.

Employment applications and personal appearance will be discussed Monday. Next week resume writing techniques and career opportunities as recreation assistants, teachers' aides and architectural assistants will be discussed.

wide array of criminal actions, including the Capitol explosion, the 1974 blast at Gulf Oil headquarters in Pittsburgh and the 1970 prison escape of former drug guru Timothy Leary. At one time, several of the leaders of the group were on the FBI "Ten Most Wanted" list.

It was not known whether members of the leadership committee, now minus Miss Dohrn, still plan to give themselves up.

Others in the leadership group are Jeff Jones and William Ayres and two unidentified persons going under the names of Joe Reed and Celia Sojourn.

Ayres faces no federal warrants, but Jones is wanted on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Sources said the dissidents' statements were being circulated outside the Underground probably as an effort to stop the "surfacing" operation.

The question of using political violence apparently lies at the center of the group's internal controversy.

In a statement dated Nov. 20, 1976, which was reportedly circulated at secret meetings in California and New York, the dissidents charged the leadership committee had "abandoned their revolutionary principles and directions" and had eliminated "the political basis of many members' original commitments — support for black liberation, Vietnam and armed struggle."

The leadership group, known as the Weather Underground Central Committee, has not responded to the November statement, sources said.

The dissidents call themselves the "Revolutionary Committee." It was impossible to learn who the dissidents are or how many members of the Underground they represent.

According to the dissidents' statements, Jeff Jones in 1975 hatched a plan to begin surfacing the organization. They said Jones called the strategy "inversion," to describe the process of emerging from fugitive life.

The theory behind the strategy was apparently Jones' belief, adopted by the leadership committee, that the group would be better able to enlist other radicals if they were organized into an above-ground group.

"The original plan to surface two members of the Central Committee to lead the inversion was rejected that summer (1975)," said the dissidents. "It was thought that two people would be ineffective so the concept was broadened, probably to involve the entire five-person leadership group and possibly the entire group.

"From the fall of 1975, this plan was put into practice without the knowledge of most members," said the dissidents' statements. "Lawyers were organized to prepare legal defense. The film "Underground" (released last year) was planned as both a means to sanitize the image of the organization and to raise money for legal defense: new organizational bases were set up from which to surface."

The dissidents also said underground leaders "made overtures" to Democratic party officials in an effort to trade information about police surveillance under Republican administrations in exchange for possible leniency on criminal charges.

Many members of the group are under indictment on various charges, but others — including Ayres — face no outstanding warrants.

Even persons such as Ayres would be subject to grand jury scrutiny if they surfaced as federal and local prosecutors attempted to close their books on unsolved political violence.

The Underground, taking its original Weatherman name from a Bob Dylan song, is a successor to the Students for a Democratic Society, a group that helped mobilize opposition to the Vietnam war in the late 1960s.

The most militant members of SDS created Weatherman in 1970, assuming new identities and vanishing to pursue their planned clandestine strategy, "dedicated to the violent overthrow of established power in the United States," as described by a U.S. Senate committee.

Younger will be candidate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger says he definitely plans to seek the Republican nomination for governor next year, the Sacramento Bee said Saturday.

Previously, Younger had said only that he probably would run.

In an interview with the Bee's political editor, Martin Smith, Younger said he won't make his formal announcement until next December or January, but that will be only a formality.

"What I'm postponing is not the decision but the start of a formal campaign," the 58-year-old Younger told the Bee.

"The only thing that could prevent my running for governor would probably be some sort of a personal tragedy or so forth, which I hope doesn't occur."

Big political battles of 1977

Brown 'stepping on toes,' but has seized initiative

AP news analysis

By DOUG WILLIS
AP Political Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. is stepping on some toes this year with his stands on the death penalty, school finance and homeowner-renter tax relief.

But Brown, who has a reputation as a shrewd politician, has seized the initiative. California's big political battles of 1977 will be fought largely on his terms.

In the first two weeks of 1977 Brown has:

—Declared he would veto any death penalty bill passed by the legislature, and then proposed spending $94 million to build more state prisons.

—Proposed a five-year $3.3 billion school finance plan which would provide what he called "substantial compliance," although not full compliance, with the state Supreme Court's order to equalize spending between rich and poor school districts.

—Offered a tax relief plan that would provide rebates of up to $700 each for about half of California's homeowners, and rebates of up to $288 for an estimated 416,000 elderly renters.

Brown probably won't get his way on all of those points, but the 38-year-old Democrat has tried to minimize the damage those issues could inflict on his political career. By making his positions known early, he is forcing his opponents to counter with what could be equally controversial alternatives.

However, there are clouds on Brown's political horizon:

—His personal popularity, although still high, has slipped from the point a year ago when it was the highest ever recorded by a California governor in 30 years of polling. The 9-1 ratio of approval reported a year ago by pollster Mervin Field is now 4-1, damaged perhaps slightly by his endorsement of the Cesar Chavez farm labor initiative.

—The death penalty is a no-win issue, and the best Brown can hope for is to minimize his losses. He may face a death penalty initiative on the ballot at the same time he is running for re-election, either in June or November of 1978.

Unemployment is still 9.1 per cent, with 840,000 jobless in the state.

—The state Health Department is a disaster area, with unexplained deaths in the mental hospitals, allegations of mismanagement in prepaid health plans and rapidly rising costs in Medi-Cal.

—Brown's record in transportation is spotty. The diamond lane experiment in Los Angeles, for which Brown now denies responsibility, was a flop. The initial hard line against most new freeway construction has been softened significantly in the face of public disapproval.

Brown has successfully disassociated himself from most of those problems. So far, his most controversial position has been on the death penalty.

Former Gov. Ronald Reagan urged voters to send a flood of letters and telegrams to Brown and their legislators, letting them know that public support of the death penalty hasn't changed since 1972, when California voted 2-1 for the measure.

And three potential Republican candidates for governor in 1978 — San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis and Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger — all criticized Brown.

The death penalty announcement was described by some as a mistake. But it was probably Brown's best political option, too.

His opposition to the death penalty, dating back at least to 1960, is well known. Even if he wanted to, Brown, who described his decision as "a matter of conscience," could hardly afford to switch sides now.

And he won praise even from some opponents by stating his views early.

"Brown dug himself a political hole," said Assembly Republican spokesman Eugene Chappie of Roseville. "But I have to give him credit. He came out front. The guy has a lot of guts."

'Assembly member'

Male image rift

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A male assemblyman has complained that one of his female colleagues is "trying to take the masculinity out of my title."

And that's exactly what Assemblywoman Maxine Waters wants to do.

A resolution she introduced would give all legislators the title "Assembly Member" on bills.

Assemblyman William Dannemeyer told Ms. Waters, who prefers that designation: "I can see how you, as a lady, don't want to be referred to as an assemblyman. Now you seek to take the masculinity out of my title."

Ms. Waters, one of five women in the 80-member Assembly, didn't quite succeed.

The Assembly voted 48-27 Thursday for her resolution. But its final passage was blocked by a parliamentary maneuver, so it will have to be reconsidered next week.

Hazardous crossing stirs parent fears in Ontario

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

"Every adult should be concerned about every child, whether that child is his or not."

That's the opinion of George Willmore, principal of Cypress School, who will join an anticipated 200 other parents, teachers and residents in appealing to the City Council Tuesday to place a crossing guard at a troublesome intersection near the southwest Ontario school.

The group will attempt to persuade the Ontario council to set aside a recommendation for denial from City Engineer Ed James.

Pamela and Douglas Gransbury, chairmen of the crossing guard committee for the school, will present a petition with more than 600 signatures.

Willmore, who has two children of his own, requested a hearing before the Ontario Safety Committee's November 1975 session to propose crossing guards at the intersections of Mountain and Francis avenues, Cypress and Francis avenues and San Antonio and Francis avenues.

The elementary school, with approximately 620 students, is located at the intersection of Cypress and Francis avenues immediately east of Ontario High School.

The proximity of the high school has created problems for the younger students who must contend with young adults who race and speed their cars.

Following investigation of the traffic situation in the area, the city staff pointed out to the safety committee that there were only about 383 cars passing the intersections per hour, short of the 500 minimum used as criteria for recommending a crossing guard.

Willmore, Mr. and Mrs. Gransbury, parent George Hesse and others persuaded the committee to unanimously recommend that a crossing guard be placed at the Francis and Cypress avenues intersection. They charged that although technically the traffic volume failed to meet the minimum, there was a safety problem in the area.

That recommendation was reviewed by James and the Ontario Police Department for a recommendation to City Council.

In suggesting denial of the request, James said in a memo to council that "this intersection has a four-way stop and the minimum warrants for a crossing guard require that at least 20 elementary school children cross the street per hour, and that at least 500 vehicles per hour pass through the crosswalk."

Willmore is concerned more with the safety of the children currently attending the school and favors dealing with the problem before a tragedy occurs.

The school is partially treating the problem with a pedestrian and bicycle program for all students. But, Willmore added: "We're trying to point out to the City Council that they're still children and children act impulsively. At some point that child is going to leap before he looks. They need adult supervision in crossing the street. There are too many distractions and they will dart into the traffic."

Gransbury pointed out that "There are not enough policemen to be down there everyday. There are other emergencies that require police attention. But a crossing guard would be there everyday to make sure the kids get safely across."

Slated Monday night

Center for 'seniors' studied in La Verne

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The feasibility of establishing a residential center for senior citizens will be discussed Monday night by the La Verne City Council.

The discussion is the outgrowth of a request by Councilman Melvin Belcher to see what can be done to provide low cost rental housing for the city's older residents, something that is not available right now in the valley.

Consideration of such housing is part of an otherwise light council meeting that starts at 7:30.

City Manager George Caswell says several developers already have approached him seeking guidelines for the construction of low cost apartment units for those over 60.

He said the developers want to build complexes designed strictly for older people. He said that with the proper guidelines, the units could qualify for federal rent subsidies.

Monday night's discussion is expected to center not only around the need, but also on proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance so that the guidelines can be set.

Caswell said guidelines for senior citizen housing have some provisions that don't apply to other residential construction.

Since many older persons do not drive, less parking is required around their homes. Since some find it difficult to climb steps, buildings with more than one story must have elevators. And rails in bathrooms and other living areas are required.

The units can be smaller than other types of dwelling with perhaps 550 square feet of floor space for a single bedroom apartment. But the apartment complex of today must have green space, recreation areas and a means of staying in contact with other members of the community in case of emergencies, Caswell said.

According to the city manager, at least 100 such units are needed right now, and the need may increase as the city continues its growth.

He said there was a strong possibility that the residential center might become a part of the city's community redevelopment plan for the downtown area.

The council already has approved the concept of a redevelopment plan for downtown, but the merchants association of the La Verne Chamber of Commerce has not yet come up with a set of boundaries for the project.

Caswell said the residential center as proposed would differ from mobile homes or from Hillcrest Homes. In both cases residents have vested interests in their dwellings. The new housing proposal would be strictly a rental arrangement with the federal government ideally paying a part of the cost of rentals to senior citizens.

Stanley seeks seat on Pomona council

Pomona resident John A. Stanley has announced his intentions to run for the City Council seat being vacated by Councilman Charles Bader.

Stanley, pension and profit sharing manager for Aetna Life Insurance Co. in Los Angeles, is the second candidate to announce, but the first, Pomona School Board member C. Allen Braswell, has already withdrawn.

Actual filing period for the seat does not open until Thursday and continues through Feb. 10. The seat is being vacated by Bader, a candidate for mayor, effective the day after the April 19 municipal election.

"In the recent year we have heard a great deal about the burgeoning federal bureaucracy and the extent to which it intervenes in our daily affairs. It is my personal view that the situation is to a great extent brought about by inactivity at the local government level," said Stanley.

Stanley said he would seek to involve the private sector more fully in local government because it "has a far superior record in solving human problems."

The campaign will be Stanley's first try for public office.

He said the City Council should be more independent in setting policy, without relying too heavily on staff recommendations.

Stanley, 42, and his wife, Marie Theresa, reside at 495 E. Jefferson Ave. They have five children ranging in age from 4 to 10.

A native of Ireland, Stanley became a naturalized citizen in 1961. He is an Air Force veteran, a member of St. Madeleine's Catholic Church in Pomona, and has been active in anti-abortion organizations in the valley.

Claremont city employes feted

Nine Claremont city employes who have compiled a total of 116 years of service were honored recently by the Claremont City Council.

Those receiving service pins were Joe Martinez, sanitation foreman, 18 years; Louis Quiroz, maintenance craftsman, 18 years; Danny Compos, refuse truck driver, 12 years; Pete Garciduenas, refuse truck driver, 12 years; Sherman Leach, equipment mechanic, 12 years; Ed Little, equipment mechanic, 12 years; Joe Laurian, refuse truck driver, 11 years; Hershel Townsend, refuse crewman, 11 years; and Louis Herrera, street sweeper operator, 10 years.

Mayor Bertye Smith complimented the men for their invaluable service to the city.

Parents set meeting on gang curbs

A meeting of parents interested in curbing youth gang problems in the southwest Pomona area will be held Tuesday night at the Pomona Athletic League.

"We're inviting everyone who is interested in this problem, especially parents of gang members, to get involved," said Jose Morales, spokesman for a group of parents.

About 20 persons, said Morales, have already been meeting each week to lay the groundwork for a larger parents' organization to deal with gang and juvenile problems — especially between the Sharkie Park and Cherrieville areas of Pomona.

"We would like to see as many parents as possible get involved in planning projects to help stop these acts fo senseless violence," he said.

Some parents began meeting following a fight between gang members during a Thanksgiving Day football game.

The weekly meetings have produced ideas for a youth conference, a parents conference and a summer youth program, said Morales.

A youth conference, he said, would have the goal of helping youths understand the effects violence has on the community, their families and themselves.

"At a parents' conference we would like to have workshops where professionals can show parents alternatives in dealing with problems in the home," he said.

And a summer youth program would be aimed at providing youths with recreational and educational activities instead of being on the streets all day.

Tuesday's meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at 639 W. Second St.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

San Dimas citizens draw honors for service to community youth

The San Dimas City Council recognized two citizens and a women's group for outstanding service to the youth of the community in an awards ceremony held recently.

Sgt. Mary Ellen Kintzel of the San Dimas Sheriff's Station, Annette "Pat" Huestis, a Bonita school district nurse, and the La Verne-San Dimas Junior Woman's Club were lauded for their work.

Sgt. Kintzel was the winner of the professional category award for her work in connection with the Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Program which attempts to find community based agencies to help juvenile lawbreakers stay out of the criminal justice system.

She helps place numerous minor offenders with such agencies as Open Door, the Mexican American Urban Coalition — Program for Information and Community Services (PICS) as well as several family and drug-abuse counseling centers.

"Mary Ellen Kintzel has done a lot for this community," said San Dimas Mayor Marvin Ersher as he made the award.

Annette Huestis was honored in the volunteer category for her many years of active service to San Dimas youth.

Mayor Ersher listed numerous contributions Mrs. Huestis had made, including arranging of free medical service for needy youth, a campership program and providing of eyeglasses donated by the Lions Club for students.

The La Verne-San Dimas Junior Woman's Club was honored in the group category for the many programs and services it has provided the community's youth.

The club sponsors many fund-raising and service events during the year and offers parents a baby-sitting clinic among those services.

Tom Watterson, chairman of the Juvenile Justice Commision that came up with the distinguished service award project, expressed pleasure at the success of the ceremony and described the first year winners as, "very deserving people."

Resorts or jail?

It costs more to keep a kid in jail than to send him to a swanky college or plush resort, according to figures released today by Los Angeles County Auditor Mark H. Bloodgood.

According to the breakdown, the cost per inmate at the Los Angeles County Juvenile Hall was $58.97 a day last year, or more than $21,500 a year.

A deputy estimated that room, board and tuition at some of the most expensive colleges in the nation was less than $20,000 a year and that for the same amount or less the county could send its wards out of town to the best of dude ranches to work out their extra energies and frustrations.

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Some fires have the doggondest causes.

Firefighters were called recently to a residence when someone smelled smoke.

The occupants of the apartment, Kathy and Vicky Vchulek, were not home, but their playful puppy was.

Assistant Fire Cief Lance Josal said the pet apparently started the fire. He said firemen found matches scattered on the floor, a burned box of matches, a hole burned in the rug and a scared puppy.

"The dog was in the habit of chewing on matches," Josal said.

YMCA sets swim classes

Swim programs and activities for children will be offered by the Pomona Valley YMCA beginning Monday and Tuesday.

A swim class for parents and children from 3 to 30 months of age will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 7 p.m. for a cost of $15.

Swim lessons for kids 3 to 5 years old will be held the same nights from 7 to 7:30 p.m. at a cost of $15.

A Y-toddler program, including recreational acitivities and swimming, is being offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 11 a.m. for kids 3 to 5. Cost is $17.50 per child.

On Claremont street

Traffic barriers planned

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Temporary barricades will be installed Monday at the east end of Santa Barbara Avenue to keep traffic from Colby Circle driving west on the narrow Claremont residential street.

The barriers will be up about a month and residents contacted to see how they like the new arrangement.

The Claremont City Council Tuesday night approved the Traffic Safety Commission's recommendation for the barrier because residents on the street have complained that many drivers use the street to get to Mountain Avenue or nearby shopping centers instead of driving south on Colby Circle to Foothill Boulevard.

Many Santa Barbara Avenue residents have written letters to city hall and asked that the city cul-de-sac the street at the east end because of increased traffic resulting from new buildings on the Griswold property.

The council also has decided that through traffic to and from Griswold's on Berkeley Avenue across Foothill Boulevard will be banned, and only left turns will be allowed. The council voted unanimously to ban parking on the south side of Colby Circle from Foothill Boulevard to Oxford Avenue.

The council has deferred the matter of installing four-way stop signs at Harrison and Berkeley avenues until a study of the yet-to-be traffic signals at Harrison Avenue and Indian Hill Boulevard can be done.

Inauguration:

From event of perfuntory purpose to institution of spectacle and pagentry

EDITOR'S NOTE — The presidential inauguration has evolved over 200 years from an event of perfunctory purpose to an institution of spectacle and pageantry.

By LEE BYRD
AP Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is the most glorified ritual of the Republic, a whirlwind of celebration in which the new President nor the legions who come to toast him are daunted by winter's chill, the long lines, the short nights or the drain upon public and private purses.

Well, rarely daunted. One President, William Henry Harrison, took his oath in an icy downpour, caught pneumonia and died. Another, James Madison, found his inaugural gala so boring that he confessed that, on the whole, he'd rather have stayed in bed.

Richard Nixon danced the night away on Jan. 20 four years ago to cap the most extravagant inauguration in history, one for which the public — barred from most of the pageantry — and his private contributors shelled out over an estimated $6 million.

Next, of course, was Gerald Ford, the man who at first didn't seek the presidency and lost it when he did. He raised his right hand on a summer's day, not winter, and went home that night, not to the White House, but to his own suburban residence. The only notable expense was getting Nixon aboard Air Force One, out of sight and mind.

Now comes Jimmy Carter and his promise of a

"people's inaugural," a sort of modern-day remake of Andy Jackson's shindig 148 years ago. It promises to be, if not as colorful as Jackson's, far more open and less expensive than Nixon's.

"The greatest concern of the President-elect is that we reach the maximum number of people possible and involve the whole country," says Bardyl Tirana, co-chairman of Carter's inaugural committee. "He wants to receive anyone who comes to Washington."

That, by the look of it, will amount to a lot of receiving. Carter's folks have sent out 400,000 invitations for the Jan. 20 swearing-in and the traditional parade, balls and receptions. But invitation or not, virtually all the hoopla will be open to anyone who cares to come, at a maximum price of $25 per ticket. The Nixon celebration, by contrast, drew 50,000 persons by invitation only who paid up to $1,000 for a single event.

The Carter committee has budgeted $3 million for the entire show, including a week of cultural programs, six balls on inaugural night, and the parade following the noontime swearing in and address at the Capitol. Much of that is raised in private donations, but other amounts, like $325,000 for construction of the inaugural platform at the Capitol, are paid out of the U.S. Treasury.

Although the nighttime parties will be black tie optional — "This is not a hoedown," says Tirana — Carter has set the society columnists atwitter over whether he will be sartorially splendid enough to assume the presidency. He has opted for a plain business suit at his swearing-in rather than top hat and morning coat, and his wife, Rosalynn, will wear the same dress she donned five years ago for his inauguration as governor of Georgia.

Still, Jimmy Carter will begin his lease on the White House in style. The inaugural platform, erected at the discretion of Congress, is a structural giant over the Capitol's east front. It features eight Corinthian columns, a graceful, sweeping balustrade and a huge canopy with a high-powered heater to fend off the chilliest gusts. A masterly paint job makes it resemble the marble and limestone of the Capitol itself.

As for the parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, the usual marching units from virtually every state, the tootling calliopes and the military bands will all be there, but in smaller numbers and at far less cost than Nixon's.

Still, there are those who would argue there is nothing modest about spending $3 million for Jimmy Carter to walk and waltz his plank to the presidency. Others counter that the peaceful transfer of authority from one administration to the other is the crown jewel of democracy, and the richest nation on earth can afford whatever it costs to display it to the world.

Whatever the arguments, the fact remains that the inauguration has evolved, in 39 lessons spread over 200 years, from an event of perfunctory purpose to an institution of spectacle and pageantry.

The Founding Fathers hardly wanted it that way. They wanted to avoid any semblance of European monarchy, and their inaugurals were as Spartan as Nixon's was elaborate. The capital was New York City when George Washington took his oath on the Federal Hall balcony in 1789.

Thomas Jefferson, an even more ardent foe of ritual, was the first president inaugurated in Washington. He walked to the Capitol from a boarding house, repeated the 35-word oath, made a brief speech in the Senate chamber, then walked back home.

In his second inauguration, when Pennsylvania Avenue was a dusty, gravel road, Jefferson gave life to the seeds of pomp and the embryo of circumstance; he allowed the playing of military music at the ceremony and agreed to ride back to the White House in a carriage. It was the first inaugural parade.

Inaugural balls came along for James Madison in March of 1809, a date in which one of the guests, John Quincy Adams, noted in his diary: "In evening, went with ladies to a ball in honor of the new president. The crowd was excessive, the heat oppressive and the entertainment bad."

A White House reception was held at Madison's second inauguration at which guests drank Madeira, ate bonbons and sampled a newfangled treat called ice cream. The U.S. Marine Band played for the first time, as it has at every normal inaugural since.

James Monroe was the first president to take the oath out of doors, a custom forced by the British, who bombarded and burned the Capitol three years earlier in 1814. Monroe wanted to take the oath in the House chamber of Congress' temporary quarters nearby, but Speaker Henry Clay wouldn't allow it for fear the building might collapse under the weight of all the prospective guests.

Andrew Jackson, in 1829, began a tradition when he was sworn in on a raised platform on the east portico of the Capitol.

Historians call Jackson's the most colorful inauguration ever. It was attended by 20,000 persons, including Indian fighters from Tennessee and veterans of the battle of New Orleans who had traveled those distances in transports of joy at having one of their own move into the White House.

The more genteel guests were horror-stricken when all those frontiersmen with muddy boots followed Jackson from the Capitol right into the White House. Many stood on the pastel upholsteries of fine damask and satin to get a better view of the festivities inside the mansion, while others shattered china and glassware while sharing the refreshments.

Nearly every president has contributed something to the inaugural ceremony, though the avowed precedent-hunter sometimes has to look sharply to find it.

John Quincy Adams was the first to wear trousers, rather than the tight breeches of the era. James Polk, in 1845, was the first to be covered live by the electronic media. An inventor named Samuel Morse perched on the edge of the platform and tapped out Polk's words on a device he called a telegraph.

William Henry Harrison, the first to arrive at his inaugural by railroad, delivered one of the longest speeches — 8,578 words — while standing bareheaded in freezing rain on March 4, 1841.

Pierce's inauguration was marked by a protest demonstration worthy of today's militants. As the parade began to pass along Pennsylvania Avenue, a band of poor, unemployed men streamed onto the street and began marching along. According to contemporary newspaper accounts, they were "dressed in rags and tatters" and were finally driven away by spectators.

Most new presidents, of course, would prefer that their inaugurals be remembered for their calls to the nation's conscience, those ringing words of wisdom that set America on an ever brighter course. There have been more thuds than rings, especially in this century.

Still, the nation embraces with special fondness the words of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to a depression-stricken country in 1933: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." And then there were those of the last previous Democrat to come along after eight years of Republican rule: "Ask not . . ."

It was a cold, snowy inauguration for John F. Kennedy in 1961. But there are those who will raise their glass at Jimmy Carter's upcoming turn, as they did at Kennedy's, and wish him well.

'Lulubelle' and equal rights amendment: painful issue

EDITOR'S NOTE — The final battle for the Equal Rights Amendment will be fought in largely rural states, and the people who will cast the deciding votes are state representatives like "Lulubelle" Wiseman.

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
AP Writer

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. (AP) — Myrtle "Lulubelle" Wiseman will talk about the Equal Rights Amendment, but mostly because she was taught that ladies respond politely when they are asked a question. It is not one of her favorite subjects.

The ERA has caused her pain and anguish. It brought villifying letters from people she never met. It made her break down and cry in public.

She knows she will have no choice but to talk about it soon enough, when the legislature in North Carolina, and the legislatures of 15 other states, battle over ERA once again.

Mrs. Wiseman, a retired singer, has never heard of the Equal Rights Amendment until just after the 1974 elections.

Watergate dragged down a lot of Republicans that year, including the incumbent representative of the state district that includes Mrs. Wiseman's home county of Avery. She was the Democratic nominee.

Hers is a rural district, like so many districts in the 16 states reconsidering ERA in 1977; districts that have resisted the feminist movement and the ERA. It is hard by the Tennessee border and full of rugged, pine-covered mountains, farms wedged in narrow valleys, and roads that twist and turn upon themselves like pretzels.

The district gave up on prohibition only recently and allowed a handful of state liquor stores to open. Before that, the district was known for producing moonshine liquor.

The district has produced orators like retired Sen. Sam Ervin, and country musicians like Lulubelle and Scotty Wiseman. Their heyday was in the radio era of the 1930s and the 1940s.

When they retired, they bought land on a little mountaintop, built a ranch house, surrounded it with white rail fencing, and looked out through a big picture window at the valley below.

Mrs. Wiseman, a handsome, red-haired grandmother at 62, sat near that window recently and talked about her introduction to ERA.

Almost immediately after she was elected, the letters and literature on the ERA started coming to her home. She and Scotty read it all carefully, and they discussed it together.

They learned quickly that there was a lot more to the ERA than the simple words, "Equality of rights under the law shall not be abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex."

The amendment would end a host of inequities, many of them petty, to which women had been subjected to for generations. It also would add to their responsibilities.

Mrs. Wiseman was forced to consider exactly where she stood on feminism. She had never considered herself a women's liberationist. She went to Raleigh still uncertain.

As a shy freshman, Mrs. Wiseman was happy to find new friends among the 11 women in the 120-member House. All of them wanted her to pledge her vote for the ERA, and that decided her. She gave them her commitment.

But by early 1975, just after Mrs. Wiseman's arrival, it was clear that the ERA was not going to sail smoothly into the Constitution, as had once seemed likely.

Congress endorsed the amendment in 1972, and in rapid order, it won the approval of 30 states. But in 1974, only three additional states ratified. The amendment requires the ratification of 38 states.

In 1975, they won just one state. None was added to the ERA column in 1976 and Nebraska and Tennessee voted to rescind their ratifications.

The lobbyists for both sides stalked the halls of the North Carolina legislature every day when ERA was on the agenda in 1975. The pro-ERA women stopped in only occasionally to make sure Mrs. Wiseman wasn't wavering.

In contrast, her tiny office was overrun by lobbyists against ERA. The easiest to deal with were those who baked bread for legislators as a reminder of where they felt a women's work should be done.

The hard ones were those who rode to Raleigh in groups for a day, traveling in church buses and sporting "STOP ERA" buttons. They crowded into her office, reading Bible versus they felt showed that God was against ERA. It all made Mrs. Wiseman uncomfortable.

"It was hectic during those weeks. People were all either blindly for it or blindly against it. They just tore me to pieces," she said.

The pressure was intense from Mrs. Wiseman's home district, an area that has resisted most social change as stubbornly as it resisted the repeal of prohibition.

The people of the district began writing letters to Mrs. Wiseman. Most of them, she recalls, were against the ERA.

The galleries were jammed when the North Carolina House began voting. Mrs. Wiseman, near the end of the alphabetical roll, cast her "yes" in a timid voice. The ERA passed, 60-58, on its first reading. The second reading required by the state was the next day.

Mrs. Wiseman can't remember all the people who called her during those 24 hours to demand that she change her mind.

She buckled. "I was afraid. I have to live with my friends and neighbors for the rest of my life and I didn't want them hating me."

When the clerk reached her name the next day, Mrs. Wiseman answered "no." There were gasps in the gallery. She buried her face in her arms and cried. The amendment failed, 61-57, and angry feminists vowed to defeat Mrs. Wiseman and three other rural legislators who had reneged on earlier commitments.

But when she hit the campaign trail in 1976, not one person, Mrs. Wiseman says, ever asked about the ERA. In Mrs. Wiseman's rural district, there was no feminist movement.

Yet, it is in states like North Carolina and districts like Mrs. Wiseman's that the ERA must succeed. The 15 other states that have not ratified the amendment are Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah and Virginia.

"It would be fair to say that the women's movement has had the least impact among fundamentalist religious groups and in rural areas," says Sheila Greenwald, executive director of ERAmerica, the national pro-amendment lobbying group.

Lulubelle Wiseman has already decided what she is going to do about the ERA. She is getting off the hook.

She has announced to her constituents that she will save every legitimate piece of mail on the ERA that she receives. When the day of reckoning comes, she will count the letters for and the letters against. And she will vote accordingly, no matter who calls.

Fewer books purchased

NEW YORK (AP) — The number of books purchased by libraries is expected to decline by 28 per cent between 1974 and 1981 according to the Book Industries Study Group. The study, made by John P. Dessauer, forcasts an increase in yearly expenditures of 30 per cent during this period, but also predicts an inflation rate of nearly 80 per cent in book prices.

'Stanley' does the driving

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — Maybe Stanley just wanted companionship. Or maybe he wanted to drive.

At any rate, when the 500-pound lion smashed through a partition and crawled from the back of a moving van into the driver's compartment, the two women up front quickly stopped and scrambled out.

Stanley remained in the driver's seat for nine hours despite efforts to coax him into the back with food.

Finally, a physician from the Fresno zoo shot Stanley with a tranquilizer dart Monday and closed the truck door. Stanley let out a loud yowl because his tail was caught in the door.

But the tranquilizer did its stuff as Stanley went to sleep and was carried into the back on a blanket.

Jackie Kelley of Santa Rosa, Calif., had been moving her pet lion from Las Vegas, Nev. She resumed her drive home, but only after bars were welded between the driver's compartment and storage area.

'Singles' matchup with TV

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lonely? Come to San Diego and tune to Channel 6, where you can take a gander at prospective mates on a new program called "Singles Matchup."

On each half-hour program, Dr. Tom Gillette, a sociology professor, interviews three singles who are looking for long or short-term relationships. He said the show offers an alternative for people who don't want to go to singles bars or get involved with matchmaker firms.

"The reaction has been very positive," said Dr. Ed Eisman, a psychologist involved in formulating the production.

Participants so far have included a divorced businessman, an attractive young woman looking for a husband and a male computer specialist seeking "a nontraditional marriage."

Julian Kaufman, general manager of the independent station, XETV, whose transmitter is in Tijuana, Mexico, considers the program as public service time.

He says Channel 6 is taking a "calculated risk" with such a broadcast, but adds that "Mail response has been very heavy. It looks like the program will be around for a while."

Clementia

The ancient Roman goddess Clementia was the personification of mercy and clemency. Her likeness is found on many Roman coins, a standing goddess with a holy dish in one hand and a septer in the other.

HAMBURGER... OR THE... BURRITO?

Although the hamburger is thought by most to be the biggest seller, students in the Chaffey Joint Union School District know the burrito is tops. Brent Heatcoat, 17, a senior at Chaffey High School takes a bite from one of the school's hamburgers, while burrito fan Mike Haas, 15, a sophomore, demonstrates the method of downing the district favorite.

To South-of-the-border favorite

'King' has lost its crown

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

The champ has lost his crown. The end of an era is at hand and the burrito looks to be the new king.

At least that's the word from knowledgeable students and food service experts in the Chaffey high school district where the hamburger and burrito have been battling it out to determine who's really the champ.

The hamburger, the traditional staple of American teen-agers everywhere, appears to be facing a stiff challenge in Chaffey schools from the relatively unknown, unranked, South-of-the-border favorite, the burrito.

Many thought the hamburger would never fall as the perennial favorite among high school epicureans. Sure, there were some (mostly nutritionists) who had worked behind the scenes for years to see the champ's demise, but none had truly thought the end was near.

The hamburger had faced tough challengers before; the hot dog, pastrami and grilled cheese sandwiches in its early days, and more recently from the taco and pizza. No one had expected the burrito to soon be on top.

"We had been serving more hamburgers than any other food item for a number of years," revealed Fern Bailey, head of the Chaffey district food services. "But when we introduced the burrito into our lunch program it quickly became the most popular item."

A tally of the district's sales of burritos and hamburgers shows the newcomer to be easily out-pointing the former champ. "We sell an average of a thousand burritos a day," said Mrs. Bailey. "That compares to about 900 hamburgers a day that are sold on our high school campuses."

Overall, an average of 7,000 students are fed daily by the Chaffey food service department. Five cafeteria managers and 35 employes oversee operations with the help of over 300 student aides.

"The acceptance of both the hamburger and the burrito and a number of other 'fast-food' items by nutritionists is relatively new," says Mrs. Bailey. "For many years these items were not considered nutritious. As students' tastes started to change cafeterias witnessed a decline in sales. The kids were no longer buying the food.

"When nutritionists really started to analyze some of the fast-food items, they discovered that it is possible to utilize them in presenting a well balanced meal."

The students, however, don't seem overly concerned with balance. They want convenience, availability and taste, not necessarily in that order.

"The food here (on campus) isn't too bad," said Barbara Peloquin, a senior at Chaffey High School. "I don't like the hamburgers much, but the burritos are OK."

Robert Gilbert, a sophomore at Chaffey and another burrito fan, says "They're good, they're hot and they're convenient. The only problem is that during second lunch sometimes we run out of them."

One student, Mary Frakes, a freshman, stands by the hamburger. "It's passable," she said. "Sometimes it's good, sometimes it's not." Asked about the burrito, she replied, "I don't know I never tried one. Ive heard that they're good though!"

Burrito or hamburger? That seems to be one of the big questions at Chaffey schools. But there is a new challenger waiting in the wings. Watch out for the "Chili Boat."

Man in wheelchair helps build fires

By PHYLLIS CANNON
Asst. City Editor

Thirty-seven-year-old Dennis Jeffers of West Covina is a man in a wheelchair who is on the move.

He has helped build fires under county and state bureaucracy in a single-minded effort to acquire public facilities for the handicapped.

And, it has paid off.

Largely because of his efforts, the handicapped now may drive to Frank G. Bonelli Regional Park in San Dimas, park in reserved spaces, use restroom facilities, barbecue a picnic steak and fish from two, 90-foot piers especially designed for wheelchair patients and individuals on crutches.

Jeffers was paralyzed in a car accident in 1960. He has been in a wheelchair since that time. "For years and years I just spun my wheels" trying to get public facilities for wheelchair patients, he said.

Then he joined East San Gabriel Valley Chapter 17 of the California Association for the Physically Handicapped, Inc. (CAPA).

"That was about four years ago, and I've accomplished more in those four years than I had in all the years before," he said.

Supervisor Pete Schabarum, in answer to Jeffers' appeal, posted an area on the boat rental dock at Puddingstone as reserved for wheelchairs. "That was a step in the right direction," said Jeffers.

"Then, I suggested they put in the piers and said I would work with them."

Now the two piers, both on the South Shore, are a reality. The county charges a $1 parking fee, but Jeffers has requested it be lowered to $6 a year, the same allowed senior citizens. "It looks like we'll get that," he said.

The piers are about 15 feet wide with metal railings. They slope slightly toward the water, but are constructed so no one could topple into the water.

The reservoir is stocked with rainbow trout, bass, bluegill and catfish. Nearby picnic areas have barbecue facilities.

Jeffers called fishing his number one hobby and said he makes a trip over to Puddingstone about once a week.

He and his wife, Eleanore, have a daughter, Margaret Davidson, 18.

Jeffers is treasurer of CAPA Chapter 17, a member of the CAPA architecture committee, serves on the ad hoc committee in City of Glendora for redevelopment and works with West Covina City Council "trying to get ordinances for parking and

Bloomington pair proud to fly it

Flag-waving crusaders invade valley

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

A Bloomington, Minn. couple has foresaken the sub-zero weather of their area to drive to warmer climate to wave the flag for their country.

Jack Poulsen, president of National Fly the Flag Crusade Inc., and his wife Artis, who serves as office manager, have driven more than 100,000 miles since 1968 to encourage Americans to be proud of their flag and to fly it daily.

They stayed at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, this week to enjoy Super Bowl XI on television halfway through their winter travel which had carried them into Washington, Oregon, California, the Hawaiian Islands, and will take them south to San Diego and then eastward through Arizona, and Oklahoma, where the governors of those states will receive plaques as honorary directors of the non-profit organization.

Poulsen explained that the organization was founded in 1968 by a group of veterans who were tired of seeing Old Glory burned and desecrated.

He recalled that during the fall of 1968 events were happening on the University of Minnesota "that we were not happy about so we decided to do something about it."

The group started by distributing 10,000 bumper stickers, and selling flags.

Poulsen, an over-the-road truck driver for Ben Franklin Stores, went to Radio Station WCCO in Minneapolis and the station agreed to sponsor the fly the flag program.

"Every Saturday morning we have a radio program over WCCO and sponsored by Wally McCarthy Lindahl Olds," Poulsen said. "We're picked up as far away as Denver."

'...The flag is taken for granted' ...but not by the 'Flagman' crusader

Poulsen began taking one-month leaves away from his job to travel the nation on his flag-flying crusade. The crusade has taken Poulsen and his wife through 43 states to such places as Everett, Wash. and Key West, Fla.

"I'm known as the Flagman on CB radio," Poulsen said.

Everywhere the Poulsens go they distribute brochures containing pictures showing the crusade in action.

There are also bumper stickers, pen and flag desk sets, and a package of flag and flag pole installed for $33 available.

"Because our Bicentennial is over doesn't mean the end to flying the flag," Poulsen stressed. "Flying the flag is taken for granted."

He said that the flag and flag pole package was devised because people were buying flag kits and then leaving the kit in the garage.

"Every weekend we go as far as 400 miles away from home to install flag poles in concrete on people's front lawns," Poulsen explained. "No sooner do we finish installing a flag on a block then a next-door neighbor wants one."

He said that as many as 15 persons are busy installing poles on weekends.

The Poulsens were aboard the USS Arizona Dec. 7, 1976 to fly a special flag during memorial ceremonies.

They've already made 24 state governors honorary directors of the organization. President Ford was named honorary director during a trip to Minneapolis in August 1975.

The Poulsens visited former presidential candidate Alf Landon, 89, in Topeka.

The Poulsens have researched the origin of National Flag Day June 14, and discovered that a teacher, Bernard J. Cigrand of Waubeka, started the annual observance at the Stony Hill School in 1895. It wasn't until 1916 that Pres. Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the annual observance.

The Poulsens said they were dis-

The consensus takes over

Over the years new men go to Washington, D.C. in one capacity or another in government. They arrive there with fresh ideas. Their proposals are sharp and to the point, their words crisp. They are impatient with red tape and bureaucratic stalling, determined to get things done.

The change in these men a year or so later is hard to believe. They speak in bureaucratese, find it difficult to come to the point. Their sentences are long and involved, their plans nebulous. They speak ponderously of long-term gains and the need for a slow pace in pushing for change.

Some of these appointees come in rip snorting, shifting bureaucrats right and left, yanking officials almost bodily, replacing them with others. Soon they find to their sorrow that nothing is different. For the bureaucracy digs in and the next layer takes the place of the old.

Some newcomers become discouraged, convinced that no one can get a handle on the bureaucracy. These men usually end up resigning their posts and going back home.

Most newcomers, however, roll with the tide in the end. They become, as suggested above, more like Washingtonians than the Washingtonians and more like the bureaucrats than the bureaucrats themselves.

They're caught in a pattern of encirclement.

When a new department secretary and his assistants take over an agency, the established bureaucracy begins by shunting their way a host of perks — privileges, conveniences and special treatment. The newcomers find a variety of doors quietly opened for themselves and their families on a scale never imagined. They find that officials rush to obey their slightest personal request. They are smothered with everything possible to build their egos, treated with deference. Overwhelmed.

In stage two they're briefed to the gills with endless sophisticated, elaborate briefings, complete with colored slides, charts and whatnot on every conceivable operation in which the agency is engaged. These briefings, in some agencies, occur daily and are carefully designed to obfuscate anything the briefers and their supervisors don't want brought to light.

The bureaucratic staffs follow through by making certain the newcomers are occupied with a myriad of details on everything imaginable. Every insignificant problem is brought to their attention for decision.

With all this, the time and energy the newcomers have left to deal with reorganization or with key agency problems are minimal. They must perforce depend on the subordinates who have been there for years — the established bureaucracy.

When the new department secretary ventures into changes the bureaucracy does not want, he finds something has gone amiss here or there, and what he's requested or ordered doesn't happen. No one refuses to do what he's told. No one defies or argues. But little problems of one sort or another arise one after another — days pass, then weeks and months. Somehow the proposal has disappeared into the woodwork.

In the end little changes.

President - elect Jimmy Carter's people may prove the exception. But we are compelled in fact to agree with the thoughts expressed by Charles Kirbo, who's probably closer to Mr. Carter than any other man, as they appeared in a recent issue of the Washington Post under the by-line of Henry Mitchell:

"What would be the point of me in Washington? . . . The minute you sit down you become part of it, start thinking the same things everybody else does, start listening to the consensus . . . "

Thoughts

All who have sinned without the law will also perish without the law and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law who will be justified. — Romans 2:12-13

"Laws should be like clothes. They should be made to fit the people they are meant to serve." — Clarence Darrow, American jurist.

"I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse; therefore choose life, that you and your descendants may live." — Deut. 30:19

"Most of us can, as we choose, make of this world either a palace or a prison." — John Lubbock, English astronomer.

"Only be strong and very courageous, being careful to do according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded you; turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that you may have good success wherever you go." — Joshua 1:7.

"I believe the true road to preeminent success in any line is to make yourself master of that line," — Andrew Carnegie, American philanthrophist.

"Then his lord summoned him and said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you all that debt because you besought me; and should not you have had mercy on your fellow servant, as I had mercy on you?'" — Matthew 18:32, 33.

"Human affairs inspire in noble hearts only two feelings — admiration or pity." — Anatole France, French novelist.

The public forum

American Church Union

Dear Editor:

May I please add a few words to the discussion of the troubles facing the American Episcopalian Church which was recently published in the Public Forum section of your paper.

It is extremely difficult for any outsider to understand how the situation came about. Essentially it was because at a General Convention called last year of the American Church a determined and ruthless coalition of liberal organizations took advantage of the permissive and catholic structure of the administration. They squeezed into a position of power by an eyelash and, having done this, they baldly and cynically proceeded to ram home a sweeping set of changes which altered the entire liturgical position and structure of the church.

Ordination of women to the Episcopal priesthood was only one and by no means the most important of a long list of changes. It is only common sense that anyone ordained to such a position of trust and authority must be qualified in every way. I safely can state categorically that none of the women so far ordained by the church is qualified for the position which they hold. As a matter of fact the newest candidate is a lesbian and the one before that a high school dropout. However the less said about that the better.

Like myself many thousands of churchmen and women found these new changes inconsistent with all they had grown to revere and made a terrible and heart-wrenching decision not to accept them. We turned to the American Church Union for guidance. The purposes of this organization are simple. They are three-fold: (1) To resist the destruction by sweeping change of the Episcopal Church. (2) To offer solace and encouragement to those confused beings who want to channel their resistance and make known and manifest their desires. and (3) to give those who choose an atmosphere of invitation to worship "Where prayer has been valid."

Obviously we cannot pour our wealth out into the laps of those who want to destroy and dismantle us at the same time as we support those who are striving to maintain for us the traditions we know. So many have had to make another heart-wrenching decision and deny our support to the authorities who have worked so hard to take over. This was regretfully done on the grounds that the "general convention" leaders had themselves so acted as to forfeit the right to leadership.

The American Church Union recently held a national convention extremely well-attended for the purpose of inspecting the various alternatives available and formulating plans for the future. Among those who were represented by empowered authorities were the: "Anglican Digest" "The Certain Trumpet." The Congregation of Saint Augustine. The Council of the Faith. (Canada.) The Episcopal Guild for the Blind. The Episcopal Renaissance of Pennsylvania. Episcopalians United. The Foundation for Christian Theology. The Society for the Holy Cross. The Society for the Preservation of the Book of Common Prayer. And the newly created SPEAK. Hardly a ragged little band of malcontents. Another large convention will be held next autumn but in the meantime there is a new organization: "The Anglicans United" which is pressing for more immediate and vigorous action.

I would like to suggest that anyone confused and wanting more direct information as to the stand and the functions of the American Church Union write directly to them at 6013 Lawton Ave. in Oakland, 94618. I have traveled and have sat in Episcopalian congregations. For example, I attended Christmas Eve service in a beautiful old church in Philadelphia. The service was, as it has been for more than a century, in the simple, beautiful, prayer book tradition and more moving than I could possibly put into words. The church was so full in its congregation that the recessional could not take place until almost an extra hour had passed. As a matter of fact my hosts were worried about me, thinking I had perhaps been "mugged" and were much relieved to find that I had spent the extra time in church.

Mobsters take over rackets

WASHINGTON — Just as prohibition was supposed to end bootlegging, legalized gambling has now been offered as the best way to suppress illegal bookmaking.

Of course, the rum runners of the 1920s were merely succeeded by a dapper, new breed of gangster, who brought polish and efficiency to organized crime.

Areas of influence were carved out, with specific territories going to those strong enough to hold them. Slush funds were created to overcome political obstacles, and promising young racketeers were sent to college to give the mob some class.

These slick mobsters have now taken over the rackets, including unlawful wagering. States that have adopted legalized gambling, unfortunately, have not put the underworld lords out of business. The truth is that legalized gambling has helped their business.

To get the story, we sent our reporter Rick Sokolow to New York, which was the first state this side of Nevada to establish Off-Track Betting parlors.

At the street level, the mobsters still wear flashy clothes, squire gaudy girls and hang out at bars, bistros and race tracks. But the crime bosses are more likely to be found in suits of conservative cut and color. They could pass, say, for Madison Avenue advertising executives.

Under their direction, organized crime has become the nation's biggest business, and one of its most profitable operations is illegal gambling. The underworld tycoons have their hands in the till of most friendly neighborhood bookies.

In New York, Sokolow found that business has been booming for the bookies since the state opened Off-Track Betting parlors, which accept lawful bets on the horses. But the legal wagering, apparently, attracts new gamblers. Many of them wind up placing bets with the neighborhood bookies, who offer other sporting wagers, tax-free payoffs and easy credit.

Sokolow visited a legal betting parlor and a bookie joint two blocks apart in one of New York City's old ethnic neighborhoods.

The state-run parlor had no chairs, no food, no beverages. A stark light exposed a dirty floor littered with discarded newspapers and tickets. The betters stood in line before bank-style windows and placed their bets with faceless tellers.

In contrast, the local bookie operates out of a neighborhood bar under an elevated train. The atmosphere is cozy and congenial; dim lighting softens the harsh realities; the bookie is a likeable, if larcenous fellow who presides over a corner table.

He agreed to talk to us if we would call him "Frankie Numbers," which is not his name. Bookmaking is the only trade he has ever known, he said. He got his start at age 13 as an apprentice to his father, who was also a bookie.

Frankie has a cordial rapport with his customers. He hugged a middle-aged woman who handed him a piece of paper wrapped around a roll of money. He slipped the money to the bartender for a round of drinks for the people at the bar. A "business expense," Frankie called it.

He cocked his head toward the bar. "People here know me my whole life," he said. "There's not a person there who wouldn't help me if the police came in here."

Of course, there is a seamy side to the bookmaking business. Frankie has served time in prison for gambling. He operates on the fringes of the underworld, whose ruthless leaders aren't pleasant people to work for. A bookie can get hurt, if he makes a misstep.

Their customers, too can get hurt. For many, gambling becomes an addiction, and they find themselves deep in hock to the friendly bookie. If he doesn't collect, some unfriendly characters may do it or him.

Sokolow talked to other bookies, to their customers and to sources on both sides of the law. There's no doubt about it; legalized gambling has stimulated illegal gambling as well.

Our Man in Washington

HHH's title has its rewards

By TERRY WADE
PB Washington Writer

WASHINGTON — Poor old Hubert. He's loved in Minnesota and revered by Democrats across the land, but he can't win an election.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey had his big shot in 1968, but fell short. Since then he's been a reluctant elder-statesman.

Humphrey is a bubbly, energetic, lovable little man with enormous intelligence and compassion, but for some reason he has been unable, since his 1968 loss, to win a leading Democratic role.

His most recent failure came Jan. 4 when he aborted a run for the Senate majority leader job. He never had a chance.

What's happened to Hubert since hasn't been all bad though and his good fortune carries a message to us all.

The Democratic Caucus has voted Humphrey a "special title." That was nice, sort of like keeping a respected and faithful retiree on as a special consultant.

Of course, HHH was just reelected to a six year senate term at $44,600 per year and he's not about to retire.

Still, why not a title? After all Humphrey has spent most of his life in the service of his country.

He's said often that service is his greatest reward. Humphrey's colleagues, spending our money, are seeing that the new deputy president pro tempore of the Senate has more reward than just service.

What the Senate is about to do is typical of the largess which has caused crowded offices in senatorial buildings and a $600 billion-plus national debt.

What Humphrey will receive is just a drop in the bucket to government big spenders and the gesture is rather nice and perhaps worthwhile if it didn't represent a total absence of conscience when it comes to spending tax dollars.

Humphrey will receive a chauffered limousine, a $7,400 pay hike, an office in the Capitol and four full-time staffers. All that adds up to a nice tidy $100,000 per year, more or less. All for a job the Senate has done without for almost 200-years. Beats being just another elder statesman.

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

With paperbacks selling at about one quarter the price of the same books in hard covers, one wonders why publishers ever go to the trouble of printing the more expensive editions. After all, one would think that the true worth of a novel is in the story, the value of a scientific or historical treatise in the truths it expounds.

But not necessarily so, according to the publishers. There is a vast segment of the American public, they point out, that purchases books with no intentions of reading them. The only requirement is that such books must have a look of expensive distinction and exude an aura of intellectual authenticity as they rest in state on the end table beside the living room davenport.

Once upon a time most love stories ended with the classic final statement: "And so they were married and lived happily ever after." Today's readers, however, would hoot an author into oblivion if he resorted to such sentimental slop. In this modern, permissive age, that old fairy tale ending is out. Or if, indeed, some author still insists on using it, he will, of course, update it to read: "And so they decided to live together, hoping that by so doing they would sleep happily ever after." — For modern authors are well aware of what it takes to make certain a novel will be a best seller. If they fill it with kidnappings, espionage, stock manipulations, sex, abortion and sudden death, it's bound to make the grade.

Tom Tiede

A lady ahead of her time

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Presidential inaugurations are nothing if not occasions for eccentrics to flower. People have attended the ceremonies impersonating clowns, kings, Abe Lincoln, Napoleon, even Hitler. And then there was Dr. Mary E. Walker — a century ago she came to some of the parties dressed as a man.

It seems Dr. Mary always wore male attire. She once donned tuxedo and top hat to astonish Chester A. Arthur at a White House reception. Besides this she was unsympathetic with the bewilderment she wrought. When a Chinese minister inquired why she wore pants, she retaliated immediately by asking him why he wore skirts.

Who was Dr. Mary Walker? A great lady in advance of her time, some say. Others feel she was an aberration and fool. In any event, as the nation pauses to change its governmental gears, it is as good a time as any to remember one of the mostly forgotten faces that helped shape the outrageously diverse republic of this inaugural season.

Mary Walker was a small, slender and obscure physician from rural New York, came to Washington to do her patriotic part in the Civil War. It was still a century before women's liberation, and the military authorities tried to direct the woman into the nursing corps. She'd have none of it, demanding instead a surgeon's job, and not in Washington but out where the war action was.

There was much consternation and gnashing of teeth in the War Department, not to say the medical profession, but Dr. Mary was sent to Tennessee, with the rank of lieutenant, to become the first assistant surgeon to serve in the Army in time of combat. She wore the male uniform, of course, right down to the underwear

There is some question as to whether the doctor's service was as positive as it was controversial. Be that as it may, she was active enough to be captured as a prisoner of war, then important enough to be released in exchange for a rebel major. Eventually she became the first woman to be awarded the Medal of Honor.

Alas, at war's end, Dr. Mary became more of a character than a heroine to her nation. No doubt because she insisted on dressing as well as acting like men. As Amelia Bloomer, her contemporary. Dr. Mary believed that the female garb of the day — crinoline and wire hoops — was unhealthy and unsafe. She prefered stiff wing collars, long coats with tails and pantaloons.

Hence she was a sensation in the worse sense of the word. When she entered ladies restrooms there were screams of protest. Young lads and proper women hissed at her on the streets. Several times she was arrested for "impersonating a male." Even colleagues in the suffrage movement considered her something of a freak. and leaders spread wide the word that Dr. Mary was wholly self-serving.

It is probably true that the doctor was self-serving. Indeed her promotional efforts crushed any design she may have had on respectability. When she lost a small clerical job with the government pension office (allegedly for insubordination) she took to touring dime museums as a sideshow attraction. Even near the end of her life, still craving attention, she cabled Kaiser Wilhelm to offer her New York farm as a site for World War I peace talks.

For all of it, according to her biographer, Charles McCool Snyder, and her grandniece, Helen Wilson, Dr. Mary was a woman to applaud. Her philosophy of sexual equality is widespread today, her ideas on dress are in every fashion store. Had she been born a century later she would in large part be in main line womanhood.

But she was born in 1832. And when she died, in 1919, she was penniless, ostracized and once more obscure. Also she died without her Medal of Honor; two years previous a military review board had revoked it along with those of some 911 other Civil War recipients.

There is now a small move in Congress to restore Dr. Mary's medal. Also, some feel history should favor her with greater dignity. So what if she was a bit balmy? As we await our first president of our third century, it's recalled that the founders were that way too.

Ann Landers

On divorce, excommunication

Dear Ann Landers: I am from a devout Catholic family, attended parochial schools and graduated from Loyola University. I married a Catholic man 10 years ago and we have five children.

My husband's philandering and alcoholism were more than I could stand so we separated.

Last May he met a woman he now wants to marry. This is a big decision for me because I believe I will be automatically excommunicated from the church.

My husband claims I am mistaken. Our parish priest is ill and I'm not comfortable with his assistant. Will you please check with Father Ted Hesburgh and get the facts? Thank you very much. — Unsure In New Orleans

Dear Unsure: I didn't have to check with Father Ted on this one. I know the answer.

A Catholic who obtains a divorce is not excommunicated. Remarriage, however, is a different matter. That's the way it stands NOW, but it may be changed.

At a recent Roman Catholic conference in Detroit, approximately 1,400 delegates voted to repeal the penalty of automatic excommunication for American Catholics who marry after divorce.

This vote is subject to endorsement by the nation's 330 bishops, who will meet next May in Chicago. If they vote yes, it will then be up to the Pope to decide.

Dear Ann Landers: When you printed that great column about your brother-in-law David Brodkey, who died from lung cancer, I asked my mom if she had seen it. Her answer was, "Yes, I always read Ann."

I then said, "Well, was that enough to get you to quit smoking?" Her answer was, "No, dear, but thank you for caring."

Well, Mom, I care plenty. You are the most important person in my life. I'm going to miss you terribly when those damn cigarettes take your life.

I care that your grandchildren will never get to know you and enjoy all your wonderful stories of the past. I care that in a few years from now, when I am a married woman and my phone rings in the morning, it will be one of my bridge pals, or my husband, but it won't be my most beloved friend of all — you. I'm not signing my name but you will recognize me as — Your Loving Daughter

Dear Daughter: Powerful letter, young lady. I hope it connects.

Dear Ann Landers: Thirty years ago I married a Navy officer. At the time I agreed to (1) continue to work because he was an ensign who had to shell out alimony, (2) pay half of the household expenses.

J decided to make the Navy his career. I have raised three children, paid for my own insurance, bought my own clothes, purchased and maintained my own cars. J retired a year ago, with benefits of nearly $1,500 a month, but he refused to let me quit my job. He says I must live up to the agreement we made when we married. He just gave me an ultimatum — either I continue to work and pay my half of the household expenses or I move out. My kids say MOVE.

I could certainly support myself. I've been doing it for 35 years. Suddenly I find I don't like my husband very much. How about a bit of advice? — K.W.

Dear K.W.: I'll give you two bits, dearie. Get a good lawyer and make Mr. Generous move.

Dr. Miller

Soaking up sun good for psyche

DEAR DR. MILLER: Little Bear, our Persian, loves to park herself on the windowsill whenever the sun's hitting it. My husband wants to put a plant in the window in her favorite spot. Is it true she doesn't get any good out of the sunlight coming through the window, anyway? He says she gets all the Vitamin D she needs in her food, so the sun does nothing but warm her up a little, and she does have a spot next to the heat register. — D.E.

DEAR D.E.: Commercial cat foods contain adequate Vitamin D, true. Cats can be warmed more efficiently next to the radiator than next to the window — it could be quite cold on that windowsill if the sun were feeble. Still, the sill spot can contribute to your cat's good health. Visual variety and/or simply soaking up the sun is highly beneficial to Little Bear's psyche.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm puzzled. Are button ears and semi-prick ears in dogs the same thing, or not? — S.W.

DEAR S.W.: Similar, but not the same. Both refer to canine ear flaps which are partially erect. In the collie, a typical breed with semi-prick ears, the tips of the ears fold forward and partially downward. In a typical button-eared breed, the wirehaired terrier, a full half of the ear flap folds completely over and is facing downward. The difference, then, is in the amount of the ear flap involved and the degree to which it is folded.

DEAR DR. MILLER: My husband and I are particularly fond of marine mammals, dolphins and whales in particular. We've been rather skeptical of a statement made by a supposed expert on dolphins who said that a lot of dolphins die of an internal fungus. We had a pointer once who got a fatal internal fungus in his lungs. He'd picked it up from the dirt. So how could water animals possibly pick up a fungus like that? It doesn't make any sense. — D.G.R.

DEAR D.G.R.: Systemic mycosis (internal fungus) infections definitely can occur in marine mammals ranging from dolphins and porpoises to sea lions and killer whales. As in terrestrial (land) species, these fungal organisms are often carried in the mucous membranes of the respiratory tract for long periods of time without causing damage, then under stress conditions body resistance lowers and the fungal organisms grow to actually cause potentially-fatal lung lesions.

Who's putting who on?

My mother calmly announced to a group of us the other night that every time she turned on her organ to play "Alley Cat" she heard voices.

I immediately made some smart remark about piped-in music lovers registering a formal complaint. When no one laughed, I hit 'em with the line about the author of Alley Cat trying to get his music back. Still no laughs.

Finally, my husband said, "Hearing voices isn't too unusual. I used to hear conversations coming out of my electrical drill all the time. For a long while, until it became popular, I didn't tell anyone about it."

"There was a guy down the street," said my dad, "who had one of those remote controls for his television set and every time a plane went over his house, the channel would change. Sometimes, during a peak evening, he could follow as many as three shows at a time."

A neighbor piped in, "I guess you all heard about the guy who lived near a highway with an electric garage door? Every time a CBer would go by, his garage door would zip up and down. No one thought anything of it after awhile."

I couldn't believe what I was hearing.

"The vacuum sweepers are the worst," said my mother. "A lot of people hear voices from their sweepers."

"What do they say?" I asked hesitantly.

"It's not nice to eavesdrop," said Mother. "After all, if someone wanted to talk with you, they wouldn't call you on your vacuum sweeper, they'd call you on the phone."

"That's true," I said.

"The one I felt sorry for was the woman who was on some kind of a wave length with a transistor and heard music from the fillings in her teeth."

"Oh c'mon," I said, "you're all putting me on."

They looked at me like they were seeing me for the first time. "Are you telling me you've never heard voices from your toaster or your electric toothbrush?" asked my husband.

"No," I said, trying to grin.

"That's really weird," said my dad. "You haven't told anyone about the 'no voices,' have you?"

I shook my head numbly. "Doesn't anyone else not hear them?" I asked.

"Of course we don't," said my husband. "And it'll be our little secret."

When no one else was around I turned on the organ and picked out "Alley Cat."

I heard voices. Five of 'em in the kitchen laughing themselves sick!

Dr. Lamb

Check unexplained bleeding

DEAR DR. LAMB — About six months ago I began having bright red blood with my bowel movements. There was no pain of any kind. This went on for about a month. Then as suddenly as it started it stopped. I never thought it could be serious because there was no pain. Now a friend tells me it could be cancer. Is this true? What should I do? There never was any pain and there has been no bleeding for five months or more. I am 36 years old and have three children.

DEAR READER — Don't take a chance. Have a medical examination as soon as possible. Anyone who has bleeding from the rectum for no readily apparent cause should get medical attention as soon as possible. Your friend is right, it is one of the signs of cancer of the rectum.

Probably you have hemorrhoids. Childbirth is apt to cause them but even hemorrhoids can be brought out because of a mass in the rectum and the mass may be cancer.

I'd like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that the second most common cause of cancer deaths in both men and women is cancer of the colon and rectum. It is exceeded only by cancer of the lung in men and cancer of the breast in women.

The early signs of cancer of the rectum and colon are not associated with pain. Bleeding is one sign. Any unexplained change in bowel habit is another. If a person starts having more frequent stools, smaller ones or diarrhea, or constipation and has not had these findings before, run to the nearest doctor — don't just assume you have common irregularity. Let the doctor find out for sure. He may save your life.

The person who is a real challenge even to the physician is the one who has had bowel problems for life. Intermittent attacks of constipation, diarrhea and symptoms that are similar to spastic colon may make it difficult or impossible to tell if a change in bowel habit has occurred.

There is some indication that a normally functioning colon may prevent cancer of the colon. Why? The theory is that chemicals that may irritate the lining of the colon and start a cancer are in contact with the colon wall longer if you have constipation or sluggish movement of food residue through the colon. This is one reason advanced for including bran and other sources of cereal fiber in your diet. For whatever reason, cancer of the colon is far less common in populations where constipation and sluggish bowels or spastic colon are uncommon.

Hemorrhoids can be aggravated by a spastic colon. Straining increases the pressure and may precipitate the bleeding. For both reasons it is important to eat right and develop normal bowel habits. To give you more information on this I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-2, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. Others who need this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Incidentally the high rate of rectal cancer is another reason why adults should have a rectal examination at the time of their periodic checkup. This applies to both men and women. If your doctor is not doing one ask him why not.

Adoptees know their parents?

Question arises repeatedly whether adopted children ever should learn the identity of their natural parents. Old-school folk say no. New evidence, though, indicates it's far more healthy than otherwise in a lot of cases for the youngsters to find out who their real parents actually are. And at last report, outfits in 10 states were setting up court fights on behalf of grownup adoptees to pry open the agency records.

MICROWAVE

Was reported here that the first thing ever cooked in a microwave oven was popcorn. Client asks who cooked it. Credit Raytheon scientist, Dr. Percy Spencer with that distinction. In 1945, it was. But the instrument was not a microwave, or not so called at the time. It was a laboratory radar device. And the cooking of the popcorn in its paper bag was just one of those random experiments which might lead to nobody knew what.

Glad you asked

Q: Do you think Barbara Walters, in her doubleheader special with President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter and Ms. Barbra Streisand and her former hairdresser-boyfriend Jon Peters, proved she was worth a million bucks a year? — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Primp, New York City.

A: She proved ABC bought her at a bargain rate. Who else would have the clout and class to procure this pair of top twosomes for warm, revealing and intimate conversation pieces? Who else but a woman interviewer with disarming charm, compelling curiosity and charisma would risk some of the questions Barbara asked the superstars of Washington and Hollywood?

Certainly no male counterpart would have the temerity to risk riling some viewers by asking, "Would the President and the First Lady sleep in single or double beds?" "Would the incumbent wear blue jeans around the White House?" "If he had his choice whom would he prefer — Melanie or Scarlett?" Who else but Ms. Walters would introduce the unwed Barbra and Jo as "living together" — and make it appear as a perfectly natural thing in this era of tradition-shattering morality, special Emmy award for this historical — sometimes hysterical — TV treat.

Q: I was surprised to hear that Paul McCartney, one-time Beatle, is a member in good standing of UNESCO. For doing what? — H. T. Mauerer, Pittsburgh.

A: For doing good deeds such as this one: flying his new group, Wings, to Venice, Italy, and staging a rock concert which brought $75,000 to the city to help slow down the gradual deterioration of its canal streets.

Q: After seeing "Taxi Driver" a number of times, my husband and I would like to know if the story is in paperback yet. When was Robert DeNiro born? And is he the same actor who won an Oscar in 1974 for his role in "Godfather II"? — Mrs. Anne Walker, Bellevue, Wash. playing the young mafioso don in the "Godfather" sequel. Born on New York's lower east side 1945, DeNiro overpaid his acting dues appearing in many Broadway and off-Broadway plays and several major movies. He also won the New York Film Critics award as best actor of the year 1974. He didn't have to drive a cab to make a vicarious living between engagements — he was too busy fulfilling them. But he did research his "Taxi Drivgr" characterization by talking for days on end with countless hackies. And yes, the story has been made into a paperback.

Q: How long was Margaret Mitchell's original novel on which the "Gone With the Wind" film was based? — Mrs. C. Nijak, South Bend, Ind.

A: Exactly 1,037 pages.

East bungles bid and play

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

East started out his career of crime when he failed to bid three clubs over North's two spade call. Not that this failure was a serious crime, just that it proved to be very expensive.

Had East bid three clubs West would surely have taken him to game which makes easily. South would probably have saved at five spades and been doubled and set.

In any event East did not bid. South jumped to four spades and West elected to open his singleton trump.

The nine was played from dummy and here is where East really violated the laws of good bridge. He covered with his jack.

South won: played ace and queen of hearts to throw West in with the king. West led a club, but it was all over. South ruffed the club, ruffed a heart in dummy, ruffed another club, and another heart, got back to his hand with a third club ruff, pulled East's last two trumps, scored his contract trick with his last heart and conceded the last two tricks.

East could have seen all this coming and could have played a low trump. South would get to ruff one heart with the ace of trumps, but East's jack would overruff the next one to hold South to nine tricks.

A Florida reader asks a very interesting question that we can't answer definitely.

After an opening bid of one notrump all four suits are bid. Finally the opener bids four notrump. Our reader wants to know if that four notrump is Blackwood.

The answer is that it depends on partnership understanding. Most experts would play it as showing a desire to play at four notrump, but some partnerships just play all four notrump calls as Blackwood.

2 drain projects readied

Two flood control projects, costing $1.35 million, have been completed in the Pomona area, the Los Angeles County Flood Control District announced.

The larger of the projects is expected to curtail flooding from the San Jose Creek in the Rowland Heights, Industry and West Covina area in times of heavy rains.

The $990,147 project was completed by Kordick & Son, Inc. of Huntington Beach. It called for the construction of more than 4,000 feet of large double and single reinforced concrete pipe up to 5½ feet in diameter, inlet and outlet structures and other incidental work.

Two separate lines were designed to relieve flooding. One line runs in Giano Avenue and in private rights-of-way in existing reaches of unimproved watercourses between the permanent channel of San Jose Creek south of Valley Boulevard and an existing channel near Yorbita Road. The second runs in Honore Street and in Killian Avenue between the existing drain at Bolanos Avenue and another at Otterbein Avenue.

The other project, a $367,328 job, is near the intersection of Base Line Road and Foothill Boulevard, and involves replacement of old lining in Puddingstone Channel.

Supervisor Peter Schabarum explained that 2,200 feet of the channel, built in 1927, deteriorated since its construction in 1927 and became unsafe.

He said the project reconstructed the channel to the specifications of the flood control district. The work was done by Rockport Construction Co. of San Juan Capistrano.

The first project was funded from a $252 million storm drain bond issue approved by toters in 1970. Money for the second came from the budget of the district.

Gun club seeks permit change

The Upland City Council will hear a request for the extension of hours and night lighting of the Trap and Skeet Gun Club at its meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in the City Hall.

Ray Mestos has requested a modification of an existing conditional use permit for the changes at the gun club located on the north side of 20th Street east of Euclid Avenue in an agriculture-zoned area.

Also scheduled for a public hearing Monday is the request of Ray Noxel for a conditional use permit to establish a 64-unit planned residential development on seven acres at the southwest corner of Campus Avenue and 14th Street in an R-3 zone (cluster units-apartments).

Council members will consider proposed improvements to the intersection of Arrow Highway and San Bernardino Road near San Antonio Community Hospital.

This item was held over from the Jan. 3 meeting to obtain the advice of state highway engineers.

A report on the recently completed 17th Street water reservoir will also be presented at the meeting.

TRIPLE FUN — Mrs. James Harris of Pomona tries to feed Staci as brothers Bryan, left, and Scott, background, wait to be fed. The triplets, now just over a year old, have developed very distinct personalities and weigh a total of 66 pounds.

Raising triplets no picnic

BY VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

The first year of raising triplets hasn't been nearly as difficult as she anticipated, the mother of one-year-old Pomona toddlers declared this week.

Mrs. James Harris, 3330 Lynoak Drive, gave premature birth to the girl and two boys on Dec. 16, 1975, at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The babies, Staci Arlene, Bryan Kevin and Jay Scott, weighed a total of 13 pounds and 9 ounces when they were born.

At just over a year, Staci, the most advanced of the triplets, weighs 21 pounds, has seven teeth and walks. Bryan stands by himself, has three teeth and weighs 20 pounds, 2 ounces. Scott, the heaviest at 25 pounds, has four teeth and is just now learning to pull himself up to a standing position.

"Fortunately, all three have been healthy," said Mrs. Harris.

"They are pretty rough and tumble with each other and I let them work out their own scraps. But they are loving with each other and hold hands constantly," she adds.

Mrs. Harris describes Staci as "the boss." She says the girl gets anything she wants from her two brothers simply by taking it.

"Bryan is the rascal of the group. He loves to stand in his crib and shriek simply to hear his own voice.

"Scott's the lover of the group," adds the mother. "He's gentle, very slow to anger and shows remarkable patience with the other two."

Mrs. Harris estimates that it takes about $100 per month to buy the triplet's food. Fortunately, her mother, Mrs. Lauris Dart of Riverside, makes the clothes for the youngsters.

The youngsters are usually dressed alike, with the addition of "a few ruffles" for Staci.

Mrs. Harris credits her husband, Jim, for assisting with household chores and the couple's daughter, Marni, 8, for helping feed and bath the children.

"Marni loves to invite her friends in to play dolls — with real live babies," adds the mother.

Mrs. Dart took care of the triplets about two weekends a month until she had hip surgery this fall.

Members of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Pomona have also helped a great deal, Mrs. Harris adds.

"The babies sure changed our lives," says the attractive mother. "But it's been an exciting year. The next year really promises to be fun because all three have developed such distinct personalities and are so interested in everything around them."

Annex bid wins approval

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Only one of three annexation proposals was given the go-ahead by the Claremont City Council this week.

The council was unanimous in its action to annex the property of David Underwood, the Myers Ranch, and the property of Padua Hills Inc.

Planning Director Donald G. King said the request for annexation of land north of Mt. Baldy Road had come from William E. Myers, who said that the court had decided in his favor in a suit against Robert and Betty Erskine who had foreclosed against him.

The council included the Padua Hills Inc. property because it wants to maximize the annexation.

In another annexation request, the council deferred to its next meeting a request from Hugh Barnett to add to the city the area known as Piedmont Mesa.

The city wants a positive response from the residents in the area east of Williams Avenue, west of the Thompson Creek flood control channel, and south of a line of the possible extension of Base Line Road.

City Manager Norman R. King said he believes that it increasingly is important for the city's western sphere of influence be determined permanently and that it now is appropriate to give Piedmont Mesa residents a "clear-cut, one-time opportunity to be annexed to the city."

King said he thinks that the present city limits on the west are a natural terminus for the community.

FLAG-WAVERS — Artis and Jack Poulsen pause outside a trailer containing merchandise for their National Fly the Flag Crusade which they have been touting for the past eight years. The third race at Santa Anita was dedicated to the crusade Saturday. Poulsen, a truck driver, has involved the Teamsters in the crusade with the union donating flag poles in memory of Prisoners Missing in Action in Southeast Asia.

Flag-waving . . .

turbed when the national anthem was not played before the Super Bowl game Sunday.

"Vicki Carr did a good job singing 'America the Beautiful'," Poulsen remarked, "But before 75 million people watching over TV the national anthem should have been sung."

Although they have made friends with their crusade everywhere they have traveled, the Poulsens discovered that the traditional hotbed of unrest, UC Berkeley, still houses students who will boo the American flag.

"We got out of there in a hurry," Poulsen explained.

Poulsen would like to work on the crusade fulltime when he retires from the trucking business in about two years.

When the Poulsens travel to wave the flag, they take their family with them: Winnie, a white Boxer, and Toadie, a Boston terrier, both in cages in the rear of the station wagon with Wally McCarthy's name on the side. Behind that is the trailer containing all kinds of merchandise for those who will display the flag.

Food stamp benefits available

Recipients of federal housing subsidies in the valley who were denied food stamps last fall because of those subsidies may again be eligible to receive them.

The Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Services says the courts have ruled recently that payments received from the government for home or rent are not to be counted as income.

The department said food stamp benefits will be refigured for those who are eligible, with rectroactive benefits where applicable.

A spokesman said food stamp benefits are being refigured automatically for those who get housing subsidies and also are eligible for food stamps.

'In dreadful jeopardy'

The King and I

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "King Kong" finds Jessica Lange, like Fay Wray 42 years before her, in dreadful jeopardy, clutched in the monstrous hand of the gigantic ape. Lange says she had plenty of reason to be frightened.

The hand, she explains, was controlled by hydraulic cables and "there was always a chance of a malfunction." The gadgetry was controlled by six men working the levers and switches that made the fingers move.

"A couple of times," she says, "it was supposed to tap me lightly with a finger, but it was very hard to make it do those delicate maneuvers. And, instead of a light tap, it was more like a crushing blow."

When she was 40 feet up in the air, encased in that hairy paw, she says there was also the frightening possibility that something would go wrong and the hand would open.

She was also a little terrified at the whole idea of suddenly being thrust into stardom — and in a $24 million picture, at that. Jessica Lange is one of those storybook figures, a totally inexperienced and unknown girl, who becomes an overnight star.

"I don't worry that this picture could have an adverse effect on my career," she says. "I've never had a career that it might effect adversely."

She realizes that her being cast in the film is the old story of being in the right place at the right time. The right place was New York. The right time was December, 1975, a year to the day before "King Kong" opened.

She was modelling in New York. And, unknown to her, producer Dino De Laurentiis was madly searching for a girl to play opposite the big beast in the "King Kong" he was planning.

De Laurentiis decided he wanted an unknown for his leading lady. He contacted all the major New York modelling agencies. One of those was Wilhelmina, and among her models was Jessica Lange.

"I suddenly found myself called to test for the part," she says. "They gave me the script two days before the test was scheduled. I was so naive I didn't know if I was supposed to memorize the lines or not. So I didn't."

She had studied acting for a year, with Warren Robertson, in New York. And, actually, acting was something she had long had in the back of her mind.

"One of the reasons I started modelling," she says, "was that there seemed to be a pattern developing, of directors using models in big parts. I thought if I modelled, maybe I'd get a chance at a part."

She got the part immediately. She thinks maybe it was because she fit some preconceptions both De Laurgntiis and director John Guillermin had in mind.

"It must have been something I had," she says. "I think it was a mixture of vulnerability and humor."

Jessica Lange comes from Cloquet, in the northern Minnesota woods. She speaks with a trace of an accent, and it's probably from the fact that Finnish was spoken at home by her mother and grandmother.

As a child she fantasized about becoming an actress. She was "enthralled" by movies and would see her favorites over and over, memorizing scenes and playing them out for herself.

But, when she went to the University of Minnesota, she majored in painting. She left after two years, and began her years of drifting — she worked as a waitress in New York, then lived for varying lengths of time in Mexico, Amsterdam, Spain, New Mexico and Paris.

FORUM FROLICS — Richard Sanders, left, Jean Marsh and Neil Flanagan star in two comedies, "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde, and Tom Stoppard's "Travesties" at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center Jan. 27 through March 20. The plays will be offered in repertory.

Playhouse folds after one year

The Claremont Playhouse, the valley's most recent theatrical enterprise, closed its doors Saturday night after one year and $89,000 in losses.

The 640-seat theater, the refurbished auditorium of the old Claremont High School, will re-open March 18 under a new company headed by entrepreneur Malcolm Atterberry. The first production will be "Charlie's Aunt," followed by "The Mousetrap," "Curse You, Jack Dalton," "The Innocents" "J.B." and "The Boy Friend."

The Claremont Playhouse opened last Jan. 31 with a professional musical based on Butch Cassidy and the Sun Dance Kid. The new company, White Productions, Inc., put into the Griswold's Old School House theater almost $100,000 in lighting and switchboard equipment. The board of directors was made up of three professional theater men, Dale White, Patrick Miller and Buddy Youngreen. (The latter departed after the first production.)

During the one year in Claremont, the company staged such shows as "Teahouse of the August Moon," "Kiss and Tell," "Play It Again, Sam," "Stop the World, I Want To Get Off" and "Come Blow Your Horn," which closed Saturday night.

"We took an $89,000 bath," White said ruefully. "We lost money on sets, costumes, royalties, insurance, taxes and other aspects of the operation."

White Productions, however, is a film making group that has been producing sales promotion, documentary and entertainment motion pictures and filmstrips for 15 years, and the company will return to Sierra Madre to work on its first feature-length film, "Expansion Chamber."

Meanwhile Atterberry, using what is reported to be a community theater program, will attempt once again to prove that the Pomona Valley drama lovers will support another theater.

Library holds print show

An exhibition of prints by Linda Lyke, assistant professor of art at Occidental College, is on view this month at the Pomona Public Library.

Vivid colors distinguish Miss Lyke's work, with intense blues especially in evidence in the 17 colaraphs included in this exhibit. This is the artist's second one-woman show within the year.

Miss Lyke first taught and studied art in Ohio. She earned a master's degree in fine arts from Kent State University in 1969, and her works have been exhibited widely in that area, including the Cleveland Museum of Art, the Canton Art Institute and the Akron Art Institute. During 1976, she was included among "Ohio Women Artists Past and Present" shown at the Butler Institute in Youngstown, Ohio.

Art work by Miss Lyke has won her several prizes and awards. Her prints have hung in shows from Greenville, Tenn., to Minot, N.D., and from Peoria, Ill. to Lubbock, Tex. Such organizations as the B.F. Goodrich Company, the First National Bank of Boston and the University of Florida have purchased her works for their permanent collections.

THE HOLLYWOOD BOWL SUMMER SEASON will open July 12 with Erich Leinsdorf conducting the Los Angeles Philharmonic in Mahler's Symphony No. 8. The bowl association this week announced plans for the season which will feature Bartok and Tchaikovsky. Alfred Brendel will perform Beethoven's five piano concertos during the summer. Robert Shaw will conduct a three-evening pre-season Bach Festival. Among the guest conductors will be Eugene Ormandy, Arthur Fiedler, Sidney Harth and Andre Kostelanetz.

AN EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHS by internationally acclaimed artist Ansel Adams went on view last week at the Occidental Center, 1150 S. Olive St., Los Angeles. Admission is free. The exhibit is made up of more than 60 photographs of the redwood region of Northern California and Oregon. It was commissioned by the Redwood Empire Association and displayed at the San Francisco Museum of Art in 1965. It was later given on permanent loan to the California Historical Society. It continues at the Occidental Center until Feb. 24.

HARPSICHORDIST MALCOLM HAMILTON will perform the second in a three-recital series of J. S. Bach's "Well-Tempered Clavier" in the Campus Theater of El Camino College at 7 o'clock tonight. The three recitals will cover the entire 48 preludes and fugues of the monumental work published in 1799. Bach composed them to test and demonstrate the advantages of a system of tuning keyboard instruments known as "equal temperament," hence the name "Well-Tempered." The final program will be presented next Sunday.

THE ELIOT FELD BALLET will present six Los Angeles premieres during a five-performance engagement at UCLA's Royce Hall Feb. 11-16. They are "A Poem Forgotten" (Riegger), "Cortege Parisien" (Chabrier), "The Gods Amused" (Debussy), "Tzaddik" (Copland), "The Real McCoy" (Gershwin) and "Excursions" (Barber).

TRAIN PAINTER — Bob Wray of Claremont looks over some of his paintings which are on exhibition this month at Pomona First Federal Savings & Loan Association in Pomona. Trains are a favorite topic of the Navy veteran.

Art show set in Claremont

Ann Howard Stone, Claremont artist, is exhibiting her paintings this month and February at the Pomona First Federal Savings & Loan Association, Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards, in Claremont.

Mrs. Stone has been painting for seven years. She is a member of the Pomona Valley Art Association, Chino Art Association, Fontana Art Association and Associated Artists, and has won numerous awards at local shows. Her work is also on display at the Pomona Valley Art Association gallery at the Griswold's Art Gallery, Claremont. She has studied under Ruby Wells, Dorah Fulton, Betty Miller, Gerome Grimmer, Berneice Kelley and others. She works in oil and acrylics.

Artist shows works

An exhibition of oils and acrylics by Bob Wray of Claremont is on view this month at the Lobby Gallery of Pomona First Federal Savings & Loan Association, 399 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Wray, who has had no formal art training, did his first painting during World War II while serving in the Navy in the Pacific. At that time he completed watercolor scenes of Guam, Hong Kong and Shanghai. A long hiatus followed those early efforts, and he did not resume his art work until three years ago.

Student exhibits slated

Two exhibits featuring the work of Claremont Graduate School students are scheduled for January in Libra Gallery, 12th Street and Dartmouth Avenue, Claremont.

Barbara Allen and John Leckie, both master of fine arts candidates, will present a combined exhibition from Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Allen's work is described as graphite on paper dealing with formal elements of line and tonal value. Leckie is both a photographer and sculptor. A reception will be held Tuesday from 8 to 10 p.m.

Gallery opens exhibit

An exhibition of paintings and drawings by Walter Mix and Terry Hertz opened last week at Gallery Eight, Claremont.

The two-person show continues to Feb. 12. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday and by appointment.

Mix has participated in invitational and competitive exhibitions as well as several one man shows that include the Detroit Art Institute Denver Museum, Los Angeles County Art Institute, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, Pasadena Art Museum, Colorado School of Fine Arts, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Long Beach Museum of Art, Brigham Young University, New School Art Center (N.Y.C.), Mt. San Antonio College, Scripps College, and Redlands University. His one-man shows include the Comara Gallery, Palazzo delle Esposizione (Rome), and Scripps College.

Born in Chicago, Ill. in 1928, he received the master of fine arts degree from the Claremont Graduate School in 1957. He makes his home in Claremont and teaches drawing and painting at Mt. San Antonio College.

This exhibit is the first showing of Miss Hertz' work in Southern California. She has shown in several Bay Area galleries since 1968.

She graduated from Columbia University and later studied at Cranbrook and the Universtiy of Washington. She had a successful career as a designer of nationally distributed ceramic wares before turning to teaching. Miss Hertz is currently an art resource teacher in the Tustin School District.

"All the works are graphite on paper," she says. "I love the physical contact of pencil on paper. In my latest work all of the areas are carefully built up by using small strokes. I can strictly control spatial relationships by this minute manipulation of values resulting from multiple markings. To me, the act of drawing, of starting with a blank sheet of paper, of slowly changing the flat surface with marks of my choosing until I arrive at the resolution of the problem is an endlessly challenging, exciting and satisfying experience."

Her group shows include Vorpal Gallery, San Francisco; De Saisset Gallery, Santa Clara University and Gallery House, Palo Alto.

Market slump continuing

By CHET CURRIER

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's early-1977 slump continued this past week in an atmosphere of uneasiness over the outlook for inflation and interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 10.97 to 972.16, after a 21.52-point slide in the first week of the new year.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock composite index was down 1 point at 104.01, and the New York Stock Exchange's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .43 at 56.36.

Big Board volume averaged 23.83 million shares a day, up from 22.95 million the week before.

The market had to contend with the news Wednesday morning of a 0.9 per cent jump in the government's wholesale price index for December.

It was the fourth straight substantial rise in the index, which is used as a measure of underlying inflationary pressures in the economy.

Analysts noted that it aggravated recent concern among investors that the inflation pace might heat up with business activity gathering momentum.

Those inflation worries have been reflected lately in falling bond prices, which in turn have meant rising long-term interest rates.

Some worries about the outlook for short-term rates, meanwhile, sprang up late Thursday, when the Federal Reserve's weekly banking - and - credit statistics showed a surprise jump in the money supply.

Fed - watches regularly caution that conclusions shouldn't be drawn from one week's data. But some traders seemed concerned that the acceleration in the money supply might continue, prompting the Fed to shift to a tighter credit policy.

The market picture was by no means uniformly gloomy — especially for investors in oil and gas stocks.

A STAG BUCKET

Claremont-Mudd's Ron Kasdorf puts in two points Saturday night in the Stags' 83-71 SCIAC win over host La Verne. Leos Mike Sharp (50), Michael Winze (22) and Dennis Munoz (22) are defending on the play in the Supertent.

Steve Scott stars

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — Though Saturday's Sunkist Invitational Track Meet didn't produce many outstanding performances by the big names of track and field, Upland's Steve Scott passed a personal milestone there when he ran the first sub-4-minute mile of his career.

Scott, an Upland High graduate now in his junior year at UC Irvine, sped around the Sports Arena's indoor track in 3:59.7, good enough for only third place in a mile field that turned out to be tougher than was expected.

Paul Cummings of the Tobias Striders won the event in 3:59.2 and Wilson Waigwa of Kenya and the University of Texas, El Paso, finished second in 3:59.7, the same time Scott clocked. Cummings was chosen the meet's outstanding athlete.

"I thought I had a chance to go that fast today but I didn't really expect to," said Scott after the race. "I really felt great out there."

Actually, it wasn't the fastest race Scott has ever run. He has recorded a 3:40.2 over 1,500 meters — a time which is considered equivalent to a 3:57 mile. But that's a statistical equivalence — there's definitely something special about actually running a mile in under four minutes.

Clearly the pace of the race was largely responsible for Scott's fine time Saturday.

"Cummings is always good indoors and Waigwa is tough," he said, "but I really didn't expect everybody to be quite that fast."

Pleasantly surprised with running so quick a mile so early in the track season, Scott shook his head and smiled, "I don't know what's going on; I really don't."

The former San Antonio League mile champ said he had two goals this year, and he accomplished one of them Saturday.

"I wanted to run well indoors and I did it today," he said. "Last year I was in this meet, but they invited me with the understanding that I would be the rabbit. (the term for a lesser runner who sets a fast pace early so that the better runners will record good times). So I went out fast, got tired and finished in 4:16.

"So I was happy to prove today that I can run well indoors."

Scott's second goal for 1977 is to win the NCAA Division I mile title. He'll have to wait a little longer for that one.

Roger Innes, an Upland High senior, scored the highest finish among valley preps entered in the Sunkist meet. He placed second in the first section of the rated two mile in 9:32.4. Kyle Lubsen of Millikan won that race in 9:31.8, but the fastest prep two mile of the day was a 9:08.4 by Rod Berry of Redwood High in Larkspur.

Pomona's 640-yard relay team of William Warren, Karsem James, Anthony Miley and Louis Cole was second in its section to Pasadena High, with a winning time of 1:06.5. Pomona's time was 1:06.7, fifth best among the 16 teams in the four-section race. A foursome from Garey failed to record a time in the 640 relay because of a dropped baton.

Claremont's Kelly Gordien cleared 6 feet, 6 inches in the high jump to finish fifth. (The No. 3 and No. 4 jumpers also cleared 6-6 but placed ahead of Gordien on fewer misses.

El Camino Real's Rob Olson won the event at 6-10¼, breaking Dwight Stones' 1971 prep meet record of 6-10.

Alta Loma's Joel Hope finished sixth in the seeded mile, won by San Pedro's Ron Cornell in 4:16.1.

Pomona High's Barney Sue Carrall placed fourth in the girls' seeded 880 in 2:15.5. Palos Verdes' Suzie Meek won the 880 in 2:14.4.

Ontario High's Debbie Kainz ran fourth in her section of the girls' 500 in 1:10.5. Marquita Belk of Silver Creek High in San Jose won the 880 in 1:07.7 and Kainz was sixth overall in the combined results of the two sections of the event.

Mt. San Antonio College was the runnerup behind Pierce College in the junior college mile relay. Mounties Ray Reeb, Harold Tassin, Dwayne Jackson and Steve Tyler covered the mile in 3:27.9 to Pierce's 3:27.5.

Stan Whitley, a Pomona resident and teacher at La Verne's Ramona Intermediate School, placed third in the open long jump in his 10th appearance at the Sunkist meet. Whitley jumped 25-4¼ to winner Arnie Robinson's 25-9½.

Finally, relay teams representing the Southern California Cheetahs placed in two events. Pam Green, Tracie MacMurray, Della Equipalag and Kalua Bell combined for fifth place in the women's 640 relay and a foursome from the valley club ran third in the age group sprint relay.

Cummings runs fast 3:59 mile

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Cummings ran the first sub-4-minute mile of the young indoor track season and fast-starting Steve Riddick captured the two short dashes Saturday to highlight the 17th Sunkist Invitational Track Meet.

Cummings, a 23-year-old Brigham Young University graduate student, was clocked in 3:59.2 as he won a stirring battle with Wilson Waigwa in the mile, a race Cummings said he was not in shape for.

The 5-foot-10, 150-pounder said he was overweight, but his finishing kick was good enough to hold a late surge by Waigwa, the Texas-El Paso senior from Kenya who also clocked 3:59.2.

Riddick, the tall, lean Philadelphia flash, who failed to make the finals of the 100-meter dash in the 1976 Olympics, was out explosively against a crack field in the 50-yard dash and the 25-year-old Riddick edged favored Houston McTear at the wire in 5.3 seconds.

Thirty minutes later, Riddick won again, this time at 60 yards, over goal medal winner Don Quarrie of jamaica and Hasely Crawford of Trinidad. Riddick was timed at 6.1, the same time as Quarrie, with Crawford at 6.2.

McTear, second in the 50, captured both events in this meet last year, but he pulled up after 30 yards in the second race, and protested that he had been bumped by Crawford at the start. Judges upheld the protest and disqualified Crawford.

For the second day in a row, world high jump record holder Dwight Stones was defeated, losing this time to Rory Kotinek as both cleared 7-2. Stones lost to James Barrineau Friday night in College Park, Md. Other olympians from Montreal fared better, however.

With Mac Wilkins, the outspoken bearded monster of the discus, capturing the shotput over three world record setters.

Wilkins, switching to the shot for the indoor season only, threw a career best 67-9 to beat, in order, former record holders Al Feuerbach and Terry Albritton and current record holder Aleksandr Barishnikoff of the Soviet Union.

The two-mile was one of the top events of the nationally televised meet, with rising star Duncan MacDonald of Hawaii outsprinting Craig Virgin of Illinois to win in 8:35.4. Virgin was timed in 8:35.6. With Paul Geis at 8:35.7, and all competitors were happy with the fast early season time.

One of the United States' four individual gold medalists at Montreal, Edwin Moses of Morehouse College, won a wireto-wire 500-yard dash against Arizona State's Herm Frazier as both ran 56.2.

Mike Boit of Kenya won the 1,000 in 2:08.6 over surprising Ed Arriola, 2:08.7.

Boit didn't approach the arena record of 2:06.0 set in 1960 by the great New Zealand star Peter Snell — who coincidentally was the starter for the race.

Boit, forced out of the Olympics when his nation joined a boycott staged by black African nations, crashed into a photographer standing on the track on the first lap and was thrown off stride.

Bruins win, back on top

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — UCLA, led by senior forward Marques Johnson's 27 points and 14 rebounds, came back from a 49-48 halftime deficit to score a 100-86 Pacific-8 Conference basketball victory over Stanford Saturday night.

The 12th-ranked Bruins outscored Stanford 22-12 in the first 10 minutes of the second half to coast to their third conference victory with a single loss. UCLA is now 13-2 overall.

Sophomore guard Roy Hamilton was the Bruins' second leading scorer with 22 points, 13 in the second half. The Bruins also got a 20 points from sophomore forward David Greenwood.

Stanford was paced by guards Mike Bratz' 22 points and Wolfe Perry's 21 points.

The Cardinals shot 74 per cent in the first half to take a one-point halftime lead after UCLA dominated the first 10 minutes of the game. The Bruins built a 10-point lead but the Cardinals rallied, with Bratz scoring 14 first half points.

Stanford is now 1-3 in the Pac-8 and 8-6 over-all.

UCLA Coach Gene Bartow credited his defense with the victory. "In the second half we played with more intensity, especially on defense. We got inside more in the second half and that was the difference," he said.

"It was a great win, Stanford played well. They shot extremely well in the first half," Bartow said referring to the Cardinals' 82 per cent field goal percentage in the first half. "We were fortunate that we were down by only one point at the half."

After shooting just 50 per cent from the field in the first half, the Bruins hit 61 per cent of their shots in the second half. UCLA outrebounded Stanford 37-29.

"We didn't want the score that high at the end of the game—100-86," Stanford coach Dick DiBiaso said. "But the team was high and emotional, and we didn't intend to control the game that much."

Trojans' troubles continue in Pac-8

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Freshman forward Doug True scored 25 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Saturday to lead California to its first victory of the Pacific-8 basketball season, 8476 over Southern California.

The Bears sent Southern Cal's Trojans down to their 19th consecutive conference defeat in the regionally televised game. The losing streak began late in the 1975 Pac-8 season.

True made 10 of 16 field goal attempts and five of seven free throws in his highest scoring game as a collegian. His previous high was 17 points.

The 6-foot-7 forward and sophomore center Tom Schneiderjohn had 12 points apiece in the first half, powering Cal into a 38-29 halftime lead. Schneiderjohn finished with 16 points and 12 rebounds in the victory which made Cal 1-3 in the Pac8 and 3-10 over-all.

Southern Cal, loser of four conference games this year and standing 3-12 for all games, was led in scoring by Marv Safford and Casey Jones who had 12 points apiece.

True and Schneiderjohn carried the load as the Bears pulled away late in the first half. The Bears' floor leader, Gene Ransom, was on the bench after drawing three fouls.

Ransom, who played only 22 minutes in the game and totaled 13 points, returned to the lineup at the start of the second half and helped the Bears build their biggest lead, 75-59.

The Trojans shot well in the second half, hitting on 20 of 36 shots, but couldn't catch Cal which had a 52 per cent shooting mark for the game. Southern Cal finished at 50 per cent.

Southern Cal's last Pacific-8 victory was on Cal's court.

Cougars nip Ducks

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Washington State used a sticky zone defense and clutch shooting by Harold Rhodes late in the second half to defeat Oregon 49-45 in a Pacific-8 Conference basketball game Saturday night.

The lead shifted throughout the first half, which ended with Washington State ahead 24-21.

Rhodes tied the game at 33 with a 20-foot jumper with 8:40 left. After the teams exchanged baskets, Rhodes hit another long jumper with 7:00 left to put Washington State ahead 37-35.

Greg Ballard tied the game for 20th-ranked Oregon with two free throws with 6:30 left, then Steve Puidokas, who sat out much of the game with foul trouble, hit a baseline jumper and a tip-in, and Rhodes made a free throw to put Washington State ahead 42-37.

The Cougars defense forced two consecutive turnovers to allow Washington State to get ahead 46-39 with 2:12 left on free throws by Ken Jones and Rhodes. The closest Oregon came after that was at 46-43 on a long jumper by Rob Closs with a minute left.

Baldwin wins at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Ivan Baldwin of Modesto, Calif., took up the charge when national champion L.D. Ottinger dropped out, and sped away to an 18-second victory margin in Saturday's season - opening NASCAR Late Model Sportsman race.

Baldwin took the lead for the first time, after 51 of the 72 laps, from James Sanderson of Las Vegas, who finished second.

The 300-kilometer event was the scene-setter for today's $150,000 Western 500 Grand National stock car race.

Ottinger led the race, except after his regular pit stops, until the 49th circuit around the 2.66-mile Riverside International Raceway road course.

Earlier Saturday, Benny Parsons, who was unable to qualify Friday for one of the top 25 positions, averaged 110.891 miles per hour to lead time trials for the final 10 spots in the field.

San Dimas honors team

The San Dimas High Boosters Club will honor Coach Bob Baiz and his Hacienda League football champions at a dinner on Monday, Jan. 24, at the San Dimas Canyon Golf Course.

Coach Claude Gilbert of San Diego State will be the head speaker.

Under Baiz, San Dimas compiled an 11-2 record in advancing to the CIF 2A semifinals before losing to eventual champion Antelope Valley.

The dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m. Additional information is available by calling Tom Nuss at 623-6811, extension 227 or 228.

Montreal blanks slumping Kings

MONTREAL (AP) — Steve Shutt scored his 34th goal of the season to open the scoring and goalie Michel Larocque cruised to his third shutout of the season Saturday night as the Montreal Canadiens embarrassed the Los Angeles Kings 6-0 in a National Hockey League game.

Shutt tallied after just 1:24 of what was to be a long night for Kings' netminder Rogatien Vachon. Vachon faced 46 Montreal shots while the Kings managed just 15 at Larocque, who shut out the Kings 2-0 in the teams' last meeting on Dec. 20.

Guy Lapointe, Murray Wilson, Rejean Houle and Mario Tremblay scored goals in the second period, and Pete Mahovlich completed the rout with a third-period goal.

USF Dons win 19th

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Cartwright and Marlon Redmond scored four points apiece for top-ranked San Francisco late in the first half as the Dons pulled away from a well-disciplined Los Angeles Loyola team en route to a 90-63 West Coast Athletic Conference victory.

Cartwright, the 6-foot-11 sophomore center, and forward Redmond each finished with 22 points in the victory which made the Dons' record 19-0, the best in college basketball. Loyola fell to 8-6.

The Lions waited for good shots, played a tough zone defense and stayed with USF through the first 15 minutes of play, leading three times by two-point margins as forward David Knox scored eight early points.

A jump shot by Loyola's Vince Morelli with 5:01 left in the opening half tied the score at 22-22, but Cartwright and Redmond then led the USF spurt which sent the Dons into a 34-22 lead. It was 34-24 at halftime, and USF put the game away by outscoring the Lions 16-1 in a short stretch early in the last half.

Loyola center Eric Claus led his team in scoring, with 18 points, and Knox added 16.

San Francisco leads the WCAC with a 4-0 record.

Rockets soar past Lakers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets, led by Calvin Murphy's 30 points, came from behind in the fourth quarter, scoring 14 points in last three minutes, to defeat the Los Angels Lakers 122-116 in a National Basketball Association game Saturday night.

The Lakers, who had won four road games in a row, scored 11 consecutive points midway through the fourth quarter to take a 104-102 lead with 5:38 to play.

Kevin Kunnert tied the game at 110-all with 2:54 to play. And the Rockets scored six more points in a row—the final two on Mike Newlin's jumper with a minute left to give Houston a 116-110 lead.

Newlin finished the game with 24 points while Kunnert added 23.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar paced the Lakers with 28 with Cazzie Russell pumping in 27.

Laker guard Don Chaney sat out the game with a foot injury.

Stag cagers hot in 'Supertent'

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
PB Correspondent

The Claremont-Mudd Stags used double figure scoring from all five starters to put away a La Verne College team 83-71, Saturday night at the La Verne Supertent.

Stu Duvall, former Upland High star, led the Stags with 18 points, 14 in the second half. The rest of the CMC team had as follows; Ron Kasdorf 17, Bob Smith 16, Mark Sunderland 15 and Dan Butterfield with 11. If a coach wants balanced scoring, he couldn't ask for a finer example.

CMC had to battle all the way to the end of the ball game as the Leos stayed to within two points most of the game, but hit one cold streak with five minutes to play. La Verne was outscored 8-0 and that was all the Stags needed.

Michael Sharp led all scorers with 22 points, scoring 11 in each half for the Leos. Michael Winze and Jon Russ came off the La Verne bench to chip in 14 and 12 points respectively.

CMC jumped out to an early lead in the opening moments of the first half, but the Leos fought back to tie and then go ahead for the only time in the game, 34-32 with 15 seconds left, but a Smith lay-up sent both times into the locker room tied at 34.

The Stags came out shooting in the second half, hitting 24 shot from the floor in 32 attempts for a 75 percent figure. La Verne on the other hand hit only 18 of 36 for 50 percent.

CMC came out in the second half with a four-man offensive rotation that baffled the Leos and gave DuVall four quick baskets.

Hector LaMarque hit two quick shots to begin a La Verne comeback, and then Russ hit a long "bomb" to cut the margin to two, 42-40. Kasdorf and Smith then both scored on Claremont fast breaks, followed by two quick buckets by Russ.

The game see-sawed back and forth, the Stags never losing the lead, but then again never really getting any breathing space until approximately the five minute mark.

Butterfield hit three unanswered baskets in a row, with a steal by John Daniels and then a fine pass to Sunderland, and CMC was up by 10, a lead they never were to lose.

The victory puts Claremont all alone in third place in the SCIAC behind Whittier and Occidental. The Stags have a 3-1 league mark, while the Leos slipped to 2-2, a game and a half behind the front running Poets of Whittier.

Lakers hire chief scout

LOS ANGELES — Jerry Krause, whose discerning eye for college basketball talent has been responsible for the drafting of 10 per cent of the players who are currently performing in the National Basketball Association, has been named chief scout of the Los Angeles Lakers.

The 37-year-old Krause has spent 13 seasons as a Director of Scouting in the NBA, and the five teams for which he has worked have more than reaped the benefits of his scouting judgment. In all, 27 of the players that he has recommended are still playing in the NBA.

Krause, a native of Chicago, graduated from Bradley University in 1961 and the next year began his scouting career with the Baltimore Bullets. He spent five years with the team as Director of Scouting and in that time the Bullet's draft selections included Earl Monroe, Wes Unseld and Jerry Sloan.

From 1967 to 1969 he held a similar position with the Chicago Bulls and was instrumental in the drafting of Norm Van Lier and Clifford Ray. He then spent four years as Director of Scouting for the Phoenix Suns (Alvan Adams, Ricky Sobers and Don Buse), a year with the Philadelphia 76'ers (Terry Furlow), and last year headed up the college scouting for the Bulls, who selected Scott May, the second player drafted in the country.

S.D. Chargers raise prices

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The team with the poorest attendance in the National Football League raised the price of tickets

The price of general admission tickets for home games of the San Diego Chargers went from $4 to $5. The $7 seats went to $8.50, $8.50 ones to $10 and $13 tickets to $15.

The Chargers drew 259,952 local fans last year, a slight gain over 1975.

Mounties falter again

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

"We've had a real bad week," explained Mt. San Antonio College's Gene Victor after the Mounties absorbed their second straight South Coast Conference defeat on their homecourt.

Grossmont downed the Mounties, 75-61, Saturday night. But the Griffins were forced to fight off a late comeback by the Mounties before taking the contest by 14 points. MSAC had cut Grossmont's lead to six points (63-57) with 1:46 left in the contest.

Victor added, "This has been one of the worst weeks we've ever had. We just didn't play well in either game this week as every part of our game hurt us."

Grossmont quickly jumped off to a 15-0 lead thanks to a patient slow down type of scoring attack. The Griffins crisply passed the ball around the perimeter until a man was freed for an open high percentage shot.

MSAC could not solve the Griffins' sagging type of zone defense which dared the Mounties to bomb away from long range distances. A total of 13 turnovers also hurt the Mounties as they fell behind by 20 points at halftime.

Jim Love was the Mounties only serious scoring threat in the opening half as the Mounties could not get the ball inside the Grossmont defense. Love scored eight of his 12 points in first half action.

MSAC, which trailed 38-18 at halftime, began to peck away at the Griffins' huge margin. Bob Vigil and Dick Rockwell led the comeback which just fell short before Grossmont built its lead back up to 14 thanks to the Griffins' expert free throw shooting. Grossmont hit 19 of 22 Charity tosses.

"You don't expect to be ahead at halftime by 20 points and we didn't rebound or play defense as hard in the second half," noted Grossmont's Felix Rogers. "But the key was that when MSAC cut our lead to six we picked our game back up from where we had left off in the first half.

"I thought our defense was excellent tonight," added Rogers. "We've played a lot better offensively at times but we really respect MSAC as I think they have several talented ballplayers. We're just happy to win on their home court."

MSAC was able to bounce back as the Mounties cut off Grossmont's paths to the hoop. Early in the contest, Grossmont was using the backdoor play effectively on the Mounties. Once MSAC sealed off the backdoor, the Griffins were forced to hit from the outside. When the ball failed to go in the basket MSAC hit the boards ferociously which was something they had failed to do in the opening half of play.

Grossmont was paced by Ruben Ray (18 points and seven rebounds) and John Bobof with 23 points. Jim Jollett was the Griffins' top rebounder with 10 rebounds as Grossmont out rebounded MSAC, 42-27.

Vigil turned out to be the Mounties top scorer with 17 points. Vigil scored all 17 of his points in the second half of action. Rockwood also scored 13 of his 15 points in the second half.

MSAC now 0-2 in SCC play and 12-7 overall, returns to SCC play Wednesday night in a 7:30 contest at Cerritos.

Sports briefs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Racers on Saturday became the second World Hockey Association club in two nights to be threatened with extinction.

Club officials said they asked the players to accept at least a delay in pay at a team meeting Saturday afternoon. They said the club cannot meet current and past obligations.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Steve Jones strung together six straight strikes in his final game against Marshall Holman and won his first tournament on the Professional Bowlers Association tour Saturday.

Jones, a virtual unknown from Independence, Mo., came out a 244-210 winner over Holman, a PBA star from Medford, Ore. Jones trailed by 21 pins in the fourth frame before starting his string of strikes.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Wily veteran Bill Shoemaker kept his mount at the back of the pack for most of the race, then deftly guided Smasher through the jam and to a two-length victory Saturday in the $44,450 San Miguel Stakes at Santa Anita.

Smasher, second choice in the wagering, covered the sixfurlongs in 1:10 1-5 in the test for 3-year-olds Derby hopefuls. The winner returned $9.80, $5.40 and $2.10.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Margaret Court, making a new comeback attempt at age 34, stopped Virginia Wade in straight sets Saturday to move into the finals against Chris Evert in a $100,000 tennis tournament here.

The Australian mother of two beat the second-seeded British veteran 6-4, 7-6, taking the second-set tiebreaker 5-3.

Top-seeded Miss Evert downed Sue Barker 6-2, 6-4 and will meet Mrs. Court today with a $20,000 first-place check at stake.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — First baseman Willie Stargell has signed a contract to play his 15th season with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National League club announced.

Stargell, who joined the Pirates in 1962 after four years in the minor leagues, is the 18th-ranked all-time major league home run hitter with 388.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jane Blalock shook off a bogey when she went into the bunker on the 15th hole and settled down to shoot a one-under-par 71 and capture the Triple Crown Golf Tournament Saturday at Mission Hills Country Club in Rancho Mirage.

Withstanding pressure applied by Jan Stephenson with whom she was paired, and Donna Young, who played two holes ahead of her, Miss Blalock played steady golf to rack up consecutive championships in the two-day 36-hole tourney.

STANFORD (AP) — Baseball Hall of Fame member Vernon "Lefty" Gomez was awake, alert and "doing fine" Saturday after heart surgery two days earlier, Stanford Hospital officials said.

Gomez, 68, was listed in stable condition in the hospital's intensive care unit, said hospital spokesman Rich Johnson.

PHOENIX (AP) — Shirley Muldowney set a new world speed mark for AA fueled dragsters here Saturday during qualifying for the Winternationals at Beeline Dragway.

Miss Muldowney covered the quarter-mile in 5.78 seconds for a new speed mark of 252.10 miles an hour. She eclipsed the old mark of 250.69 m.p.h. held by Don Garlitz of Seffner, Fla.

Whittier nips 'Hens

Visiting Whittier College narrowly avoided an upset at the hands of Pomona-Pitzer Saturday night, as the Sagehens fell to the Poets 64-56.

Whittier, leading the SCIAC with a perfect 3-0 mark, had a rough time of it against the underdog 'Hens, now 0-4 in league.

Pomona-Pitzer closed to within three with three minutes left in the game, but then hit a cold spell and the Poets held on for the eight-point victory.

Pomona-Pitzer, now 3-12 on the year, lost its ninth straight game. Brandon Boyd led the locals with 17 points, Roger Washington adding 11 and Tom Fink eight, to go with a game-high 12 rebounds.

Whittier, now 10-4 on the season, was paced by Karl Simmons with 20 points. The Poets out-rebounded the 'Hens 48-42 and shot 47 percent from the floor to the hosts' 37 percent.

Chaffey upends Owls

Chaffey College unveiled its secret weapon Saturday night in a Mission Conference basketball contest, much to the displeasure of visiting Citrus.

The Panthers' Kevin Johnson, a midseason transfer from UC Riverside, ripped the nets for 36 36 points in pacing the hosts to a 95-83 win over the Owls.

Johnson did not start the game, and did not enter action until 10 minutes into the first half. By the time he had fouled out with two minutes remaining, he had accounted for 36 points, seven rebounds and five assists.

The win upped the Panther Mission mark to 1-2, while Citrus now holds the same conference record. Chaffey is now 3-16 on the year, while Citrus is 10-9.

Johnson had help from teammates Roger Gubichuk and LeRoy Fowler. Gubichuk scored 15 and Fowler 16. Chaffey led by as much as 17 (at 76-59) in the late going.

Citrus was led by forward Bill Rutz, who canned 19 points. Center Eric Childs added 17 in a losing effort.

Toronto sets sales mark

TORONTO (AP) — Three months before their first American League game, the Toronto Blue Jays have set a record.

The expansion club announced Wednesday it has passed the 7,100 mark in season ticket sales, becoming the most successful first-year club in major league baseball history.

The Kansas City Royals held the previous mark of 6,805, set in 1969 when they joined the American League.

Poly women blast UCSB

In a totally one-sided affair, the Cal Poly Pomona Broncos women's basketball team routed the UC Santa Barbara Gauchos, 72-25. The turnover totals reflect the type of game played Saturday night at Poly. The Broncos had 24 miscues to UCSB's 67!

The Bronco women moved their record up to 8-2, while the Gauchos are now 4-8. Cal Poly's mark in the Southern California Athletic Association (SCAA) is a perfect 2-0.

Barb Thaller led Poly in both scoring and rebounding. Thaller scored 13 points and pulled down nine boards to pace the squad. Teammates Linda Scheenstra (11) and Robbie Beyer (12) were the only other players in double figures.

UCSB did outrebound the Broncos, 56-44, but the main difference in the game was shots taken from the field. The Broncos made 24 of 85 attempts for 28 per cent, while the Gauchos canned just seven of 31 tries for a lowly 23 per cent.

Cal Poly scored 36 points in both halves. UCSB only scored eight points in the second stanza to give Poly the big win.

The Broncs will host Cal State Los Angeles on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the women's gym, prior to traveling to San Jose State (Friday) and San Francisco State (Saturday).

POURING IT ON — Howard Davis, Olympic Gold Medalist, sends opponent Jose Resto into a crouching coverup Saturday in Davis' pro ring debut in Las Vegas. Davis won decision.

Spinks, Davis win ring efforts

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Olympic gold medal winners Leon Spinks of St. Louis and Howard Davis of Glen Cove, N.Y., sparkled Saturday in their professional boxing debuts before a national television audience.

Spinks, 23, who won the Olympic light heavyweight title in Montreal, scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Lightning Bob Smith of New York City, and Davis scored an impressive unanimous decision over Jose Resto, also of New York City.

In the featured fight of the afternoon, California state heavyweight champion Howard Smith of Los Angeles picked himself up after a first-round knockdown at the Aladdin Hotel to pound out a unanimous decision over former Golden State champ Henry Clark of San Francisco.

Davis, 20, won every round on all three judges' cards. The classy former New York Golden Gloves champ was moving from start to finish in the six-round event, constantly flicking a stiff left jab into Resto's face.

After the fight, Davis, 134½, said he was not in the best condition he had ever been in, but it was good enough to go six rounds. In the sixth round, he showed that he has already learned endurance, dancing in the Muhammad Ali fashion all the way.

Davis said the biggest difference from the amateur ranks was pacing himself, adding that he never tried to take Resto out even though he tagged him at will. "I wanted to go six rounds for the work," Davis said, admitting that his opponent was never in trouble despite the pummeling.

"If he was, I was not aware of it," he said.

Resto, 135½, has a record of 12-58-7.

Spinks, 196, came out blazing and hurt Smith, 185, early. Spinks caught Smith a hard left-right combination at the bell to end the first round and staggered Smith.

Top-ranked teams victors

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Jack Givens sank three key baskets in the final six minutes Saturday and sparked second-ranked Kentucky to a 75-68 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over the Auburn Tigers.

Givens, who had a game-high 20 points and 13 rebounds, got the clutch points when the Wildcats slowed down their offense after leading 66-62 with 6:43 left in the game.

It was Kentucky's first victory at Auburn in the five years since Coach Joe B. Hall replaced Adolph Rupp as the Wildcat coach.

The victory was the third in four SEC outings for Kentucky, which was upset by Tennessee on its home court Wednesday night. Kentucky is 10-2 over-all.

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Fourth-ranked Alabama used an alert defense and a 21-point performance by Reginald King to edge Mississippi State 65-63 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game Saturday.

State opened a brief seven-point lead in the first half, but Alabama countered with a tenacious defensive press that forced key turnovers and ate away State's lead. Alabama built a six-point lead in the second half, but couldn't pull away.

State appeared to be ready to go back on top with four minutes left and King out of the game for Alabama. State narrowed the gap to just one point, and momentum seemed to have swung toward the home team for good.

But King returned and netted a three-point play off a four-corner offense that prevented State's defense from sagging on the big men in the middle.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Tommy LaGarde scored 22 points as fifth-ranked North Carolina withstood a late rally by the Duke Blue Devils to win its 11th straight basketball game 77-68

The Tar Heels are now 12-1 and 4-0 in Atlantic Coast Conference play. Duke is 10-3 and 0-2 in the ACC.

LaGarde, the UNC center, also pulled down 10 rebounds. He held highly-touted Duke freshman Mike Gminski to six rebounds and seven points.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Wayne Walls hit two free throws with 2:30 left in overtime Saturday to snap a 59-59 tie and Purdue's red hot Boilermakers held on to defeat previously undefeated and ninth-ranked Minnesota 66-64 in a Big Ten college basketball game.

It was the Boilermakers' 10th victory in their last 11 games and improved their conference mark to 4-0 and over-all record to 10-3. Minnesota is now 2-1 in league and 11-1 over-all.

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Rod Griffin's 22-foot jump shot with one second remaining in the game gave Wake Forest an 84-82 come-from-behind victory over Clemson in a regionally - televised Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game Saturday.

Griffin's basket gave the seventh-ranked Demon Deacons their only lead of the second half as Clemson led by as many as 13 points with 11:23 remaining.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Charles Draper sank two free throws with seven seconds left to give the University of Texas at El Paso a 60-59 upset victory over the 10th-ranked Arizona Wildcats Saturday.

Arizona, trailing 58-57, stalled the last 1:38 of play in an attempt to get off the last shot but the strategy backfired as Tom Pauling intercepted a pass intended for Bob Elliott with 10 seconds to play.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Phil Hubbard scored 20 points and sophomore forward Joel Thompson pumped in 18 to give the sixth-ranked Michigan Wolverines an 83-70 victory over Big Ten opponent Michigan State Saturday night.

The Wolverines grabbed a 42-22 lead in the first half, scoring 23 points during a seven-minute stretch while the Spartans managed just two field goals.

Lietzke holds Tucson lead

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, a newcomer to the lead and seeking his first tour title, couldn't resist an anxious look over his shoulder.

"There are some awful good players right behind me and they're not going to hand me this tournament," the 25-year-old tour sophomore said Saturday after his solid, two-under-par 70 had expanded his lead to two shots in the third round of the $200,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm going to have to go out and play good golf tomorrow," he said. "I cannot play conservatively. I have to make some birdies."

And he had good reason to be apprehensive. Lurking just behind him was a tested quartet of veterans—Billy Casper, Gene Littler, Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody—who have a combined total of 84 tour titles, including three U.S. Opens and an equal number of Masters crowns.

"Us old, gray-haired guys can still sneak in there from time to time," said the delighted Casper, who once had a share of the lead but had later scored a double bogey and had to settle for a share of second at 208, two strokes back of Lietzke's leading 10-under-par total for three trips over the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course.

"It's nice to be able to still compete with the young guys," Casper said.

"I made four good putts on the last four holes, but I'd like to play just about that much better tomorrow," said the 46-year-old Littler, holding a thumb and forefinger about one-quarter of an inch apart.

He had a 70 and was tied with Casper and Dr. Gil Morgan for the No. 2 spot. Morgan was only one stroke back when the national television cameras ended their coverage for the day, but bogeyed the last hole for a 71 that left him two behind.

Johnny Miller, the current British Open king and the winner of the last three Tucson tournaments, made double bogey six on the first hole he played, had a four-putt double bogey on his third and apparently lost any chance he had of scoring a rare, fourth consecutive title. He rallied with a 32 on his back nine and finished with a 71-215, nine shots back and trailing 42 players.

Fighting Saints fold; will disperse team

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The folding of the Minnesota Fighting Saints franchise and the dispersal of the team's players will be the top priority item before the World Hockey Association's Board of Trustees here as it gathers for meetings Tuesday.

The Minnesota franchise, which was moved from Cleveland before the 1976-77 season began, has folded, according to New England Wahlers Managing General Partner Howard Baldwin. "Oh yeah. They're through," Baldwin said. But there remains a controversy over the future of the team's players and an uneasy situation regarding Tuesday's All-Star game.

Before the Fighting Saints announced Friday night that they were suspending operation for two games, they revealed the sale of seven of their top players to the Edmonton Oilers. Among them were center Dave Keon and goalie Lou Levasseur, who had been named to the East Division all-stars.

Their sale to Edmonton would put them in the West Division, however, leaving East Division Coach Jacques Demers two players short for Tuesday night's All-Star game. Demers, who coaches the Indianapolis Racers said Saturday he might replace Levasseur with his own goalie, Michel Dion.

That situation will be clarified Tuesday, however, when the Board of Trustees meets here to decide the legality of Minnesota's controversial sale of its seven players. The others sold were defenseman Bill Butters and forwards John McKenzie, Mike Antonovich, and Steve and Jack Carlson. But neither WHA Chief Executive Ben Hatskin nor league President Bill MacFarland has approved the deal.

The Whalers have protested the sale, claiming that after Edmonton purchased the athletes, they had asked New England if it was interested in the Carlson brothers. Baldwin claims that after the Whalers agreed to deal for the Carlsons, the Oilers renegged on their part of the transaction.

Associated Press sources have said that Whalers forward George Lyle was one of the players headed for Edmonton in exchange for the Carlsons and Butters.

Chino youths make SCMAF C-C finals

The Chino Recreation Department and the City of Chino recently qualified 10 youths for the Southern California Municipal Athletic Federation cross-country finals, to be held Saturday, Jan. 22 at Lakewood.

Margaret McLeod, running only her second competitive race, took a first-place in the 14-year old age bracket two-mile race. Roberta Marciel took a second in the 10-year olds' three-quarter mile race.

Thirds were won by Theodoro Cortez in the seven-year olds' one-half mile, and by Jeff Toll in the nine-year olds' one-half mile.

Other results saw Gina Medina win a fourth in the 11-year olds' one-mile, in only her second race ever, Laura Jones finish sixth in the same race, Karol Kord nabbing an eighth in the same event.

Four Chino youngsters took home seventh place finishes. They were Gilbert "Luke" McLeod in the eight-year olds' one-half mile, Mary Lara in the nine-year olds' one-half mile, Richard Cauwels in the nine-year olds' one-half mile (boys division), and Jon Fujiwara.

The above ten will all be in action at the SCMAF finals at Lakewood on the 22nd.

Sign-ups set in San Dimas

Signups for the San Dimas Little League will be accepted Saturday, Jan. 22 and the following Saturday, Jan. 29.

Registration is at Marchant Park at the intersection of Juanita and Delancey from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All prospective players, boys and girls ages 8-12, must register. They should be accompanied by a parent or guardian and have a legal birth certificate to establish proof of age.

Tee to Cup

It's Tour time for President

By PHIL ROCHE

The President is joining the golf tour. That's right. When President Ford retires from office Thursday, he'll join the pros and amateurs in a number of pro-ams.

He is scheduled to play in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am this week, the Bob Hope Desert Classic, the Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic and the Byron Nelson tournament.

The Gleason and Nelson events will be one-day affairs for the then ex-President. He is scheduled to compete for four days with a number of pro partners in the Hope Classic, a possible future home for the Fords.

Ford will skip the first round of the Big Crosby event, but he'll play the next three days with Arnold Palmer.

Long-hitting Jimmy Powell, head pro at Via Verde C.C., will play in the qualifying round of the Andy Williams San Diego Open on Monday, Jan. 24 at either Whispering Palms or Lomas Santa Fe courses.

Powell, who still holds the all-time scoring record for the AWSDO at 64 , earned his way into the final qualifying by finishing seventh in the pre-qualifying earlier this month at Stardust C.C. in San Diego.

He had previously been exempt from qualifying because he was Southland PGA champ. In 1975 Powell won the Vardon Cup as Club Professional of the Year.

Powell was red hot in 1968 when he opened the tourney with a superb 64. He closed with two 69s but had a 76 in the second round. He finished sixth that year, winning $5,700.

This year's event will be held at Torrey Pines from Jan. 26-30.

The Women's golf club at Mountain Meadows is now organizing, according to Darlene Jones, the 1977 president.

Golf day is Thursday each week with first tee-offs set for 8:30 a.m. Every woman golfer is welcome. For more information, a quick call to 629-1368 will do.

Dues per year are $15. Other new officers announced this week are: tournament chairman, Laseeta Hieb; secretary, Mary Jean Graham; treasurer, Alberta Pate; and handicap chairman, Pat Jones.

Then if you're ready to play Thursday, girls, just shoot out to Mountain Meadows.

The first tournament for the newly formed Professional American Golf Tour, Inc. will be played at California C.C. from Feb. 1-4.

Proceeds from the tournament will go to the Bob Rope Cancer Foundation, according to Bill Bryant, owner and manager of the club.

Daily admission tickets are $2, and tournament tickets are priced at $5.

For further information, call Bill Bryant at 333-4571.

A pro-am event will precede the regular tournament. Persons wishing to play can send the entry fee of $100 to American Golf Tour, Inc., California C.C., Whittier, Calif The pro-am is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Via Verde C.C. will host the 6th annual Dodger Day event Wednesday. The tournament will be a shotgun with the starting time set for 11 a.m. Players will be members of the Dodger organization and guests.

Arnold Palmer plans to build a second course at Ironwood C.C., but this one will be less challenging than the 7,200 yard course he constructed several years ago.

Play on the first nine of the 6,000-plus yards North Course will begin in the fall.

Winners in the Dub Rundle member/member event recently at Red Hill were Al Colebank, Nils Stamp, Bob Grant and Tip Cochran. One stroke behind was the foursome of Ken Parkin, Bill Sharp, Maurice O'Connor and Orv Ferry.

Jim Jones, new football coach at Cal Poly, Pomona, is some shakes as a golf coach too. He turned out Sierra League champs, co-champs, and runnersup every year he coached, all six of them.

Jackie Gleason, Andy Williams, Jack Lemmon and Merlin Olsen are among the headliners who will join Bob Hope in the star-packed celebrity field for the 18th annual Bob Hope Desert Classic set for Feb. -9-13 at Bermuda Dunes, Indian Wells, La Quinta and Tamarisk country clubs.

Gleason returns to the Classic for another of his famous duels with Bob Hope, as does comedian Flip Wilson.

Seven prominent young quarterbacks, including two who led their teams to division playoffs, will compete in the 11th annual American Airlines Golf Classic Jan. 28-30, announced tournament chairman Randall Malin.

Bert Jones of the Baltimore Colts and Steve Grogan of the New England Patriots who quarterbacked their teams to the American Football Conference playoffs, will join Ken Anderson, Cincinnati Bengals; Joe Ferguson, Buffalo Bills; Dan Fouts, San Diego Chargers; Bob Avellini, Chicago Bears, and Dan Pastorini, Houston Oilers, in the 54-hole event at McCormick Ranch C.C. near Scottsdale.

One football and baseball star are paired in the betterball competition. First prize is $10,000, which the winning team splits.

Southland golfers will have a chance to win $200 in merchandise from their local pro shops in the annual Hole-in-one contest sponsored by the L.A. Junior Chamber of Commerce Jan. 22-23.

For $1 entry fees, golfers will compete on a selected par 3 at 26 courses.

Willie Barber, three-time U.S. National Senior champ, will be honored at Los Coyotes C.C. in Buena Park on Feb. 14 with a special pro-am celebrity tourney and dinner.

Entry fee for "Willie Barber Day" is $50 for pros and $35 for amateurs. Pros will play for a purse, and amateurs will play for prizes.

Information may be obtained by calling 714-752-1669.

NFL's Pro Bowl set for Monday

SEATTLE (AP) — The National Conference, hiding its collective face over recent performances in the Super Bowl, can hold its head up high again. It's Pro Bowl time.

Just as the American Conference has dominated the National Football League championship of late by taking the last five games, the NFC has taken the last two Pro Bowls.

Both triumphs in the annual all star meetings were orchestrated by Chuck Knox, coach of the Los Angeles Rams. He will be in charge again Monday night in the Kingdome, where an expected sellout crowd of 65,000 will be on hand for the 6 p.m. PST kickoff for the nationally televised (ABC) game.

Knox doesn't seem to mind being a coach on what is considered by some fans (and perhaps some players, too) so anticlimactic a game coming as it does on the heels of the season's most important one.

"If we can't be in the Super Bowl, this is the next best thing," Knox insists. "I'd rather be second than 28th."

On the opposite coaching line will be Chuck Noll, who would much rather have been coaching Pittsburgh in the NFL title game. But the Steelers, two-time champions, were knocked out of the Super Bowl running by Oakland, losing the AFC title game 24-7 to the Raiders only a few hours after Knox' Rams were beaten 24-13 by the Minnesota Vikings in the NFC title game.

It is Noll's second appearance as an AFC Pro Bowl coach. The other time came four years ago when Buffalo's O. J. Simpson rushed for 112 yards and caught three passes for 58 more to help the Americans overcome John Brockington's three TD dives and beat the Nationals 33-28.

The AFC also won the next year, 15-13 on Miami place kicker Garo Yepremian's five field goals. Since then, though, Knox' NFC teams have evened the series at 3-3. In 1975 the Nationals won 17-10 when James Harris of the Rams threw scoring passes to Mel Gray and Charley Taylor less than 1½ minutes apart in the final period. And last year in New Orleans' Superdome, Mike Boryla of Philadelphia, a late substitution on the NFC roster, entered the game with 5:39 to play and threw TD strikes to Terry Metcalf and Gray for a 23-20 triumph.

As usual, some of the players picked for this all star contest withdraw from it, claiming injury. This year, four from the NFC and two from the AFC are going that route. They include the two Super Bowl quarterbacks, Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton and Oakland's Ken Stabler. Jim Hart of St. Louis and Ken Anderson of Cincinnati are their replacements, backing up Dallas' Roger Staubach and Baltimore's Bert Jones.

Assembly charted in Los Angeles

The 43rd annual state assembly of Church Women United will be held Friday at the new Bonaventure Hotel in Los Angeles.

Dr. Barbara White and Dr. Margaret Wold will be speakers, and Mrs. Ruth Segerhammar will present a newly released film on International Mission. Vocalist will be Mrs. Marion Downs Smith.

Program on Israel open to community

Husbands of members and all residents of the community may attend a meeting Wednesday of Sharon Chapter of Hadassah.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of Upland Lumber Company, 85 N. Euclid Ave., Upland.

Reflections on recent trips to Israel will be presented by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Rebhun and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Phillips. The latter couple was in Israel during the rescue mission from Entebbe and were present during the Bicentennial Memorial Park dedication near Jerusalem.

The Rebhuns have made six trips to Israel and Dr. Rebhun will deliver his impressions of the present state of medicine there. The program will be presented in panel form and slides will be shown.

Coffee and dessert will be served.

Department conclave scheduled

The American Gold Star Mothers Department of California, Arizona and Nevada has scheduled a two-day meeting at the Indian Hill Inn in Claremont beginning Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen Stuber of Fountain Valley, department president, will preside at the meetings. Approximately 75 women will represent the 1,728 members in the area.

The Gold Star Mothers group is open to any mother who lost a son or daughter while serving in the Armed Forces. Gold Star Mothers was organized 49 years ago and maintains the Gold Star Manor, a residence in Long Beach for members and their husbands.

Foot comfort

It's a good idea to keep an old, comfortable pair of shoes on hand at the office to change to when you're breaking in a new pair.

Executives' Secretaries

Schedule installation

Executives, representatives and guests of the Pomona Valley Chapter, Executives' Secretaries Inc., will gather Jan. 27 at Red Hill Country Club in Cucamonga for the annual installation of officers. The reception hour at 6:30 p.m. will precede the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Mrs. Priscilla Lerma will be installed as the 26th president. She is representative for member firm Lampman and Associates of Pomona.

Mrs. Dyer Huston, past president of Pomona Valley Chapter of ESI and associate representative for Lampman and Associates, will install the 1977 officers and directors.

Other officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Peter Scalia of Nichols, Stead, Boileau & Lamb, vice president; Mrs. John Shoemaker of Progress Bulletin, secretary; Mrs. Robert Hagelbarger of Wagenseller & Durst, Inc., treasurer; Mrs. Robert Marshall of Southern Service Company, sergeant-at-arms.

Directors of the executive board to be installed are Mrs. Mary Wenker of Vortox Company, membership; Mrs. Ronald Hobson of Calsol, Inc., publication; Mrs. Doug Peterson of Foothill Beverage Co., program; and Mrs. Ronald Spear of Prudential Insurance Company of America, ways and means.

PRISCILLA LERMA

The invocation will be given by Peter Scalia of Prudential Insurance Company, with Gerald Taylor, president of Lampman and Associates, leading the pledge of allegiance.

The Night Blooming Jazzmen, under the direction of Chet Jaeger, will provide the group with a music program.

Mrs. Richard Soper, membership director, will introduce the following new member firms and their respective representatives: Mrs. Venda Elliot, Aropres; Mrs. Janette Kunz, Kunz & Co.; Miss Carmel Ladner, McCoy's Feed; and new representative for La Verne College, Mrs. Clara Craft.

Executives' Secretaries is a unique business organization. Founded in 1938 in San Francisco, it is comprised of non-competitive leading business firms and members with the top-ranking woman in the firm as the company's representative in the chapter. There are currently 68 chapters in the international organization.

Mrs. Suzanne Shoemaker of the Progress Bulletin is arranging all members' reservations.

Special dinner planned

Each year the American Baptist Women of the Pacific Southwest Region have a series of special projects for which they raise money. Projects this year include: "Water Without Walking," support of Jaime Oropeza missionary at Baja, assistance to the education of Emerson Tootsie, pastor at Middle Verde, Ariz., personal gift for Mrs. Tootsie and equipment for the Personal Care Wing at Atherton Baptist Home.

Today, at 5:30, First Baptist Church of Claremont will have a special projects dinner in the Fellowship Hall to acquaint the congregation with the regional goals and to receive a free will offering.

This will be the first potluck dinner of the new year. It is open to all church members, their families and friends. Nursery care will be available.

PEO units schedule activities

Two chapters of PEO Sisterhood will meet this week.

Mrs. Gordon Pheley will entertain Chapter CS at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, in her home at 650 W. Harrison, Claremont.

Cohostesses will be Mrs. Dorothy Weeks, Mrs. Dorcas Turner and Mrs. Laura Butters.

Shirley Heckman and "A Special Company" will present the program.

Members of Chapter O, PEO Sisterhood, will meet at 11 a.m., Thursday, in the home of Mrs. Harold Roe, 1822 Westwood Place, Pomona.

Assisting hostesses for the noon luncheon will be Mrs. Donald Moehring, Mrs. William Bergman, Walter Fuhrman and Lewis Wright.

The program, "Open Door to History," will be presented by Mrs. Vere Farmer.

DAR unit arranges gathering

When the Pomona Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution meets at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Mrs. William Cox will review the work that goes into compiling the Pomona centennial history book. She is a member of the committee compiling the history.

The group will meet in her home at 565 E. Arrow Highway, Pomona. Cohostesses will be Mrs. Myron Beck and Mrs. Mildred Wren.

Meeting planned in Chino

The Ontario Legal Secretaries Association will meet for dinner at Centro Basco Restaurant in Chino at 7 p.m., Wednesday. A social hour is scheduled at 6:30 p.m.

Don Driftmeyer will discuss the new tax reform act.

Reservations may be made by calling Joy Teeple, 986-1134.

The coffee pot

The first silver coffee pot appeared in England in 1681. Coffee had earlier been introduced but was considered a harmful drug, capable of turning men into "apes and pygmies." After coffee became accepted, it was served from a pot similar to a tea pot and only ten inches high. At first, the handle was opposite the spout, then it was moved at right angles to the spout, the spout became curved, the pot octagonal and finally, a tapering cylindrical shape.

Reciprocity luncheon set by clubwomen

San Dimas Woman's Club will entertain the presidents of the San Gabriel Valley District of California Federation of Women's Clubs at a noon luncheon Thursday in the Stanley W. Plummer Community Building.

Palmer Gordon Brown will be the speaker. He will discuss "Ten Exciting Moments in California History." Mr. Brown is curator of the California books of the Los Angeles County library system, oral history librarian and war collections curator. He evaluates some 2,000 new books a year in these fields.

Mr. Brown has appeared before many groups. He was educated in seven colleges and universities and has been honored by "Who's Who in American Education," "Who's Who in California" and by other organizations.

Cohostesses for the day will be Mrs. George Caswell and Mrs. W. H. Joles. Devotions will be given by Mrs. Larry Dean and the flag salute will be led by Mrs. Milton J. Harrison.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. M. C. Peterson, 599-3583, or Mrs. Gustav Stankov, 599-4454, by 5 p.m., Monday.

Joyce Brothers

Keep head in crisis

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: A fire broke out in a restaurant where we were eating dinner and my boyfriend panicked. I didn't. He was too embarrassed to talk about it and didn't call me for 10 days. Then I finally broke the silence by calling him. His reaction didn't bother me. For some reason, I seem to function well in a crisis. I just don't lose my head. I don't look on it as a virtue, but I would like to know why I'm not thrown by emergencies. — T.P.

Dear T.P.: There are basically two responses to fear — fight or flight. Dr. Anne Phillips, vice president of the Fire, Smoke and Burn Foundation of Boston, has added another: denial of the potential danger.

Those who deny the possibility of danger actually slow down plans for prevention and protection by their attitude. Even at the actual crisis level some people simply fail to accept and face the danger.

All of us, in an emergency, will be 100 per cent ineffective for an instant. Then about 25 per cent quickly size up the situation, control their fear and react rationally. About 50 per cent perceive the situation adequately. They're more conscious of their fear than the first group, and are able to respond to the commands of others but probably won't be able to take action on their own. The next 15 to 25 per cent will be so frightened, that it will be tough to get them to act at all.

One way people can learn to be more effective in a crisis is by anticipating crises before they happen and planning the best action to insure safety for themselves and others. Help your friend not to be ashamed of fear. If he admits and then tries to learn to cope, he can probably overcome it. Also, reassure him that fearlessness has nothing to do with manliness.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My 10-year-old son has been getting bad grades and he is capable of better work. His only interest seems to be play. He has a wonderful sense of humor, is full of laughter, and has more friends than any other child on our block. This may be his problem. My husband is determined our son will be a doctor so he worries about grades and I.Q. He has said he wished the boy had more brain and less humor.—F.P.

Dear F.P.: When a bright child does less than his best in school, he may be reacting to too much parental pressure. It may be his way of saying, "Let me be myself. Don't force me into a profession you wish you could have had."

You and your husband should let your son discover his own talents and interests.

The fact that your son has so many friends indicates that he is well adjusted and has learned the very important lesson of how to understand and get along with others. His good sense of humor indicates that he probably doesn't repress his emotions. This is healthy. Persons who can't appreciate humor tend to swallow their anger and keep their emotions under wraps rather than giving them free expression.

In sense-of-humor tests at the University of Massachusetts, persons who made the best scores had the best insight into their own personalities. Remember, this is a creative asset. Talk to your son about his grades, but be glad he has a sense of humor.

By Crowell-Leventhal

Sales scored in Alta Loma

Thirty-five sales were recorded in the first three days following the opening of Crowell/Leventhal's The Ranch, Phase III in Alta Loma.

"We avoided the lotteries or waiting lines by taking reservations," said Meretta Brown, Walker & Lee's representative, sales agent for Crowell-Leventhal.

"Mr. Crowell, president of Crowell/Leventhal is adamantly against such techniques. He prefers more personal relationships with his customers," said Ms. Brown.

Six floor plans are offered at The Ranch, ranging in size from the 3 bedroom 2 bath, 3 car garage Thoroughbred model to several huge 2 story, 4 bedroom 2½ bath, 3 car garage models. Prices start at $54,450 up to $61,950 for the Sundowner model.

Each home at The Ranch is built on a beautiful 20,000 sq. ft. lot nestled among trees and interwoven with bridal paths. Mountains and green belt views are featured throughout the development.

Individual homes within the community offer such amenities as wood burning fireplaces with hearths, sloped or cathedral ceilings, walk-in closets, ceramic tile entries, formal dining rooms, vanity dressing areas and washer/dryer areas.

Sunny country kitchens contain custom cabinetry, built-in ovens, ranges, dishwashers, disposals and ceramic tile countertops.

To reach the sales office and models of the Ranch Phase III take Carnelian north to Banyan. Models are located at 6085 Napa Street.

LEWIS HOMES—ETIWANDA

In Etiwanda development

Lewis cites savings

"A penny saved is a dollar earned," is the way the saying goes.

"Make that read hundreds of dollars instead of pennies and you can see how much one can save by acting quickly in buying a home," observes a building company official, Roger G. Lewis. "The trick is to step in and clinch the deal on a home just before it's due to go up in price."

Lewis, a vice president of Lewis Homes, cited his firm's Highlands community in Etiwanda to illustrate his point. Only 15 homes in the initial phase of the development remain for purchase, priced from $33,750.

A second unit of Highlands residences is scheduled for early construction but will be somewhat higher priced, Lewis stated. "They will have to be. We're making every effort to keep prices in line, but advancing construction costs will force us to impose some price increases on the second group."

The single family homes of The Highlands center at Rochester Avenue and Church Street in Etiwanda. They may be reached from the San Bernardino Freeway by exiting at Haven Avenue (at the Ontario Motor Speedway). From there the route is north to Foothill Boulevard, east (right) 1¾ miles to Rochester Avenue and north (left) to the models.

The homes are three and four bedroom in design. Interior amenities include walk-in closets, kitchen pantries and ash cupboard cabinets, as well as window drapes and various areas of wall-to-wall carpeting.

Kitchens feature a continuous cleaning oven, range and dishwasher.

The homes are obtainable on VA, FHA and conventional terms. Display models are being shown daily from 10 a.m. until dusk.

Century 21 meets in Vegas

LAS VEGAS — More than 7,150 affiliated Century 21 brokers, salespeople and regional directors and their staffs from across the United States and Canada attended the Century 21 Fourth Annual Convention held in Las Vegas Jan. 4-7.

The theme, "People Power," designed to depict the enormous advantages an affiliated Century 21 office can offer to the buying and selling public, was borne out by the attendance at the convention. Most persons in attendance came from the more than 3,000 member Century 21 offices from coast to coast and Canada.

They were housed in four major hotels — the MGM Grand, the Las Vegas Hilton, the Aladdin Hotel and Caesars Palace — and met in the massive South Hall of the Las Vegas Convention Center. Additionally, the Aladdin Theatre for the Performing Arts, the Las Vegas Hilton Ballroom, the Grand Ballroom of the MGM Grand and the Caesars Palace Ballroom served as meeting places for various seminars throughout the convention.

Art Bartlett, president of Century 21, delivered the keynote address on the opening day of the convention. Bartlett, noting that Feb. 12, 1977, will mark the fifth anniversary of Century 21, listed achievements that Century 21 has accomplished in less than five years:

Among the achievements noted were:

—Nearly $13 billion in annual gross sales by members of Century 21 in 1976.

—More than 3,100 offices and 30,000 salespeople affiliated with Century 21 as of the end of 1976.

—More than a quarter of a million real estate transactions in 1976 by members of Century 21.

—Century 21 mass media advertising makes more than 335 million impressions per month.

Bartlett mentioned many other achievements of Century 21 and pointed out that they are all a result of "People Power."

"In fact," he said, "this very convention is an exercise in people power. It's the ability of our people, brokers and salespeople, to serve the buying and selling public in the most professional manner possible."

Before concluding his address, Bartlett said that Century 21 projects 4,500 member offices by the end of 1977, and 7,000 by 1980, with continued international expansion.

House industry forecasts good

Forecasters for the housing industry today predicted a reasonable good year for housing production in 1977, with consumer demand remaining high, mortgage money in good supply, and mortgage loan rates stable at least through the first half of the year.

The most optimistic of the housing seers appearing on a panel sponsored by the National Council for the Housing Industry at the National Housing Center was William Smolkin, New Orleans-based housing consultant. He forsaw actual starts for 1977 as being 1.9 million units.

Smolkin was especially high on the prospects for multifamily construction, predicting some 400,000 apartment starts next year. Among the reasons for improved outlook for this sector, he mentioned the following:

—Rents and costs are "moving in the right direction".

—Cautious return of mortgage lenders to the apartment market is being noted.

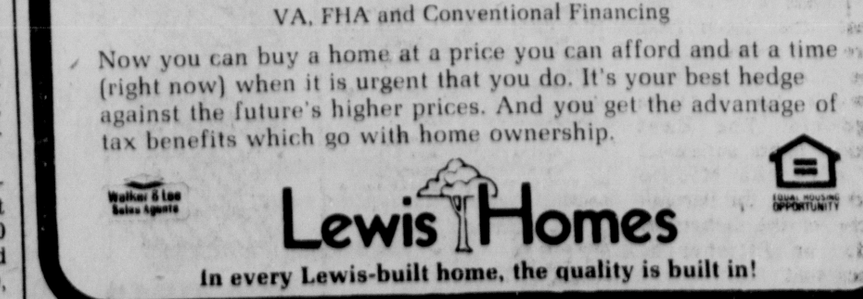
If you think you've been priced out of the market... think again!

Now you can own a single-family home filled with luxuries — at a price you'd expect to pay for just the bare walls. Two attractive communities. Both great buys. Lewis Homes-Alta Loma and The Highlands by Lewis Homes.



from $42,000

Lewis Homes Alta Loma

On 7200 sq. ft. lots, 3 & 4 bedrooms, family room, 2 baths (one with stall shower, one with tub & shower.) Woodburning fireplaces, window drapes, wall-to-wall carpet in living room, family room and all bedrooms, continuous cleaning oven, range, dishwasher, disposal. Front yard seeding.

San Bernardino Frwy. to Haven Ave. (at Ontario Motor Speedway). North on Haven ½ mile beyond Foothill Blvd. to Church St., then left one block.

(714) 987-9494

from $33,750

Lewis Homes The Highlands

ETIWANDA

Single-family homes with a space for everything. 3 & 4 bedrooms. Walk-in wardrobe closets. Kitchen pantries. Ash cabinets. Drapes, carpeted living dining rooms and master bedrooms, continuous cleaning oven, range, dishwasher, disposal.

From the San Bernardino Frwy., exit at Haven Ave. (Ontario Motor Speedway), go north to Foothill Blvd., east (right) 1¾ miles to Rochester Ave., then north (left) to Church St.

(714) 987-0600

VA, FHA and Conventional Financing

Now you can buy a home at a price you can afford and at a time (right now) when it is urgent that you do. It's your best hedge against the future's higher prices. And you get the advantage of tax benefits which go with home ownership.

Japanese folk remedy

Quit-smoking tea helps kick habit

TOKYO (AP) — Some heavy smokers in Japan say they have kicked the habit by drinking "quit-smoking tea." Doctors and health authorities shrug it off as another folk remedy.

The brown-colored liquid, a little more bitter-tasting than ordinary black tea, has sold about 1,000 packs a month since last September, according to the Kaiyo-Bokujo company, which distributes the tea nationwide.

Kinen-cha translates literally as "quit-smoking tea" and is said to make cigarettes taste bad and help smokers give them up.

The popularity of the beverage shot up after a monthly health magazine featured the tea made from roasted, dried tea leaves in its June issue.

Harumichi Iguchi, a spokesman for the company, head-quartered in Shizuoka, central Japan, said the tea was first taken to his company president, Toshiro Kaneko, by a Japanese woman, Itsuko Kawase, who asked for testing and possible distribution.

The woman, a 32-year-old tea trader, told him she had been given a handful of the tea leaves by a Chinese friend, who had brought it from a mountainous region of Kunming, southern China, in the spring of 1976.

Subsequent tests, involving more than 1,000 smokers, have shown that four out of every 10 smokers who have tried the tea have become non-smokers and others have been able to cut their smoking by 30 to 80 per cent, he claimed.

"We still don't know exactly what brings about the so-called quit-smoking effect, but tests so far have showed no sign of ill effects. So we decided to go into market," he said.

Each pact contains six 20-gram tea bags and costs the equivalent of $10. Two to three cups are recommended a day with results apparent in a few days to a week, he said.

Doctors and medical experts are generally skeptical and dismiss it as another folk remedy. Some say the effect is brought about merely by "auto suggestion."

A spokesman for the privately-owned Far East Medical Institute, which conducted an examination of the tea, said that it tends to shift the consumer's body from acidity to alkalinity. This is believed to be the main effect, he said.

Iguchi claimed that at least 3,000 smokers have quit thanks to the tea, judging from letters, postcards and calls.

"I didn't believe it at all," said Toshaiki Kaneko, a 40-year-old company president. "I used to pick up a cigarette every 20 minutes. But a few days after I started drinking the stuff, I smoked only several sticks a day. Now I feel no need for cigarettes."

Michiko Minakai, a 29-year-old housewife who had smoked two packs a day, said "the day I first drank the tea, I didn't want to smoke. And the next day I had only one cigarette. It's very strange, isn't it?"

Medieval life with modern touch

By MAURA HENNESSY
For AP Newsfeatueres

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Dust off your coat of arms, call up your favorite wench and break open a bottle of mead.

The 10-year-old Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA) is reviving those dark ages of the past — the Middle Ages.

But the revival doesn't embrace all aspects of the Middle Ages, said member Jeffrey A. DeLuca of Willimantic, Conn. There is no religious persecution, no famine and "we try not to spread the plague."

"Chivalry with indoor plumbing" is how one member of the University of Connecticut branch described the current Middle Ages.

The SCA, begun in 1966 in California, now has about 3,000 members in 35 chapters.

The annual Pentathlon of Arts has five categories of competition and guilds for wizards, cooks, exotic dancers and archers, DeLuca said. The next Pentathlon will be held early in 1977, probably in Philadelphia.

The SCA values chivalry and expects all members to behave like gentlewomen and gentlemen, he said. Royalty and "revolting barbarians" alike are called "gentles," he added.

Medieval clothes are required at SCA events, said 21-year-old Susan R. Tallmadge of Hartford, Conn. But she said gentles don't refer to them as "costumes" because they aren't just pretending to be medieval people — they really are medieval people.

John L. Leland, a knight who is also a Ph.D. candidate in medieval studies at Yale, said each gentle picks a pre-1650 identity, with a name, skill and appropriate clothing.

The identities may not be lifted directly from history or fiction. But a fan of Ivan the Terrible could choose to be called Ivan the Temperamental.

Of course, not many gentles choose to be serfs. "You have more fun as a Lord," said Leland, or Count Sir Jehan de la Marche.

The SCA is not invulnerable to modern movements such as women's liberation. To keep its tax-exempt status, the SCA must allow women to joust with male contenders for the throne. Could a woman become king? "Unequivocally maybe," Leland said.

The SCA holds jousting tournaments — so far without horses — and craft fairs and revels, or medieval merrymaking.

After most events, gentles gather for feasts, which include fermented milk, fermented honey (mead), and trenchers: flat, rounds of bread used to eat other foods from before they are eaten.

The SCA also has wars between its various kingdoms. The East Kingdom fights an annual war with the Middle Kingdom over the Barony-Marche of the Debatable Lands, or Pittsburgh, DeLuca said.

The loser gets Pittsburgh.

DEAR POLLY — I used to have quite a time getting the peanut brittle I make spread thin enough, but now I heat my cookie sheets in the oven and pour the hot peanut brittle mixture on them. It spreads out nice and thin. — RAE ANNE.

DEAR POLLY — To keep a piece of furniture from getting scratched when moving, throw a blanket over it and tie it down with old hose. If it is a chest of drawers, tie vertically and horizontally to keep the drawers from sliding out. — MRS. H.S.A.

Send your helpful hints to Polly's Pointers in care of this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY — I was shocked that you printed Dot's Pointer about putting an inflated child's swimming pool in a station wagon as a place safe from bumps. It is dangerous to ride anywhere in a car without a proper restraining device. There were 5,000 deaths of children (ages 1-14) on the highways in 1975. Such tragedies will not be stopped by putting children in wading pools in the rear of station wagons. — CINDY.

DEAR CINDY — Of course, the recommended way is to use seat belts but we all have seen children sitting on the floor in the back of wagons. When such is the case, hitting inflated rubber would seem to be better than the metal or wood of the car. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — If you want to make unposed, natural-looking pictures of a small child, give him a piece of adhesive-backed gummed plastic tape and he will be so busy with it he'll have no chance to pose. — EDNA.

DEAR POLLY — When buying supplies for a painting job, baby oil is at the top of my list. Even before opening a can of paint I cover all exposed parts of my body (even my eyelashes) with baby oil. Splatters from either a brush or roller will not adhere and you can wipe yourself clean easily. — VICKI.

DEAR POLLY — When your garden hose springs a leak, punch many more holes in it with a large needle, plug up the end with the hose nozzle and have a soaker hose. — MRS. H.M.

DEAR POLLY — Clip-and-save: Plant marigolds between squash and cucumber plants and save on spraying. The odor of the marigolds will repel beetles and worms. — ANGELA.

DEAR POLLY — After opening potato chips, bread and snack items that come in bags my husband folds the tops down and anchors each with a clothespin to keep the contents fresh. — MRS. W.F.I.

Carter's horoscope states "peanuts to presidency" his only possible fate

ASTROLOGY PREDICTS VICTORY! Carter's horoscope showed that from birth his destiny was the presidency. An exact copy of the original article of July 1, 1976 is reprinted below.

By Tom Kennedy

It was harvest time in Georgia when little Jimmy Carter was born. His home was typical of the poor, southern farmer who knew only kerosene light, well water, outdoor plumbing and work. And before many more harvests went by, Jimmy Carter was helping in the family's little farm store and tending the peanut fields. But his horoscope makes it clear as a Georgia morning that he was destined for more than just peanuts.

Carter's horoscope indicates a man with great self-confidence. Proof of this is Mr. Carter's complete confidence that he will be president. Why is he so sure? His horoscope indicates that after his religious experience in the middle 60's, he would change from "tiller of the land" to "leader of the land." Strong planetary patterns emerging for him in 1976 back up his belief.

Comparisons of Jimmy Carter's horoscope with those of other presidents show that he has many characteristics and interests in common with other presidents. Like Abraham Lincoln, Carter's horoscope indicates poverty in early life, great honesty and sincerity. Both began their lives as poor country boys.

Both George Washington's and Carter's horoscopes show a closeness to the land. Both were farmers. Similar placements in Harry Truman's and Carter's horoscopes indicate strong family ties and a great bond with their partner. Here again, both men relied on their wives as their chief advisor and enjoyed long marriages.

Even more dramatic is a comparison of Carter's horoscope with the late President Kennedy's. Both show an affinity for water. John Kennedy was a PT boat captain in World War II, while Jimmy Carter was an officer aboard a nuclear submarine. Great charisma was pointed out in both horoscopes and Carter certainly does have that Kennedy charm about him.

Analysis of Jimmy Carter's natal horoscope shows a strong man who can cope with large issues. It indicates optimism, breadth of vision and an analytical approach to problems. His horoscope not only predicts that he will be our next president, but shows that he has all the qualifications to be a great president.

Jimmy Carter was not aware that we had individually prepared his personal horoscope from his exact time and place of birth. (Being a celebrity, his birth information is a matter of public record.) But, Jimmy Carter is not the only person affected by astrology.

ASTROLOGY AFFECTS US ALL

Because you were born, you yourself have a unique natal horoscope, different from all others. I'll show you what it can mean to you by using celebrities for my examples.

Your natal horoscope can help you discover your hidden talents and give you the confidence to use them. Robert Redford was once a starving artist begging on the streets of Paris. His horoscope clearly indicates his acting ability. Fortunately, he discovered this hidden talent in time.

Your horoscope can advance your career and bring you wealth. There was a time in the life of Barbara Walters that she couldn't afford a lipstick even though her horoscope indicates great wealth. Also, Jupiter's influence in her chart makes her somewhat of a gambler. She made it pay off by making a change from NBC to ABC and a multi-million dollar position.

Your horoscope can bring you love and romance. Several years ago, producer John Foreman unintentionally invited both Robert Wagner and Natalie Wood to his party. They hadn't seen each other since their split nine years before. But in making a comparison of their charts, it was found that an aspect in Natalie's chart indicated that a chance meeting would renew an old love. Of course, Bob and Natalie were remarried in July of 1972 and have been blessed with their first child.

Your horoscope can help you stay in good health. Midnight recently published a story about a New York doctor who claims astrology saved the life of one of his patients and has helped countless others back on the road to health. The doctor says, "astrological evaluations are more beneficial than a whole battery of psychological tests."

THE TRUTH ABOUT ASTROLOGY

How does your natal horoscope work? An astrologer will chart the positions of the sun, moon, and eight planets as they appear above your place of birth at your exact time of birth. The placements and angular relationships of these bodies make up your natal chart. This means that someone born at the exact same time as you, but in a different city, will have a different chart.

The written interpretation and analysis of your natal chart is called your Natal Horoscope. Astrology is not fortune telling and your horoscope does not cause things to happen to you. Your horoscope analyzes your personality and then tells you what things are most likely to happen to you. But remember, your free will can override events in your life if you put your mind to it.

As you've seen from the examples I've given you, some of the most famous people used their horoscope to reach success, but in other instances ignored it and faced failure. There are thousands of different ways to achieve wealth, love, success and happiness.

A good example is Gary Dahl who made one million dollars in 90 days with his "Pet Rock" craze. Many people considered him odd, but this venture brought him wealth, success and happiness.

Each and everyone of us is good at something no matter how odd one's talents may seem to others. Your horoscope will tell you what you're good at. So why beat your brains out on an area that you're not talented in, when an equal amount of time spent on something you're good at would put you much farther ahead. Not only will you get ahead, but you'll be relaxed and happy while you're doing it.

Your horoscope will give you a comprehensive analysis of your personality. It will point out your strengths and show you how to utilize them. It will also discuss your weaker areas and allow you to compensate for them.

Because your natal horoscope is such a sophisticated analysis of your personality, it will challenge your subconscious mind to seek out your hidden talents. These are the areas where you thought you had talent (writing, ESP, sex appeal, public relations, athletics, etc.) but were afraid to try. If you've been waiting for someone to give you a little push, let your horoscope be that someone. It will give you the confidence to start using your hidden talents.

Summed up, your natal horoscope will discuss your personality, love life, career, finances, and health. It will help you understand and accept yourself for what you are. It will then show you where your talents lie and set you on a course of self-improvement, self-fulfillment, and true happiness.

As the old saying goes, "You only live once." Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided? Don't you owe it to yourself and to your loved ones to seize every precious moment of your life and make the best of it. Why not give yourself every advantage with the added edge of your personal natal horoscope.

During this special research project, you can get your personal natal horoscope for only a copying cost. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process FREE. And you can use your horoscope for a full year on an absolutely no risk guarantee. The article below will tell you how to order your horoscope. For your own sake, please don't pass up this once in a lifetime opportunity.

Special Research Project

How to get your Personal Natal Horoscope for only a copying cost

By John F. Ford

Send me your exact time and place of birth. I'll cast and analyze your Natal Horoscope for research purposes. You may have a duplicate copy of your horoscope for only $3.00 to cover the cost to make your copy plus 50¢ postage and handling. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process FREE — because of the fact we must produce your horoscope for research anyhow.

Your Natal Horoscope will consist of 9 pages and 3,000 words and will provide you all of the following benefits: (Note: This is our new improved horoscope.)

- Your Horoscope will help you understand and accept yourself. It will analyze your personality and explain your strengths and talents in detail. It will point out your shortcomings and advise you on how to improve.
- Everyone of us has hidden talents just waiting to be tapped. Your horoscope will discuss your hidden talents (sex appeal, E.S.P., writing, athletics, public relations, etc.) and show you how to cash in on them.
- Your horoscope will give you a penetrating analysis of your love life. Personally tailored advise on how to enjoy a more fullfilling sex life will be offered. You'll be told who you're compatible with and why and shown how to find romance. Once you find it, your horoscope will help you keep it burning hot.
- Your horoscope will instill confidence in you by showing you what you're good at. It will place you in the proper frame of mind to begin a program of all around self-improvement.
- The types of jobs and careers that you are best suited for will be listed. You'll be told which careers will bring you success and happiness and which jobs to avoid.
- Your financial future will be covered. Your attitude towards money and the best ways for you to make money will be discussed.
- Your marital and family relationships are analyzed with emphasis on getting along with your mate, your children, and your relatives.

There's no need to worry about finding out about an unavoidable coming disaster through your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials, if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

When casting your horoscope, we conform to the strictest scientific principles. First the longitude and latitude of your place of birth will be charted down to the tenth of a degree. Finally, your longitude and latitude and exact time of birth will be keypunched into an IBM 370 145 computer, which contains over 24 million bits of authenticated astrological information. You can be sure that your horoscope will not be preprinted like the worthless type found in paperbacks. Your horoscope will carry your name on every page and will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone.

A similar horoscope could cost up to $250 if done by an astrologer. But, THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH to this offer. I need this information for my astrological research. I'm looking for certain planet configurations from the people who mail in birth information. (People who fit this group can receive extra bonuses by filling out a research questionnaire.)

This research project has appeared in SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS, REDBOOK, McCALLS, WOMAN'S DAY and other publications. The response has been tremendous with over 500,000 people now enjoying their Natal Horoscopes. But that's what's so frustrating. We may never be able to run this article again. Inflation has pushed our computer, advertising, postage and printing costs almost to the point of no return.

So we're gathering all the names we possibly can to finish our research project. If you would like to help us with our research and take advantage of this special offer by ordering Natal Horoscopes for yourself, for your family or your friends, simply do this: Send me the name, address, time, date, month, year and place of birth for each person on a piece of paper along with the $3.00 copying cost and 50¢ postage for each horoscope. (If you don't know your exact time of birth, we will use 12:00 noon.) If you have Mastercharge, BankAmericard, or American Express, you may charge your purchase by sending the following information: A. name of your credit card B. credit card number C. card expiration. date.

Mail your orders to the AMERICAN ASTROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION, Research Division, Dept. G–757, 401 Market Ave. N., Canton, Ohio 44750.

Your Natal Horoscope is covered by a one year – 365 day – full money back guarantee. If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, President, the American Astrological Association. Telephone me at (216) 455–1390. To avoid a disappointment, why not order your horoscope right now, before you forget. Thanks.

A personal message from Roy Rogers and Dale Evans.

"Dear Folks,

We enjoy entertaining at hospitals ... and we do a lot of it. But each time we do, we come away more grateful for our own good health.

One thing we've learned. Good health can never be guaranteed. And once it's gone, it takes time and money to get it back ... sometimes a lot of money.

The cost of hospital-medical care has tripled in ten years. That's what our Department of Labor says. Who can afford costs that are going up like that? Not too many of us. Have your other insurance benefits increased like that? Has your salary? Not likely.

Think a moment. What if you were suddenly hospitalized? Or someone in your family? Would your group hospitalization pay all the bills? Would Medicare? The truth is that in many cases, they would not.

If you're like us, you want the best health care for your family ... the best money can buy. But that sometimes takes a lot of money ... extra money most of us don't have.

That's why we strongly recommend you look over the cash benefits you can get from these plans ... available to those who want that extra margin of health care protection for their family.

Roy + Dale

We are compensated for our endorsement of National Independence and the fine plans they offer. This plan is something we believe in."

The First Day Plan A pays you...up to $1,200.00 a month, $40.00 a day

- Plan B pays $30.00 a day from the first day of hospitalization for covered accident or illness. Up to 24 months.
- Plan C pays $40.00 a day from the first day of hospitalization for covered accident, and after the third day for covered illness.
- Plan D pays $30.00 a day from the first day of hospitalization for covered accident, and after the third day for covered illness.
- Intensive Care Facility Benefits: All plans pay $10.00 a day for a covered hospital stay in an Intensive Care Facility: Up to 30 days.

Accidental Loss Benefits:

$2,500.00 or $5,000.00 is paid for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

Increased Accident Benefits:

Double the daily benefit of the plan selected is paid when insured husband and wife are hospitalized at the same time for a covered accident.

Nurse-at-Home Benefits:

$12.00 for an LVN or $18.00 for an RN per shift is paid for a nurse at home after a covered hospitalization. To a maximum of 3 shifts per day continuing up to 1 year.

Optional Coverages

- Children's Coverage pays the full daily hospital benefit of the plan selected when your child is hospitalized for any covered accident or illness.

Intensive Care Coverage for Children pays $10.00 a day when your child is hospitalized for covered accident or illness in an Intensive Care Unit. Up to 30 days.

- Maternity Coverage pays the full daily hospital benefit for Maternity Care in the hospital.

Renewability of this policy

This policy (NI25-673B CAL) is guaranteed renewable for life. Premiums can only be increased if they are increased for all policies of this class throughout California.

Exceptions, reductions and limitations of this policy

Benefits are not provided for physician or surgeon fees, nor for miscellaneous hospital services.

At age 65, hospital benefits are reduced 50%, and Intensive Care benefits are reduced 30%.

Pre-existing conditions are not covered for the first year. A pre-existing condition is any sickness or injury originating within the one year period before your policy went into effect and for which medical advice or treatment was given or for which distinct symptoms were evident.

Any act of War; any mental or functional nervous disorder, or the use of narcotics.

Pregnancy, miscarriage or complications thereof within 1 year of birth, unless application is made for Maternity Coverage.

Coverage in a nursing or convalescent home or any facility not defined as a hospital in your policy.

Premium for this policy

Monthly renewal premiums are listed on page 6.

Premiums are subject to change.

$1 covers your entire family the first month!

RENEWAL AND RATE CHANGE PROVISION: Once you have enrolled in this plan from National Independence Insurance Company, your policy is guaranteed renewable. Your rate can only be increased if there is a rate increase on all policies of this class in California (N125-673B CAL).

NOTE: The benefits you receive and the premium you pay depend on the plan you choose.

PLANS B & D pay 75% of Plan A for all benefits for 24 months up to $21,600.00 for each covered accident or illness, except for Nurse at Home, Intensive Care and Accidental Dismemberment. These three benefits are the same in all plans.

PLANS C & D cost you much less, but do not pay for the first 3 days of hospital confinement due to sickness. (There is no deductible or "waiting period" for accidents.)

REGARDING OPTIONAL CHILDREN'S BENEFITS: This benefit covers all your unmarried dependent children from birth through 18 years. Newborn children from birth to 31 days are covered from the first day of hospitalization for illness.

Choose the plan you need. It's easy to enroll!

1. Complete the enrollment form below and check the appropriate box.
2. Enclose enrollment form in post-paid envelope and mail along with $1.

PERFECT COMBINATION

The Captain and Tennille (offstage Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Dragon) are among the most successful husband-and-wife teams in show business. The Captain is Daryl Dragon, son of symphonic conductor Carmen Dragon. He is a native Californian and grew up in Los Angeles with two brothers and two younger sisters and studied classical piano for ten years. Daryl first performed with his brothers, Dennis and Doug. The trio recorded one single for Capitol, the record company where Carmen Dragon recorded all his symphony albums. That record was unsuccessful because, as the Captain puts it, "The Beatles came in just before we made the record and we lost hope. We were an instrumental group, and you had to sing to get any jobs in those days" Daryl's keyboard wizardry, however, soon landed him a job touring with the Beach Boys as a musician and arranger. The Beach Boys' Mike Love gave Dragon his colorful nickname in recognition of the naval Captain's hat Daryl wore on stage.

Toni Tennille, born in Montgomery, Alabama, arrived on the Los Angeles scene via a different route. Toni is one of four sisters, two of whom, Melissa and Louisa, now tour with the duo and sing background vocals. After studying classical piano for nine years, Toni moved to California with her family in 1962. Her first professional experience was as a member of the South Coast Repertory Theatre, where she and a friend, Ron Thronson, wrote a rock-ecology musical entitled "Mother Earth." It opened in San Francisco to good reviews and was followed by a run in Los Angeles. For those performances, the show needed a new keyboard player—Daryl Dragon, who was between Beach Boy tours. Dragon was impressed with both Toni's writing and singing talents, and introduced her to the Beach Boys who took her on tour as the first and only "Beach Girl."

In September, 1973, Daryl and Toni cut the single, "The Way I Want to Touch You," at their own expense after the tune was turned down by several record companies. That recording became an instant hit on Los Angeles radio stations, despite not having a major label or distribution network behind it. Its success won them a contract to record for A & M Records.

Daryl and Toni were married on Valentine's Day, 1975, just before their smash single, the Neil Sedaka/Howard Greenfield tune, "Love Will Keep Us Together," broke nationally. That recording sold millions of copies in English and Spanish and became the title song of their first hit album. The Captain and Tennille won a Grammy Award, a People's Choice Award and a Juno Award, just to mention a few, for "Love Will Keep Us Together." It also brought them two gold singles and a platinum album.

Voyage of the Hokule'a

Centuries ago ancient Polynesians sailed thousands of miles across the Pacific in huge double-hulled sailing canoes. Theirs were incredible feats of navigation, for these early navigators sailed, guided not by instruments, but by the stars, ocean swells, and currents. Aboard they carried dried food, live plants, and animals. One by one they settled the far-flung islands of the Pacific and finally, Hawaii. Now adventurous Hawaiians have created a dramatic reproduction of the voyaging canoe of their ancestors and have sailed her 3,000 miles across open ocean from Hawaii to Tahiti. She is called the Hokule'a, "Star of Gladness," and her epic journey is the subject of the National Geographic Television Special "Voyage of the Hokule'a", Tuesday at 8PM on KCET, Channel 28.

Narrated and hosted by E.G. Marshall, "Voyage of the Hokule'a" is the first 90-minute documentary for National Geographic, and was two years in production.

Hokule'a, a 60-foot double-hulled sailing canoe, was created as the official Bicentennial project of the State of Hawaii—the dream of three men fascinated by what the ancient Polynesians had accomplished. They designed the canoe using records and drawings made by early European explorers. Hokule'a's sail plan was suggested by petroglyphs, ancient drawings in stone. The Polynesian Voyaging Society, the organization founded to build and sail the canoe, intended to prove scientifically that Polynesian methods of navigation could take her to her destination. They provisioned Hokule'a, equipped her, and manned her much as the ancient Polynesians did. Ancient in design, Hokule'a was built of fiberglass and plywood, her sails were made of canvas.

Hokule'a was followed to Tahiti by an escort vessel which tracked the canoe with navigational instruments for later comparision with Hokule'a's log. The tracking boat, Meotai, carried extra food in case the specially-prepared dried food aboard Hokule'a became contaminated, and kept the island and the mainland informed of the canoe's progress by radio. The Meotai also could have rescued Hokule'a in case of trouble.

'GOLF WITH BING'

"Play in Bing Crosby's $3000 invitational pro-amateur golf tournament, halted this morning by a deluge of rain, will be resumed tomorrow over the Rancho Sante Fe course, weather permitting." That was the report in the February 6, 1937 San Diego Tribune of the very first Crosby pro-am.

The 36th edition of Bing's famous golf tournament airs live on ABC from Pebble Beach Saturday (3PM) and Sunday (2PM), January 22-23.

One hundred and sixty-eight top pros and amateurs from entertainment, sports, business and President Ford, will try their best to beat par on the Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point courses on the beautiful Monterey Peninsula.

This year, in contrast to the $3000 prize money of 40 years ago, Bing's classic offers $215,000 to the pros. Bing will again be the host commentator for ABC, giving his unique style of commentary on all of the links action.

"With the drought in California, everyone expects that we'll have good weather this year," Bing says, "but a little dampness wouldn't hurt anyone—just adds to the challenge of it all."

Bing recalls that he never had any idea of calling off his first tournament despite the rainout in 1937 or in any of the other tournaments despite gales and even snow. "I never thought that the tournament would go beyond a few years—we were just having a little fun and raising some funds for charitable purposes. I certainly never dreamed it would reach the point where this year we would be playing our 36th tournament."

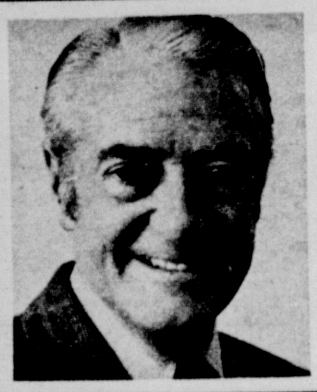
ASK THEM YOURSELF

Send the question, on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR HOWARD K. SMITH, newscaster

Like many other Americans, I was interested in your statement that the late President Johnson once told you that President Kennedy was out to get Castro but Castro got him first. What about the report that a Cuban kamikaze plane tried to get Johnson's plane soon after he became President?—Jack Quinn, Orchard Park, N.Y.



● On a trip to Miami four months after Kennedy's death, the FBI changed Mr. Johnson's plans suddenly. Instead of landing at Miami, he landed at an obscure airport miles away. He moved in an unmarked helicopter, so he could not be identified. The rumor was that a Cuban kamikaze had been ordered to ram his plane. When asked then, former Johnson Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said, "Maybe a year or two or five years from now, I can tell you, but not now."

FOR PETER DUCHIN,
musician, chairman of Inaugural parties

What are you planning for this year's Inaugural parties?—V.H., Logan, Utah

● For the first time the parties won't be formal affairs; formal dress is strictly optional. We're aiming for a party-like atmosphere that's relaxed and casual. We'll be building the celebration around a theme of music from all parts of America—classical, folk, jazz, swing, big band and rock and roll.

FOR DINAH SHORE

Do you like entertaining small or large groups, and what do you usually serve?—Maryellen Wallace, Los Angeles, Calif.

● I adore entertaining—and do so very often—but I always try to limit the number to eight. When I have people in, it's informal—usually a buffet. My guests invariably get lemon veal or Tennessee lasagne or chicken (various kinds).

FOR JACKIE BISSET, star of The Deep

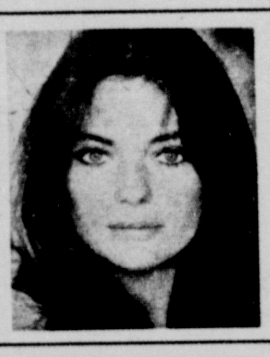
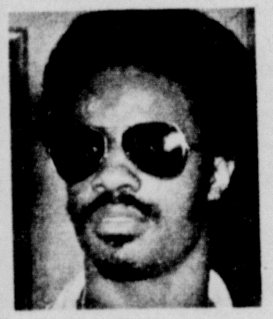
Why don't you want to get married?—K.B., Pine Bluff, Ark.



● Although I've nothing against marriage, I don't feel I'm missing anything by not being a "Mrs." For those who'll stay together for ever, there's nothing better, but who can be sure? Splitting up after five years is no good, either. My attitude probably stems from the fact that when I was little, my mother never made me feel that when I grew up my only option was to get married and have children.



FOR STEVIE WONDER, singer

Did your blindness separate you from other kids?—W.C., Rome, Ga.

● No, in fact, I got into more trouble than most sighted kids sneaking girl friends to the railroad tracks and always running around. I never knew what it was like to see—what you never have, you never miss. As far as I was concerned, I had a normal childhood, despite being blind from birth. But if I were able to see for one second, the thing I'd like to look at most is the earth. I've felt it, and it feels beautiful.

FOR SEN. EDMUND S. MUSKIE (D.-Maine)

I read your real name is Marciszewski and that you're proud of your Polish background. If this is so, why did you change your name?—Rev. Ken Weimer, Rock Springs, Wyo.

● My family name was changed from Marciszewski to Muskie several years before I was born. When my father came here from Poland in 1903, his name—like those of so many other immigrants at the time—was changed by immigration officials to simplify the spelling and pronunciation.

FOR JUDITH VIORST, writer

Can anything be done to persuade kids to read more?—A.S., Chicago, Ill.

● I am seriously concerned about the fate of reading, which is clearly not the major form of recreation and pleasure for my kids (and many of my friends') that it was for us when we were growing up. I find I must take action—instead of just anguishing over our children's preference for more passive forms of pleasure, such as watching TV, and more active forms of diversion, such as sports.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Why does Robert Mitchum hate acting?—B.G., Santa Monica, Calif.

● Bob explains why he remains in the profession he scorns by saying: "How else can a no-talent guy like me make so much dough?" Nor does he rate other performers highly: "Actors get more respect than they deserve. All we talk about is our work." As one who freely criticizes, how does he react to criticism? "I don't pay any attention. If they can replace me, let them go right ahead."

FOR ALVAN ADAMS, 1975-76 National Basketball Association Rookie of the Year

You are supposedly serious about education, yet you quit college to play for the Phoenix Suns. Why did you do that?—J.N., Madison, Wis.

● I left school a year early because I saw the chance to be drafted by a team in a city that I like and to play for coach John MacLeod, whom I admire greatly. After my basketball career, I plan to be a doctor and am now finishing my undergraduate studies at Arizona State.

PRO AND CON

Is The Concept of Joint Custody Good For The Child?

Many experts now say that children of divorced parents should live equally with both the mother and the father.

PRO Shirley Camper Soman is the author of Let's Stop Destroying Our Children.

Yes. Divorce is often a tug-of-war in which the child is the rope. Joint custody, then, seems to minimize both loss and conflict for child and parents because a no-fight situation is more possible. Joint custody helps focus parents on the needs of their children. In some cases, joint custody should not be tried, especially when emotional or physical harm to child or parent is an element. But short of this, my personal and professional experiences all lead me to favor any arrangement in which both parents can participate fully and fairly in their children's development and lives.

CON Helen DeRosis is the author of Parents Power—Child Power.

No. Parents find it difficult to accept that children can thrive with only one effective parent, but this has to be considered as an alternative to an arrangement (dual custody) that may create more problems than it solves. The advantage of a warm, available "extended family" is a strong plus in dual custody if the logistics can be worked out and the adults' attitudes toward each other have undergone remarkable changes. Otherwise, there might be continuing confusion and divided loyalties. Many parents do not realize how little children require in order to grow with a sense of confidence and trust. But that little they must have.

ROSALYNN CARTER: What Kind of Pacesetter Will She Be?

Jackie dug fashion.

And now it's up to Rosalynn. How will she affect us all?

Lady Bird loved beauty.

Mamie made bangs big.

Betty was frank and loved the arts— particularly the dance.

Florence was a mystic.

By Frances Spatz Leighton

Rosalynn Carter may not know the potential power she has. Jimmy has, of course, already said that he'll consult her on questions affecting the destiny of the country. But did she expect all those coast-to-coast groans from the fashion industry when she said she planned to wear a gown to the Inauguration that she had already worn before? And what were her feelings after she announced that Amy would go to Thaddeus Stevens, a public school in Washington, and then heard about young matrons from all over the city besieging the school with requests to accept their children?

In fact, First Ladies have always had an impact—from the trivial to major policy discussions. You probably remember Mamie Eisenhower's bangs and Jackie Kennedy's "Beehive" and what they did to hairdos across the nation, but did you know that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson virtually governed the country after President Wilson had a stroke? She even signed her own name —Edith Galt Wilson—to documents.

So it goes throughout our history. President Harding's wife, Florence, got people interested in the occult in the '20's and had fortunetellers and seers come to the White House to predict the future, and if she were told not to leave the White House on a certain day because it would bring bad luck to it, she stayed in. There's even a story that a fortuneteller told her in 1923 that her husband would die if he went to Alaska. They went. He died.

Rosalynn is obviously more down to earth. She cooked her family's Thanksgiving dinner with homemade cornbread dressing for the turkey. (Not since Bess Truman has a First Lady done that. Perhaps that's where Harry got one of his favorite sayings: if you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen.) Her sewing abilities are also admirable, but even here, there's a precedent—Grace Coolidge used to sit by a sunny White House window with her maid, Maggie Rogers, chatting companionably as the sewing needles and crochet hooks flew. At the end of her four-years' residence, Mrs. Coolidge left behind a new crocheted bedspread for the outsized Lincoln bed that stayed there for many years.

More seriously, Rosalynn may well influence legislation and her husband's official programs. She did in Georgia, and Jimmy has already sent her as his representative to the inauguration of the new President of Mexico. Rosalynn, in fact, has made history by participating in her husband's strategy sessions during the Presidential campaign, and she'll probably be at least as involved as Lady Bird, who pressured LBJ to get laws passed banning billboards from highways. Johnson used to say, "Jacqueline Kennedy redecorated the White House. Lady Bird is redecorating the rest of the country."

First Ladies have always had an impact on the country. Now it's Rosalynn's turn.

Rosalynn will also set the social tone for the nation, as have First Ladies since Martha Washington. Martha was even referred to as "Lady Washington" by those around her. It was she who decreed that persons wishing to pay their respects to her and the President must be dressed in formal attire in their presence. The President and First Lady Washington kept an invisible barrier between themselves and their guests. Curtsies and bows were made. Touching the Presidential couple was frowned upon. Handshakes did not come to the White House until later.

Mrs. Carter will be more democratic in mixing and mingling with common folks at the White House and with opening its doors to more callers. Some say she will try to put in an appearance and shake hands and chat with some of the tourists who daily snake their way through the White House. Most First Ladies have stayed hidden away in the upstairs family quarters under the watchful eyes of the guards until the tourists have had their peek at the East Room, the State Dining Room, the Red Room, the Green Room and the Blue Room.

Not since Florence Harding has a First Lady raced down the stairs to greet tourists in person, calling a cheery "Hello." Naturally, the tourists were thrilled and startled and cherished this memory of their Washington visit. At the other extreme, Eliza, the wife of Andrew Johnson, took to her room and refused to greet White House callers or attend White House parties. White House hostess for the President who succeeded Abe Lincoln was daughter Martha Johnson, who started each day by milking two cows she had brought from Tennessee and who told a startled newspaperman, "We are plain people, Sir, and do not propose to put on airs because we have the fortune to occupy this place for a little while."

Rosalynn will probably place herself somewhere between Florence Harding and Martha Johnson. But social and official Washington are waiting with bated breath to see if Rosalynn will, indeed, make the White House a little more folksy with square dances as she has promised. There even may be a taste of hominy grits worked into more traditional White House party dishes to show the sophisticated international guests what the South is all about.

Rosalynn also can be expected to star at small family gatherings, for she is a family-oriented woman. The Carters like the Kennedy family, stick together. The President-elect and his brother built a peanut empire together, and the Kennedys, too, were linked together by family holdings. The nation looks forward to reading of the comings and goings of Presidential brother Billy and Miss Lillian and all the rest of the Carter clan at the White House, and to the upcoming birth of a new grandchild for Rosalynn and Jimmy.

What will Rosalynn do to the White House itself? She may change the yellow in the family rooms preferred by the last few Presidential families to the green and white which were her husband's lucky campaign colors, and the colors she enjoys around her.

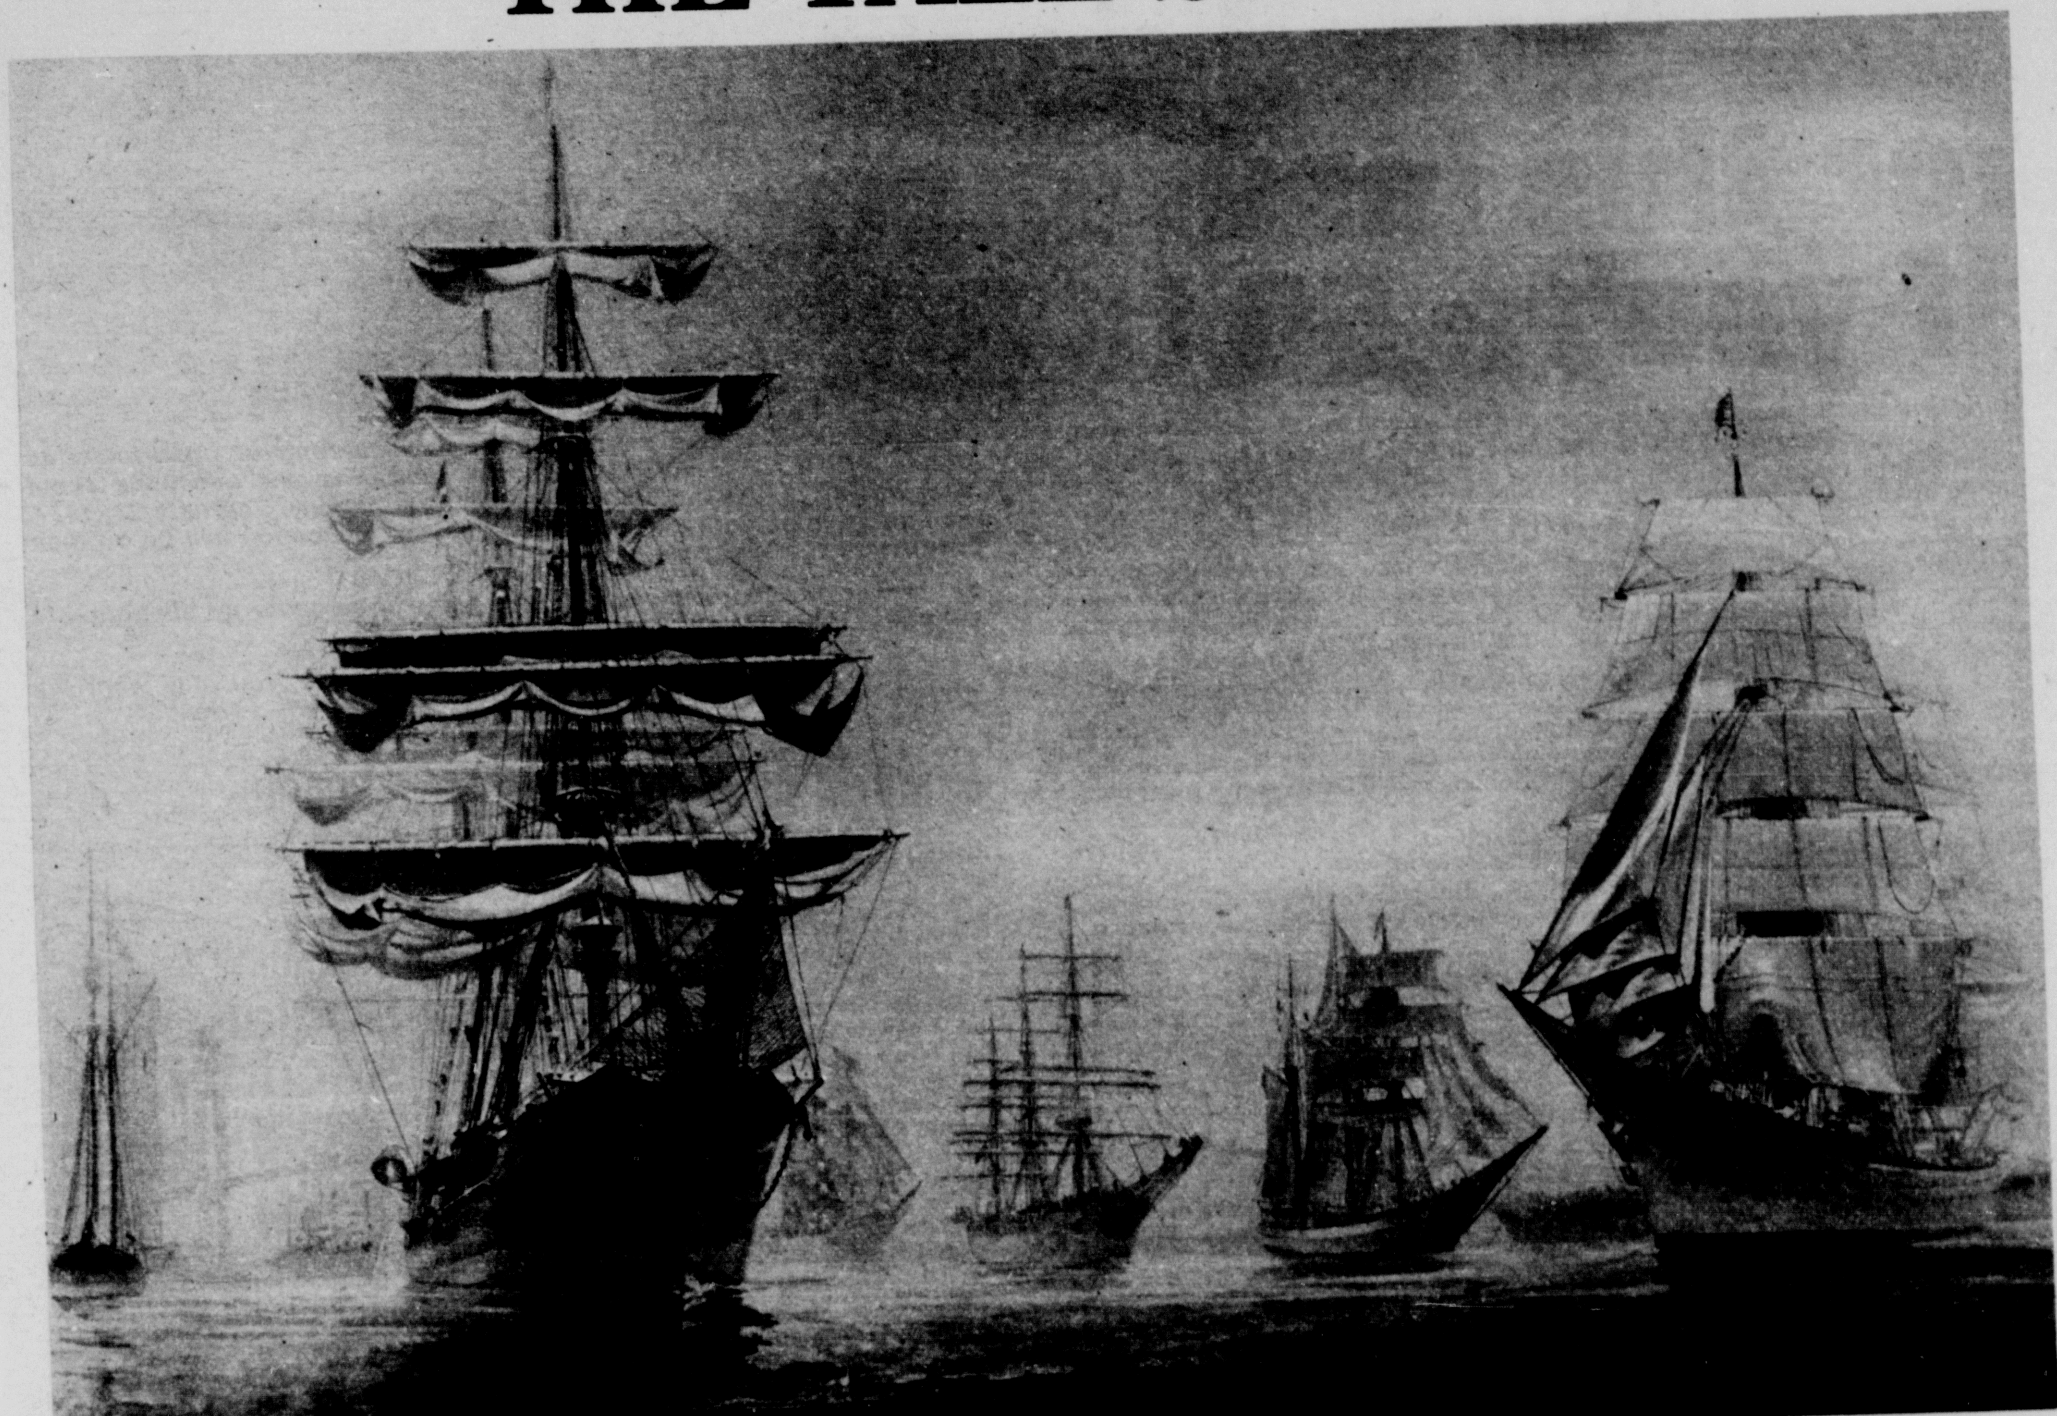
The incoming First Lady is also expected to spend a great deal of her time in people-oriented projects that will help the disadvantaged, retarded citizens, the mentally depressed and senior citizens.

Will First Lady Rosalynn serve as her husband's representative around the country and the world? She probably will never match Eleanor Roosevelt's performance as the eyes and ears of her invalid husband. Eleanor made history when she went down into a coal mine to report to her husband on the conditions there.

But one thing is sure: Rosalynn will have her husband's ear for "pillow talks" because she plans to ignore the tradition of separate bedrooms for husbands and wives in the White House. Here again, though, she won't be first. Betty Ford took the first step in breaking the tradition, announcing that she was sharing her husband's bed.

As the moment when Jimmy Carter becomes President fast approaches, many eyes will be on Rosalynn, straining to find out how she will look, what she will wear and whether she will conform or not to past First Ladies. Like it or not, front stage is where Rosalynn Carter will be.

THE TALL SHIPS®



The Official Commemorative Print of the Historic 1976 Gathering of Tall Ships

Two years in the painting and meticulously accurate in nautical detail, this high fidelity lithograph will delight all those who admire fine art. Painted by the renowned marine artist, Kipp Soldwedel (Tall Ships Artist of Record), this official commemorative print is reproduced in magnificent color, 21 x 28 inches.

Depicted here in misty nautical splendor are the Blue Nose (Canada), Danmark (Denmark), Segres (Portugal), Christian Radich (Norway) and the Gorch Foch II (Germany), winner of the International Trans Atlantic race.

Good art that is bound to accrue in value, handsome decoration for office or home, nostalgic memorabilia for sea lovers and sailors alike.

"Received your very lovely lithograph and it now has a place of predominance in my office. This is truly a magnificent work and is a conversation piece for all who come into my office."
Gerald E. Bauer, Dallas, Tx.

"I have just received a print of the "Tall Ships" by Kipp Soldwedel from my niece. It is truly a lovely work of art. It is in my foyer and has added much charm to that area. I am sure that other people will enjoy these beautiful ships in their homes."
Mrs. M. B. Flournoy, New York, N.Y.

"Those who thrilled at the sight of the soaring masts and graceful hulls in July will recapture that thrill when they see the clean lines of Kipp Soldwedel's paintings. His works... carry the fresh, salty tang of ocean air wherever they go."
Genesis Galleries Ltd., New York, N.Y.

You can't be turned down for this Insurance if you're 50 to 80!

Here is a life insurance policy that can be yours for the asking if you inquire before February 28th. No ifs, ands, or buts! Not only is no physical examination required, but the policy is actually issued to you without a single health question!

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS® is an individual life insurance policy that guarantees to accept every man and woman between 50 and 80 who applies during the guaranteed acceptance period—regardless of any other insurance carried.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS is underwritten by Colonial Penn Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, specialists in serving the specific needs of America's older population. This protection is recommended to their members by two of America's highly respected national nonprofit organizations of the mature: the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA) and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

A Protection Breakthrough for Every Older Person!

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS is a distinctive concept of life insurance, achieved as a result of the years of effort Colonial Penn has devoted to meeting the insurance needs of mature people.

Our goal was a life insurance policy we can make available to all mature people—a policy whose cost would be reasonable and whose benefits would be worthwhile. With PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS, the Colonial Penn Life Insurance Company has succeeded.

Here's How PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS Can Do This For You:

During the first two years that your policy is in effect, your coverage is reduced. If you should die during the first policy year, the benefit paid to your beneficiary is $100. If death occurs during the second policy year, your beneficiary receives $250. Once two years have passed, you are covered for the full face amount of the policy.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS enables the older person to obtain worthwhile benefits for his insurance dollar—and, at the same time, guarantees acceptance for all applicants.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS also provides increasing cash values which begin in the first or second year.

The cost? JUST $6.95 A MONTH.

No matter what your age, your sex, or the condition of your health, you pay just $6.95 a month. The amount of coverage you receive is based on your sex and age. However, once you are insured the amount of your insurance will never go down, and your payments will never go up!

Act Now—You Have Nothing to Lose!

To obtain full information on PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS in time to take advantage of this opportunity to become insured, please mail the coupon before February 28th.

With PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS insurance . . .

- Everyone between 50 and 80 can get this life insurance—no one will be refused!
- You receive a policy created for the needs of mature persons!
- There are no health questions!
- There is no physical examination!
- This policy provides increasing cash values which begin in the first or second year!
- Your insurance cannot be cancelled for any reason as long as you maintain your premium payments.
- You get a policy which has been recommended to their members by both the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons!

REMEMBER—To take advantage of this guaranteed opportunity to obtain PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS without answering any questions about your health, please mail the coupon before Monday, February 28, 1977. Full information and your guaranteed issue application will be on their way to you at once by mail.

No broker or agent will visit you and you will be under no obligation to purchase the policy.

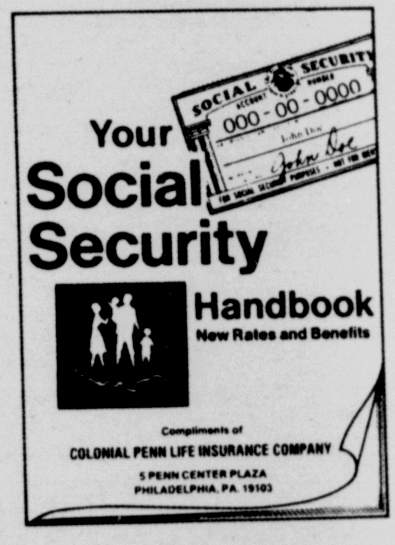
Even if you are not old enough for this insurance, you may want the information for another member of your family or for a friend.

FREE SOCIAL SECURITY HANDBOOK

To introduce you to our PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS life insurance policy, we'll mail you "YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY HANDBOOK" absolutely FREE, whether you apply for the insurance or not.

This informative 32 page booklet explains the most recent revisions and describes the rates, benefits, disability payments, family and widow's payments, Medicare and many other important facts you should know.

We, at Colonial Penn, are very interested in the welfare and security of America's older citizens and we will be delighted to send you "YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY HANDBOOK" together with information about PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS. Simply mail us the coupon below.



This offer is available in all states except: Ark.; Mich.; Mo.; N.J.; N.Y.; Pa.; D.C.; W. Va.; Fla.; Ill. and Ky.

Fla., Ill. & Mo. Residents: Although Prime Life 50 Plus is not available in your state, upon request Colonial Penn will send information about other life insurance available to you without health questions or a physical examination.

North Dakota residents: Acceptance is not guaranteed, but a few health questions and liberal underwriting assume acceptance of most applicants.

Texas residents: The program we offer in your state is described in the information we will send you.

ALEX HALEY: FROM THE BRINK OF SUICIDE TO THE BEST-SELLER LIST

The author of the critically acclaimed Roots, that is also the basis of an upcoming TV series, talks of how writing the book drove him to almost total despair.

By Mary Long

Only two years ago, Alex Haley was a man in the depths of despair. At one point, he was considering suicide. Now, he is this season's hottest writer—his book, Roots, is a record-breaking best seller, and, beginning next Sunday, ABC will air a $6-million, 12-hour drama based on the book. A slight, scholarly-looking man with a slow grin and a voice touched with a Tennessee-bred softness, Haley is the last person you'd expect to have created the most brutally dramatic book of the year.

But much of what is best in Roots—the story of his family traced back over seven generations—was written out of this man's own agony and despair. His voice is low-pitched, and faraway, and he is close to tears as he tells the story.

"I had already put in 10 years of work on my book when I ran into a complete dead end. Writing about my first ancestor, Kunta Kinte, on his voyage to America aboard a slave ship had become impossible for me. I had tried and failed many, many times. Finally, in desperation, I booked passage on a freighter bound for Africa. Every night I went down into the hold of the ship, stripped to my underwear and lay all night on a wooden plank, trying to imagine what it would be like for a young man to lie there in chains, hearing the cries of men screaming, praying and dying all around him.

"I began to worry that I might be losing my mind" he says quietly. "One night, standing out on the stern deck, watching the freighter's wake, I felt overwhelmed by my burden. I was about $50,000 in debt. My publisher and my agent were at me constantly, asking when I would finish this interminable book. I had told them six months, even though I knew I still had several years of work ahead of me. Inside my head I was suffering the horrors of what happened to Kunta Kinte in the ship hold. Then, I thought how easy it would be just to slip over the rail into the sea. I was almost joyful at the idea."

But at that moment Haley says he had the most vivid psychic experience of his life. "I heard the soft voices of my dead family talking to me, encouraging me. They were saying, 'You must finish. Go on with your book.' It took a tremendous physical effort to push my body away from the rail. I scuttled on my hands and knees, back over the hatch covers to my room. I lay on my bed, sobbing for hours. That night, I knew I finally would be able to find the words to tell my family's story."

The turmoil and labor that went into Roots is just about unheard of—nearly 10 years of tedious detective work, over two years of writing. The work was so complex that Haley used to separate his research into manila folders and spread them out, row upon row, in his room. "I planted them like seeds," the writer says, his fingers jabbing the air as though nailing up the words one by one, "and I plowed through them on hands and knees."

What he harvested was a 600-page book that's both a record-breaking best seller and the fulfillment of a personal mission. FW

STRAIGHT TALK ON MONEY

Here are ideas and advice on ways to buy, spend and save that will start you thinking about old practices and could even change your life—for the better.

By Eliot Janeway

Many families have fallen into the habit of giving priority to vacation spending and leisure-time living in general. They have treated the cost of education as a casual ongoing expense that can be met from year to year. Meanwhile, the cost of vacations has been coming down as the cost of education has been skyrocketing. No one expects a free vacation, but many parents still expect free education. This is a relic of the past, especially at the college level.

Your feelings about money reflect your feelings about yourself.

Too many families and businesses with comfortable earnings pay taxes instead of taking advantage of the option to give money away for deductible nonprofit purposes. (Individuals have the right to take deductions on contributions of up to 50 percent of their adjusted gross incomes; businesses, however, are limited to five percent of taxable income before deductions.)

What the Good Book says about the poor applies to the tax collector, too. He will always be with you; more precisely, he will always be after you.

People able to pay cash are better off taking advantage of credit privileges which would enable them to keep the use of their money as long as possible. All quality stores, hotels and restaurants, for instance, assume that credit privileges will be used by customers and, therefore, that the delay in getting paid (remember that time is money) is part of the cost of doing business. Anyway, the cost of credit is already figured in the retail markup on a product or service.

Like it or not, believe it or not—money is the root of all success.

If you happen to be a woman—especially a young single woman—the most substantial, but often ignored, benefit of salaried employment is that it provides credit privileges. Many denizens of executive suites, while recognizing the advantages and obligations of opening employment opportunities to qualified women, are insensitive to the glaring inequity in retail, commercial and financial credit arrangements. Many women are too shy to ask their corporate employers for a helping hand. They have been conditioned to complain about getting short shrift only at the credit window.

Living with the stock market is a lot like having a marriage that runs into problems, but works.

Borrowing creates liabilities, but credit is an asset. When push comes to shove, credit is the most important asset you have. It insures your right to get money when you need it. Credit is also an advertisement that you have the earning power needed to pay it back.

In these last 10 turbulent years, the individuals making their own money decisions have done immeasurably better than those who have let the "professionals" do their thinking for them.

There's a simple yardstick for measuring when the coast is clear to start your own business: when money is going for 5 percent. Whenever it is, the cost of doing business is bound to be low. Money costs reflect all other costs. New businesses need a chance to get ahead of their costs in order to accumulate capital reserves. If you get started when high costs are a universal complaint, you're apt to end up with the illusion of being in business for yourself without the satisfaction of it.

If it's worth doing, it's worth financing. In fact, there's no way of doing it without financing it.

Stop thinking like a salaried employee just because that's what you happen to be. Start living a "double life": save on your salary but also squirrel away an investment fund on the side. If your salary is big enough to do both and more, lead a "triple life": speculate as well as invest and save.

Everyone needs to take an occasional fling with money . . . and with love.

The reason to buy life insurance is not to borrow on the policy but to protect yourself against the possibility that even if you start out rich, you may end up poor. But once you have a policy, one of its advantages is the ability to obtain cheap money with no pressure to repay until it's time for the final send-off.

Insurance is a necessity for everyone, but it's especially valuable for people who can't meet their goals and still need to meet their responsibilities.

The prudent way to handle any new personal investment today is first to determine how long the asset will remain viable (three years for a car, three to five years for a boat). It's smart to figure on needing money for a trade-in when this period is over. But if you're going to come out ahead on a trade-in, the item had better be in good condition. How to budget for a replacement and repair fund? In the case of a car you intend to use for three years, budget one-third more of the retail price in each of the first three years. For example, if the price of a new car is $6,000, a fund amounting to $2,000 per year for three years ought to be built up to cover the cost of repairing and insuring the car over that period, as well as replacing it over the trade-in value after the three years are up.

What you do with your money reveals more about the kind of person you are than how you make it. The act of giving reflects your feelings about yourself.

Contrary to what most people think, pay increases alone won't solve your money problems. Keep two aims in mind in developing your savings program. First, you need a savings fund of at least six months' after-tax income to protect yourself against emergencies. On top of that, you need to put enough money together for investment or speculation. Building a reserve of $10,000 is a good beginning.

We have finally caught up with the ancient Chinese custom of budgeting for health costs: pay the doctor when you're healthy. Get the doctor to owe you free services when something goes wrong.

Land has always been the best investment—and not just in America. The supply is fixed, and no government has ever been able to figure out a way to print more of it. An important guideline: when you buy land, buy lots of it at one time even if you can't afford it. It's always more profitable to borrow to pay for land instead of putting up cash; and the interest on your loan is tax deductible.

The people who spent money on leisure-time living during their working years and banked on pensions, annuities and investments to pay for their retirement, have awakened to discover they've been burning the candle at both ends.

Eliot Janeway has been a financial adviser to Presidents, senators, congressmen and the highest levels of industry for over forty years. He is also the author of several popular books. TO BEAT THE CLOCK

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen has a double bonus for the cook: recipes that are speedy and low in cost, too. "It took a bit of doing," says Marilyn, "but here's a good collection of quick, appetizing dishes to try at your house."

QUICK, DELICIOUS MAIN DISHES TO SERVE AT LEAST FOUR

READY-AHEAD SUPPER

½ teaspoon salt
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen peas
1⅓ cups quick-cooking rice
2 cans (11 ozs. each) condensed cheddar cheese soup
½ cup milk
2 cans (6½- or 7-oz.-size) tuna in oil, drained
½ cup sliced celery
1 can (16 ozs.) tomatoes, undrained and chopped
½ cup sliced Spanish stuffed green olives
¼ cup seedless raisins
¼ cup chili sauce
½ teaspoon chili powder
Generous dash pepper
9-inch unbaked pastry shell

1. In medium saucepan, heat water, salt and peas until water boils; boil for 5 minutes.
2. Stir in rice, cover and remove from heat. Let stand for 5 minutes.
3. Uncover and stir in remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Serve right away or turn into a 1½-qt. casserole or baking dish and keep warm in 250° F. oven. Makes 4 servings

Cost: $2.52
Cost per serving: 63¢
Editor's note: This is a favorite recipe of Sonja Klopfer Dunfield, a world champion professional figure skater and former Captain of the U.S. Olympic Team. Sonja now trains figure skaters at the Skating Club of New York.

PICADILLO PIE

1 lb. ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 large clove garlic, minced
¼ cup flour

1. In skillet, cook ground beef until it loses its red color; break up with spoon as it cooks.
2. Add onion, green pepper and garlic; cook, stirring 5 to 8 minutes, until green pepper is tender.
3. Stir in flour; add tomatoes, olives, raisins, chili sauce, chili powder and pepper. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat; cover and simmer for 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Remove from heat.
4. Spoon filling into pastry shell. Bake in preheated 400° F. oven for 25 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Makes 6 servings

Cost: varies depending on pie crust used. Filling alone: $2.06;

$2.26 with homemade crust, $2.29 with pie crust mix, $2.56 with frozen pie shell.
Cost per serving: varies from 36¢ to 38¢ to 42¢, depending on crust used.

LIMA TUNA CHOWDER

1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen baby lima beans
Water
½ teaspoon salt
1 can (13½ ozs.) evaporated milk, undiluted
1 tablespoon margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (6½-7ozs.) chunk or shredded tuna, drained
1 teaspoon celery salt
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

1. In 2-qt. saucepan, cook lima beans in ½ cup boiling water with salt about 5 minutes or until tender.
2. Place limas and cooking liquid plus evaporated milk in electric blender and blend until smooth, about 30 seconds.
3. In same saucepan, heat margarine until melted; add onion and cook, stirring, 5 to 8 minutes or until tender. Stir in puréed limas, 1½ cups water, tuna, celery salt and Worcestershire. Heat just to boiling point. Ladle into soup bowls. Makes 5 cups; 4 servings

Cost: $1.60
Cost per serving: 40¢

HAM AND OKRA SKILLET

3 tablespoons margarine
1 can (16 ozs.) refrigerated ham patties
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash ground cloves
½ cup chicken broth
⅓ cup orange marmalade
½ cup sour cream
1 polybag (16 ozs.) frozen whole okra, cooked and drained

1. Heat margarine in large skillet until hot but not smoking. Brown ham patties in margarine; remove from skillet and keep warm.
2. Cook onion in pan drippings 5 to 8 minutes or until tender.
3. Stir in salt, pepper, mustard, cloves, chicken broth, marmalade and sour cream.
4. Lightly toss cooked, drained okra in sauce. Place ham patties on top; cover. Heat gently 2 or 3 minutes until heated through. Makes 4 servings

Cost: $2.60
Cost per serving: 65¢
Editor's note: Great served with hot quick-cooking grits.

POTATO CHEESE CASSEROLE

4 cups (1½ lbs.) cooked cubed potatoes
1 cup plain yogurt
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon dill weed
1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

1. Preheat oven to 350° F.
2. Combine potatoes, yogurt, cottage cheese, salt, pepper and dill weed in 9- x 9-inch baking pan. Top with cheddar cheese.
3. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until hot and bubbly. Makes 4 to 6 servings

Cost: $1.90
Cost per serving for four: 47¢
Cost per serving for six: 31¢

Here's a special recipe, "The Carter Cookie," sent in by Great Falls Tribune FAMILY WEEKLY reader Mrs. Donald L. Bergstrom of Highwood, Mont. We think it's so good we decided to publish it.

THE CARTER COOKIE

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 cup cream-style peanut butter
3 large eggs
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons cream of tartar
2 teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups dry roasted peanuts

1. Preheat oven to 375° F. In large bowl with electric mixer at medium speed, beat shortening, sugar, brown sugar, peanut butter, eggs and vanilla together until smooth.
2. Sift together flour, cream of tartar, soda and baking powder and salt. Gradually add to peanut-butter mixture stirring until well-blended.
3. Take about 1 tablespoon of dough, shape into a ball the size of a walnut. Gently press onto peanuts, place cookie on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten slightly with fingers.
4. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes until tops are crackled and a light golden brown. Makes about 64 cookies

What's Smart: Canned tuna is a good protein buy. Chunk-style and shredded tuna are the lowest in cost of canned tuna. If the recipe calls for mashed or puréed tuna, you'll get the protein food value plus the tuna flavor in buying chunk or shredded canned tuna.

BARBARA BRITTON TALKS FRANKLY ABOUT COLORING HER GRAY HAIR

We remembered Barbara Britton as the lovely star of the "Mr. & Mrs. North" series in the 50's, so we were curious to find out her attitudes about going gray and what persuaded her to change it. We stole a few hours from her busy schedule in the theatre and met at her country home.

Barbara, psychologists say women feel that going gray is a milestone.
Getting gray does make you feel older. It's depressing! Being in show business I'd been involved with coloring my hair for years, so I know what an ordeal it is . . . endless touch-ups... ugly gray roots... possible hair damage... that's not for me.

But you did color your hair. What finally convinced you?
A very dear friend. She'd been coloring her hair for years with all of those problems I hated. Then she switched to Lady Grecian Formula and it was totally different.

Lady Grecian is different! How so?
It just eliminates everything I dreaded about haircolor. From start to finish, Lady Grecian is easy. No mixing, no mess and no peroxide—so it's gradual and gentle.

It colors gradually?
It's amazing. You simply brush this clean almost clear liquid through daily until your hair is just the color you want. It comes out so beautifully natural looking. You can even switch to Lady Grecian like my friend did.

You mean someone who's been coloring her hair can switch to Lady Grecian?
It's even easier than if you're gray. Just Lady Grecian the root area as you need it —combing it through occasionally...and it blends right in with the color you've been using...and the over-all color gets prettier and softer—more believable looking. And, no ugly gray roots!

What about younger women just beginning to find those gray hairs?
Oh, they'll love it because it's so much quicker and easier than anything else and best of all, doesn't mess up the natural color one bit. In fact, if you're only gray around the temples just do that part and it will blend in. Or, you can make the gray into beautiful highlights.

Speaking of highlights, your hair certainly has a natural healthy looking shine.
Thank you. With most kinds of haircolor, each and every hair is saturated with color so they tend to have the same rather flat look. Well, that isn't how natural hair looks at all. But Lady Grecian works with the natural chemistry of the hair so it retains this natural blend of shades and highlights.

Don't a lot of women complain that coloring leaves their hair dry and brittle?
That's right . . . but with Lady Grecian I found my hair actually seems softer and more manageable than when I wasn't coloring it. I guess that's because it has an acid balanced formula.

How long did it take to get your hair that lovely medium brown?
About 12 or 14 days. But, lots of women love the color after only 4 or 5 days. And if you're switching or just going gray, it takes only a few applications.

You didn't mind using it daily in the beginning?
It only takes a couple of minutes and it's fascinating to watch your hair getting more beautiful and less gray. In a short time you have the color you want and then you're never bothered with terrible touch-ups.

You mean you don't do touch-ups?
It's such a sense of freedom. I just brush Lady Grecian through my hair once a week or so after I shampoo. No problem with ugly gray roots. And my hair feels soft and healthy.

You're a real Lady Grecian fan...
Oh, I am. Whether you're gray, going gray or already coloring your hair, Lady Grecian Formula is the perfect answer.

THIS BOOK HAS EVERYTHING

From the great hits of today, like . . . Sweet Gypsy Rose . . . Tie A Yellow Ribbon My Sweet Lord . . . Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head . . . right back to the "Gay 90's" songs such as Bicycle Built For Two.

YOUR PRICE $12.95

Have you ever wondered how professional musicians learn all the songs they are required to play? How can they ever afford to buy all that sheet music? Well, most of them don't. Up until a few years ago they could buy a "fake" book of 500 songs or more. (It was illegal in those days.) Such a great book would cost them only $75.00 or so. A fantastic savings for $500 to $1,000's worth of music! But now, thanks to Hansen Publishing, the greatest "fake" book of all time is available (and legally too) to professional and amateurs alike... and for only $15.95 (Your mail order price is only $12.95!) That's just over a penny per song... songs which usually sell for $1.00 or more each.

In addition to the 1001 songs, this fantastic songbook also contains sections of instrumental instruction; How to Play Chords (for the begining guitarist)... How to Learn-and-Play By Chords (for all keyboard instruments)... PLUS...a complete guide to all organ registrations.

Here's a book we'll allow you to return for up to 30 days...because it will take at least a month for you to get through it. If after one full month you don't agree that this is the most complete, most entertaining music book you could ever own, just return it for a complete refund. No questions asked. So why not order yours today. You've absolutely nothing to lose ...and endless years of musical enjoyment to gain.

THE NEW PHYS ED: BELIEVE IT OR NOT, KIDS LOVE IT

Athletic competition is fine, but here's a program aimed at helping average kids prepare for a lifetime of health.

Harry Kappes

By Polly Dranov

Ask any adult American to think about gym class, and, unless you're talking to a former high-school football star, the question is more than likely to provoke memories of humiliation, frustration or just plain boredom. The reason for this reaction, experts say, is the traditional gym class, with its emphasis on team sports and uniform requirements. It has managed to turn most of us away from a program of continuing physical exercise. In fact, the President's Council on Physical Fitness reports that only 55 percent of all adult Americans get any sort of exercise at all, and many people who do say they exercise explain that they walk a lot or bowl occasionally.

Now, though, educators are moving to change this trend through what the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (AAHPER) calls the "new physical education" or "movement education."

What Is the New Phys Ed?

Its basic philosophy is to do away with the negative attitudes toward exercise and sports that many of us formed in response to the frustrations of gym class. The program accomplishes this in two ways: in elementary school it teaches youngsters individually and at their own pace such basic skills as catching, throwing, running, jumping and balance. Eventually, as these skills develop, children begin to play games that draw on what they have learned. Then, in high school, the students are exposed to the kinds of sports—tennis, golf, bowling, swimming—they can enjoy throughout life. Since most schools don't have a golf course or bowling alleys, they utilize community facilities. The program often means flexible scheduling as well: instead of playing, say, football for 45 minutes five days a week, a gym class may travel to the local tennis courts for two hours three days a week.

The impetus for the change came when President Kennedy established the President's Council on Physical Fitness, and concern began to mount that Americans weren't getting enough exercise. "The Council's report made us critically examine what was happening in physical education," says Dr. Gordon Jeppson of the AAHPER. "We realized that we had to give students skills they could take into later life. We also recognized that people had more leisure time and that not many of them get the opportunity to play team sports after they leave school."

How Widespread Is It?

No one knows just how many elementary schools have made the switch from traditional physical education to movement education, but the AAHPER's best guess is that at least some of its principles have been adopted in about one-fourth of the nation's schools.

"I think the elementary folks have come a long way. . . . The children are doing lots of exciting things," says Lucy Burkett, supervisor of health and physical education for the Shaker Heights, Ohio, schools. "But things haven't changed that much at the secondary level." Although more junior and senior high schools are offering more individual and lifetime sports, Ms. Burkett doesn't think there's anything very different in the way gym classes are taught these days. Ironically, studies have shown that even though teachers' colleges are giving their students a good background in the new theory and knowledge of physical education, the overwhelming majority of these graduates still teach exactly what they were taught in high school.

THE NEW PHYS ED

Why Is It Important?

It begins early—in elementary school where classes in movement education are beginning to replace the traditional games and relays that generations of youngsters played in schoolyards. Educators have found that these games—including such old standbys as dodge ball—are just too difficult for many children. For these kids, phys-ed class is a humiliating experience. Blanche Teitlebaum, who teaches physical education at New York City's Lehman College, puts it this way: "A child's physical self-image is formed early. If he's expected to do something physical and can't do it easily, he gets frustrated and assumes he's nonathletic." In the elementary grades there's no "right" or "wrong" way to do things, either. Because of this, a negative physical self-image is harder to come by. Everyone gets to play, and there's no competition to lessen a child's self-confidence.

Harry Kappes

In traditional phys-ed classes many of the games played in the early grades don't give kids much chance to develop the skills they are lacking. And all too often they don't even give them much chance to exercise. A lot of time is wasted standing around waiting for a turn at bat or lolling about after being eliminated in games like dodge ball. "What happens under the old system is that the most skilled children get the most practice, and the kids who need the most help are the ones who get the least," says Professor Teitlebaum. "A student's conception of himself is better if he is able to participate in the kinds of things his peers are doing," says Lucy Burkett. "We need to be aware of all our students' interests. We shouldn't be playing games that eliminate kids from movement."

Derry Michael, director of secondary-school health and physical education in Whippany Park, N.J., says high-school gym teachers today have to answer the question of whether they are going to concentrate on making "super players" in the sports they teach or on getting all the kids interested in sports. "We've gone beyond the days when phys ed meant football, baseball and basketball," he says. "We're trying to offer the kids a program that will give them some knowledge of a sport. I'm not in the recreation business. I'm in the physical-education business, and there's got to be some teaching going on."

The emphasis on athletics in schools and the preoccupation of many phys-ed teachers with the fortunes of the teams they coach have been a continuing problem. Traditionally most of the benefits of physical-education programs have gone to athletes while the other kids have gotten very little attention as a group and virtually none as individuals.

How Can I Find Out More About the Program?

The AAHPER has prepared a film and written material for parents and teachers interested in the new physical education. These describe both the movement education and lifetime sports programs. Information is provided upon request. Write to AAHPER, 1201 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

PLUS These 3 hardcover storybooks for only $1.00

Have you ever watched your child pick up a magazine and pretend to read? Or has your youngster begged you to read a favorite story over and over until he knows it by heart? He probably can't wait to learn to read.

Of course you want to help. Because as a concerned parent, you know that the ability to read well is the most important skill your child will ever learn. It can spell the difference between "just getting by" or getting ahead in school. And that goes for later in life as well. It's a wise parent who does everything to keep this early fascination with reading alive.

The secret: Plenty of books that are fun to read.

When you surround your youngster with books that enchant and delight him, he'll discover the pleasure and joy that books can provide. The rest comes naturally!

The Editors of Weekly Reader, experts in helping children to read, have selected the I CAN READ series as the kind of storybooks that will inspire your child to read at home. These books have been especially designed to capture the interest of children 4 to 8 and to start them reading on their own. The type is large and clear, the words easy to understand.

And what topics! Books that are keyed to the interests of today's youngsters – humor, animal stories, sports, mysteries and more. Equally important, you'll find that as your child's reading skills grow, I CAN READ Books will grow with him to nourish and improve his reading ability. That's because Weekly Reader editors – experts in helping children to read – have scheduled the sequence of Club selections to gradually become more challenging (but still fun!) throughout your child's membership.

Try this experiment – without cost or obligation.

The best way for you to find out if your child will enjoy reading I CAN READ books is to actually get some of them – on trial.

Send in the Gift Certificate below today and we'll send you and your child Danny and the Grow-up Chart below FREE. In addition, we'll send you 3 other books (worth $11.85) which you can examine for 10 days without charge. If you and your child like them, only then do you pay the special introductory price of $1 – plus postage, handling, and sales tax.

Your child will then receive, on approval, 2 new Club books every 6 weeks. These are all hardcover books, beautifully illustrated, that sell for $3.95 each in bookstores.

You keep only the books you want, at the special Club price of only $1.99 each (a savings of almost 50% off the publisher's price), plus delivery. There is no minimum number of books you must buy and you can cancel your membership at any time.

(If you are not satisfied with the 3 introductory books, return them within 10 days and owe nothing. But keep Danny and the Grow-up Chart as FREE gifts for your child!)

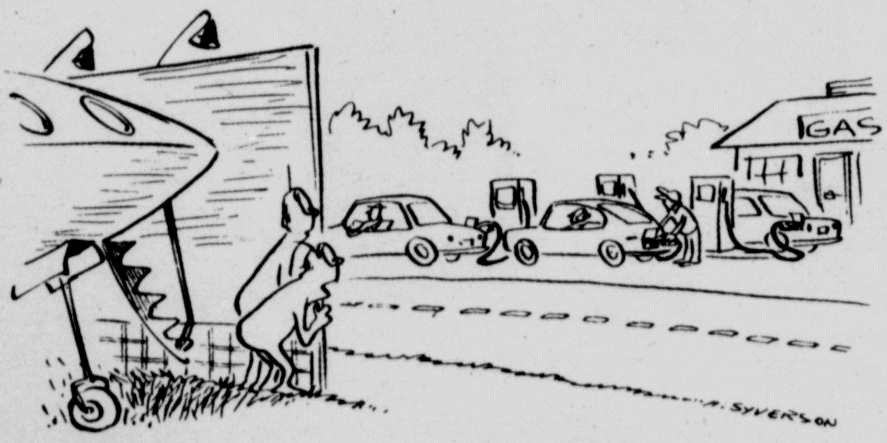
Conservation box score. U.S. industry has been making good progress on energy saving, through increased recycling, better plant maintenance, and new equipment. Among the success stories: Hercules Incorporated, which invested $10 million in heat recovery and maintenance systems, and reaped $25 million in energy savings. Or the petroleum industry, which has already accomplished a 10.7% energy efficiency improvement in manufacturing operations. At Mobil we've cut energy consumption at our U.S. refineries by 15% since 1972, through improved efficiency.

Uncle Sam's a winner. The Federal Energy Administration says government energy consumption has dropped about 29% from 1972 levels. Greatest savings have been achieved by the military. The Air Force now uses simulation instead of in-craft training whenever possible, and the Navy, Air Force, and Coast Guard have slowed down their cruising speeds. Government office buildings have also cut back on heat, air conditioning, ventilation, and lighting.



"HOW MUCH LONGER BEFORE THEY'RE WEANED?"

Those lazy winter days at home offer energy-saving opportunities. In fact, it's estimated that the residential sector accounts for 19.2% of all energy used on a typical day. Home heating alone uses 11%, and the rest goes for heating water (2.9%), air conditioning (0.7%), the refrigerator (1.1%), cooking (1.1%), clothes drying (0.3%), and small appliances (2.1%). You can do something about it. Not only at home but on the road, too. And we can help. Write to Box C, Mobil, at the address below for our free booklet, "How smart drivers save gasoline."

Lust for gold. The insatiable greed of an ambitious Spanish conqueror—Francisco Pizarro—led in 1532 to the destruction of the Inca civilization. The story of how his cruelty reshaped history is told in the next episode of Ten Who Dared, the "Mobil Showcase" documentary series on great adventurers. Who Is the Typical Gambler?

Would you bet you know the right answer? Chances are high you might lay a bet on it if you're a man living in suburbia, reasonably well-off and well educated. Why? Because more than any other American, the affluent male suburbanite is likely to bet money, especially if he's young and a bachelor. When the Institute for Social Research of the University of Michigan conducted an "exhaustive study" of U.S. gambling for a Congressional commission in 1975, it discovered that 61 percent of all adult Americans placed some kind of money bet during the preceding year. Of these, 13 percent bet only with friends or co-workers, 11 percent bet with bookies, on the numbers or in unlicensed casinos, etc., and 44 percent wagered legal bets on games in various states.

People give lots of reasons for gambling their hard-earned money: to have a good time, pass the time, be challenged and make money. Bettors don't worry about losing. One stunning discovery of the survey: in states with legal lotteries and where pari mutuel betting is available, there are both more illegal numbers betting and more business done with bookies than in states where these activities are illegal.

PEOPLE QUIZ / By John E. Gibson

Will a woman juror give a male defendant a fair shake?

WHAT MEN AND WOMEN DON'T KNOW ABOUT EACH OTHER

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Most women have a one-way sense of humor: they enjoy the kind that ridicules or pokes fun at men but are "turned off" when the joke is on them.
2. If a man were on trial for his life, he'd probably get a better shake from a jury of women than a jury composed of men.
3. Women aren't nearly as superstitious as they used to be.
4. Women have greater self-esteem than men do. They like themselves better and are on better terms with themselves.
5. The more feminine a woman is, the greater her self-esteem.
6. Women are more resistant to germs than men are.

ANSWERS

1. False. At the University of Massachusetts, a study was made of the preferences of 50 men and 50 women undergraduates for two types of humorous cartoons: those which were hostile toward men, and those which similarly put down women. The results: both sexes preferred humor in which the butt of the joke was a female.
2. False—as suggested by a comparison of the judgments of men and women "jurors" in a University of Texas study in which the subjects read a synopsis of a trial in which the defendant was either a man who allegedly murdered his wife or a woman who allegedly murdered her husband. Eighty-four male and 101 female students acted as "jurors." Each was asked to render verdicts and sentences. Findings: both men and women were more inclined to be lenient with defendants of their own sex.
3. False. A recent university study of superstitious beliefs shows that women are no less superstitious than they used to be. Beliefs have shifted, however, with many well-known superstitions relating to dreams or fortunetelling losing much of their popularity and being replaced by such things as carrying lucky charms and walking around a table to change one's luck.
4. True. A study at Oregon State University of the self-concepts of men and women "showed females to have a more positive feeling about their identity than males." Furthermore, women are more prone to face reality than are males.
5. False. Psychological tests at the University of Montana showed that the extent to which women possessed strong feminine personality qualities did not bear significantly on their self-esteem. Recent changes have occurred in female attitudes toward the feminine role, so that masculinity (in terms of attitude and abilities) is perceived as a socially desirable characteristic.
6. True. Research on immunologic superiority at the University of California strongly suggests that females possess greater resistance to infection than males.

THE RICE DIET

You can shed weight in just 72 hours on The Rice Diet or it costs you nothing. Prove it to yourself by ordering our new, comprehensive diet manual, The Rice Diet, now. It discloses the secret of how you can lose weight like people who report losses of up to 100 pounds and more in a brief time without hunger.

I'm proud of my boyfriend! I wanted you to see him too. This was on our trip to Florida.

I'm Jan Schrader, and these are photos of me before I went on The Rice Diet. Read below about how I lost 102 pounds, and then get your copy of The Rice Diet by sending in the coupon.

"YOU WON'T BELIEVE IT WHEN YOU LOSE WEIGHT LIKE I DID"

"I couldn't believe it when I lost 25 pounds the first month after I started on The Rice Diet. I wasn't hungry at all, and the weight just seemed to disappear. This is amazing when you realize that I have always been fat – even as a child. Our doctor put me on weight loss pills, but they didn't work. He said there was no hope for me.

"Now that I've gone from 227 pounds to a slim 125 pounds – my whole outlook on life has changed. Before, I was an extreme introvert, hiding from people, afraid of being seen and laughed at. When I had my picture taken, I would try to conceal my body by pulling my knees up in front of me. Clothes didn't fit right, and I never wore a bathing suit before. I had no energy, and it was an effort to do anything. Now, I'm on the go all the time; I've seen and done things I never dreamed of doing as a "fatty." I now consider myself a beautiful person inside and out."

IT'S A HEALING DIET AS WELL AS A REDUCING DIET

The famous Rice Diet wasn't even designed for taking off fat. It was created as a healing diet. And heal it does.

IT CONTAINS LITTLE CHOLESTEROL

Medical Research has acclaimed a low-fat diet as being of paramount aid in the treatment of certain heart and kidney conditions. Scientists also advocate this program as the basis of a general reducing diet.

The health value of this diet is founded upon the fact that it contains little cholesterol – which many doctors believe dangerous to the heart, kidneys, and blood circulation.

THE DIET REVERSES MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY HEART DISORDERS

Our medical establishment was extremely skeptical of the startling discovery that the Rice Diet reverses much of the damage done by blood vessel, eye, heart, and kidney disorders. Without any medication other than a prolonged diet largely composed of rice, some enlarged hearts grew smaller, blood pressures and blood sugar dropped.

CLAIMS FOR THE RICE DIET VERIFIED

Teams of doctors from leading institutions around the world investigated the diet. They thought that they would scoff at the claims, but they applauded instead. "The question now," concluded a report in one eminent medical journal, "is not 'Does the diet work?' The question is 'How does it work?'"

FAMOUS PEOPLE HAVE ENDORSED THE RESULTS OF RICE DIETING

"I truly would have died if I hadn't gone" on a program of rice dieting, says the wife of a former state governor. "I was seriously ill, and weighed 230 pounds." She dropped 80 pounds in 19 weeks, and her blood sugar plummeted as well. (Since the diet is largely carbohydrate, this is one of the mysteries of it.)

A famous singer and movie actor, on the other hand, got hooked on the taste of the diet and lost 80 pounds, too. He still follows the diet every day. Before the Rice Diet, he had been on a high-protein diet for ten years or so: "I used to have to put down a pound of steak before recording," he says. "Now, I can eat a little rice and sing like a bird."

HERE'S WHAT THE RICE DIET DID FOR OTHERS.

"VERY TASTY DIET"

–Mrs. M.S., Lawrenceburg, Ind.

"May I say this is a very tasty diet. I liked all the menus except one."

"NOTHING WORKED UNTIL I TRIED RICE"

"I was a victim of multiple food allergies. I tried everything but nothing worked until I tried rice. It was the only thing I could tolerate.

"WEIGHT FELL OFF ME"

"Naturally, the weight FELL off me. Within 5 or 6 weeks, I had lost 35 pounds. I have held that weight pretty well. I am a believer in rice! Thank heaven for rice. Perhaps my experience will help others. I well imagine rice will play a great part in the remainder of my life."

–Mrs. Grace Quintal, Stockton, Cal.

"LOST 10 POUNDS IN 2 WEEKS"

"I used your diet and lost 10 pounds in two weeks. I want my daughter-in-law to have one."

–Mrs. S., St. Joseph, Mo.

"LOST 1/2 POUND A DAY"

"Thanks to your rice diet, my husband's weight is almost back to where it should be. He went on your diet in January and has averaged a loss of ½ pound a day."

–Mrs. F.W.W., Truckee, Cal.

PERMANENT WEIGHT-LOSS

Your body has an appetite control center or appestat. If you are fat, it's because your appestat is set too high from eating the wrong kind of food. When you change the kind of food you eat by going on The Rice Diet, your body's appestat should soon adjust to a lower setting that won't compel you to overeat. Then you will be able to reach and maintain a normal weight without much effort – It's that easy.

A famous medical research group says: "Weight loss can occur permanently only if the appestat is readjusted to a lower level."

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO LOSE WEIGHT

1) A sure-fire way to adjust your diet to lose exactly as much weight as you want.
2) Dozens of delicious menus and recipes like: Chicken & Rice Casserole; Rice & Lamb Casserole; Veal Marengo; Broiled Pork Chops; Canteloupe; Cottage Cheese and Tomato Salad; Rice Pudding.
3) A section on rice and Chinese medicine.
4) Why you shouldn't be troubled by hunger.

Doctors Prove You Can Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Inflammation. Relieve Pain And Itch Too.

Gives prompt temporary relief from hemorrhoidal pain and itch in many cases.

Doctors have found a most effective medication that actually helps shrink painful swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by infection. In many cases, the first applications give prompt relief for hours from such pain and burning itching.

Tests by doctors on hundreds upon hundreds of patients showed this to be true in many cases. The medication the doctors used was Preparation H®—the same Preparation H you can get without a prescription. Ointment or suppositories.

GETTING THE MESSAGE

about telephones
That I feel I just have to tell.
I rather doubt that it ever occurred
To inventor Alexander Bell.

Just why it is thus, I can't figure out,
But I swear it's as true as can be:
When I answer the phone, it's my wife it's for,
When she answers the phone,
it's for me.

Let's wind up last-year's campaigns with this thought: girl next door says she's no politician, but she sure would welcome a mandate.

—Herm Albright

An onlooker at a hotel fire asked another bystander, "How come the hotel burned down? Weren't the firemen on the job quickly?"

"Yes, they were," was the reply, "but they couldn't get the hose through the revolving door." —Dorothea Kent

Some men were having orange juice and sugar cookies in the recovery room of the blood-donor center after a donation. The conversation turned to national origin, and one of the men happened to be an Indian. "Are you a full-blooded Indian?" asked one of the men. "Well, no," admitted the Indian. "Right now I'm a pint low." —Martin Ragaway

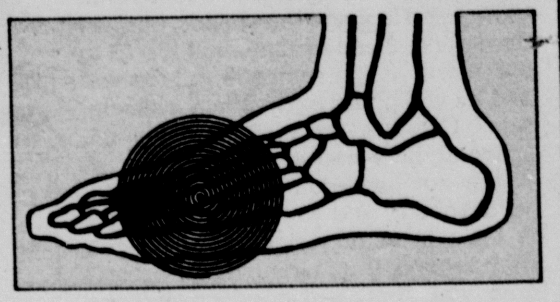
My Feet Were Killing Me...Until I Discovered the Miracle of Hamburg!



It was the European trip I had always dreamed about. I had the time and money to go where I wanted—see what I wanted. But I soon learned that money and time don't mean much when your feet hurt too much to walk. After a few days of sightseeing my feet were killing me.

Oh, I tried to keep going. In Paris I limped through Notre Dame and along the Champs-Elysées. And I went up in the Eiffel Tower although I can't honestly say I remember the view. My feet were so tired and sore my whole body ached. While everybody else was having a great time, I was in my hotel room. I didn't even feel like sitting in a sidewalk cafe.

The whole trip was like that until I got to Hamburg, Germany. There, by accident, I happened to hear about an exciting breakthrough for anyone who suffers from sore, aching feet and legs.

This wonderful invention was a custom-made foot support called Flexible Featherspring. When I got a pair and slipped them into my shoes my pain disappeared almost instantly. The flexible shock absorbing support they gave my feet was like cradling them on a cushion of air. I could walk, stand, even run. The relief was truly a miracle.

And just one pair was all I needed. I learned that women also can wear them—even with sandals and open backed shoes. They're completely invisible.

Imagine how dumbfounded I was to discover that these miraculous devices were sold only in Europe. Right then I determined that I would share the miracle I discovered in Hamburg with my own countrymen.

Today thousands of Americans of all ages —many with foot problems far more severe than mine—have experienced this blessed relief for themselves.

Here's why Featherspring work for them and why they can work for you. These supports are like nothing you've ever seen before. They are custom fitted and made for your feet alone! Unlike conventional devices, they actually imitate the youthful elastic support that Nature originally intended your feet to have.

Whatever your problem—corns, calluses, pain in the balls of your feet, burning nerve ends, painful ankles, old injuries, backaches or just generally sore, aching feet. Flexible Featherspring will bring you guaranteed relief with every step you take.

Don't suffer pain and discomfort needlessly. If your feet hurt, the miracle of Hamburg can help you. Write for more detailed information. There is no obligation whatsoever. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it today.

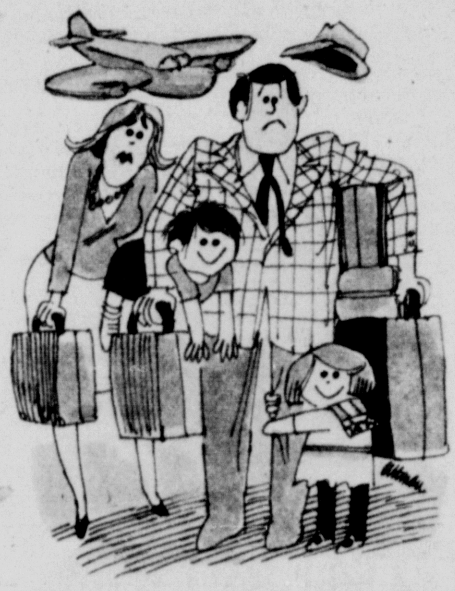
Be A V.I.P. When You Fly

Want to get V.I.P. treatment from the airlines? Try these suggestions and you'll get it, maybe. If you, your spouse and your kids are going on a flight with more hand luggage than hands, contact the airline ahead of time, and it's 10 to one it will assign someone to help you and let you board early. Want a special seat? Chances are it's yours if you'll arrive an hour before check-in time. If you're not limited to a particular departure hour, and want all you can get in the wining and dining department, shop around. If an airline menu doesn't grab you, there's a good chance the company can substitute sandwiches or a salad, a vegetarian, salt-free, low-calorie or kosher meal — which some passengers swear invariably turn out to be tastier. It's also helpful to call again to reconfirm your requests on the day before departure.



Can An Unhappy Child Be A Successful Adult?

Parents everywhere try their hardest to keep their children from misery. But when the Institute of Human Development of the University of California at Berkeley looked at the formative years of some 400 famous Americans—writers, painters, inventors, politicians and others—it found that 70 percent had abnormal or unhappy upbringings. It used criteria such as whether parents were divorced, or if at least one parent was alcoholic, mentally ill or sadistic. Some examples: Thomas Edison was beaten so often his hearing was damaged; Eleanor Roosevelt had an alcoholic father. "Our findings," says psychologist Arlene Skolnick, "raise serious doubts about the assumption that traumatic events have long-term adverse effects on children. It may be that having to cope with unhappiness makes for a more resilient, productive adult than having a comfortable, sheltered life. I'm not advocating calamities, but neither should parents feel their children will go to pieces if everything's not perfect."

Who's Who In Wigs

Jerome Alexander, an internationally renowned wig expert, has created an unofficial Worst Wigged Men and Women list. They are: Howard Cosell, singers Tina Turner, Tony Bennett, Charo; Elizabeth Taylor, Glenda Jackson, Hermione Gingold, John Wayne, Dolly Parton and Marisa Berenson. And the 10 best: Carol Burnett, Cher, Burt Reynolds, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Diahann Caroll, Ann-Margret, Diana Ross, Gina Lollobrigida, Shirley MacLaine and Beverly Sills. In discussing his "10 Worst" list, Mr. Alexander offered a couple of comments about the "winners": "Howard Cosell qualified on five counts . . . one for each wig he wears." And these kind words for country singer Dolly Parton: "It's as if she took every penny she made singing country and western songs and bought hair with it."

Quick Takes

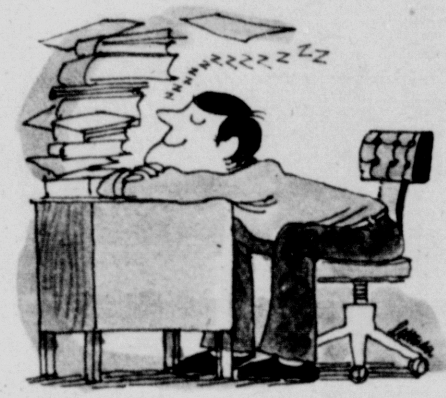
A penny doesn't buy very much anymore, and now the little copper coin may soon be but a memory. A Government-sponsored study recommends that the U.S. Mint eliminate it, since it's too expensive to make and the purchasing power is almost nonexistent . . . The Gray Panthers are a national organization of people that hope to bridge the gap between the young and the old. They're primarily involved in political action — fighting for nursing-home reform, working to enforce new legislation, speaking at senior centers. The Panthers have just taken in an important new member, Lillian Carter, the nation's new First Grandmother. (If you're interested in finding out about the chapter nearest you, write: National Headquarters, Gray Panthers, 3700 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19104.) Publishing's latest gimmick is the true confessions of people who never existed. Upcoming is Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman, An Illustrated Guide to Fernwood (Simon and Schuster). It's the inspiration of the show's crew and will include such gems as a photograph of a Mary Hartman dinner party where everyone is served TV dinners. But that's tame next to another new release: My Side by King Kong . . . When a person sits down at a nightclub, the amount he drinks may pose as large a threat to hearing as the decibel level of the music he enjoys. Dr. Martin Robinette, associate professor of audiology at the University of Utah, gave some graduate students too much to drink and found that the natural mechanism which protects the inner ear from loud noise loses its efficiency as the body's alcohol content increases.

How To Do Something About Unsafe Products

You don't have to be an agency or an organization or a special-interest group to petition the Consumer Product Safety Commission to do something about a product you think is unsafe. Individuals can ask the commission to issue, amend or revoke one of its rulings by following the guidelines the agency has set up. They're simple enough: your request should be titled "Petition," and it should state that it is filed under Section 10 of the Consumer Product Safety Act. You should include your name, address, phone number, the product involved, why you think the Commission should act and how it should act. Send five typewritten copies to: Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

A New Lead On Crib Death Causes

New research suggests that infants who have mysteriously died of sudden infant death syndrome (usually called "crib death") may have died because of a genetically transmitted heart condition. Scientists at the National Institutes of Health have found that the parents, brothers and sisters of babies who died of crib death show an unusually high prevalence of a particular abnormality in their heart examinations. If further studies confirm that hereditary heart abnormalities are indeed predictors of crib death, it appears likely that electrocardiograms (heart tests) on newborns would become routine practice and that measures would be devised to protect the babies found most vulnerable.



Go Ahead—Sleep On The Job

According to a sleep researcher at the University of Florida, taking a nap might be the most beneficial way to spend your coffee break. Dr. Wilse Webb says short naps make for better job performance. He cautions that a beneficial nap must never be longer than 30 minutes. "Long naps decrease performance because a person begins a full sleep cycle, and stopping this just makes you feel worse."
